Why not get your "Money's Worth" when you buy Fertilizers?

People kick about the price of Corn-struggle for reduction in the price of Flour and grow excited over the way they think that they are being robbed for these necessities. Yet some of them go right ahead paying two or three dollars per ton more for their Fertilizers than the actual analysis of the goods will warrant.

Too many of the struggle for reductions that are hard to secure, and often ignore the economies and better values that are open to every Farmer who will use good common sense and discretion in buying Fertilizers. You can surely save a considerable percentage of your money, and you can secure much more satisfaction in your farm work if you will only buy your Fertili ers : ight.

Take our celebrated G. W. G. Soluble Guano for example. It measures right up on actual analysis with Guano sold by our competitors at much higher prices—so it is with all our brands, extra values are obtained in each without extra cost to the Farmer.

Come and talk over Fertilizers with us. If you have any trade in you we can more than give you your money's worth.

MILLER-VAUGHAN.

A Pretty Home Wedding that Took Place Quite Recently.

A very pretty home wedding took place at 3.20 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Miller, in Lavonia, Ga., which united the destinies of C. G. Vaughan and Miss Lula Miller. Rev. J. R. Moore, in a very few alpropriate words, sealed the vows of two happy hearts that beat in unison.

The attendants were John Ford and Miss Ursula Christopher. The lovely bride was gowned in a pretty soft white silk, and carried a bouquet of Marshal Neal roses and ferns tied with white silk ribbon, and wore a pretty brooch made of a monogram a pretty brooch made of a monogram watch seal, once worn by her great-grandfather, and which was an heir-loom in the family.

The bridesmaid wore a pink Princess gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns, tied with pink ribbon.

The parlor was tastefully decorated with evergreens, and the bridal couple stood under a beautiful arch of the same composition.

Many handsome and useful presents were received by the bride.

A few neighbors were present, and the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. S. K. Christopher and two daughters, Misses Ursula and Mary Lucy, and Miss Berta Simmons, of Gainesville, Ga.; Mrs. E. E. Verner, of Richland; J. W. Norried and wife and Mrs. M. H. Simpson, of Salubrity; J. C. Miller and Mrs. C. A. Parker, of Garlandville, and Walter Shirley and Miss Molice Parker, of Parkerstown. The bouquet was tossed by the bride and caught by Miss Ursula

Christopher, nominating her the next The bride's going-away gown was a beautiful champagne voile. The happy young couple left on the 4.48 afternoon train amid a shower of rice, for Westminster, where an ele-gant reception awaited them.

The bride is one of Lavonia's most autiful and attractive young ladies and a descendant of one of South Carolina's prominent families.

Mr. Vaughan is a rising young business man of South Carolina, and is well known in and around Wal halla. We join their many friends in wishing them a felicitous voyage over the sea of life. A Guest.

Day of Crime in Chicago.

Chicago, September 30 .- Chicago appeared yesterday (Sunday) to have been seized by a veritable wave of crime, and when the last reports of the day were in, the police were con-fronted with two baffling murder mys-teries, one suicide and one murder and one killing in which the murder-er fied. In addition there was ano-ther attack upon a white girl by a negro, the victim in the last case be-ing a child six years old. Following is a summary of yesterday's crimes: Body of unidentified man taken Body of unidentified man taken from river hands tied and clothing

IDEAL WOOD PAVEMENTS.

Government Announces the Discovery of New Use for Gum Wood

Washington, D. C., October 7.— Special: The black and tupelo gum rees, which find their ideal home in trees, which find their ideal home in the Dismal Swamp and other marshy places of the South Atlantic and Guif States, will probably play an important part in solving the street pavement problem which voxes the officers of every municipality. Experts who have experimented with the timber of this tree, which hitherto has been considered almost worthless, say that it makes an ideal paving block when properly preserved.

that it makes an ideal paving block when properly preserved.

A representative of a large wood-preserving company of New York, which makes a specialty of the manufacture of street paving blocks, has just left Washington, after a conference with officers of the Forest Service, regarding methods of wood preservation. His company is now dealing almost exclusively in black and tupelo gum, and he is highly elated with the experiments which have been made.

with the experiments which have been made.

Wood is now considered the strongest kind of a factor among the materials from which the ideal street pavement of the future will be manufactured. It is practically noiseless, and this quality is very desirable in large cities where there is much traffic. When properly preserved and laid, the best wood pavements are said to resist wear and tear as well as any other material now in use.

Wood received a bad reputation as a paving block in this country when it was laid in various cities a number of years ago. It failed because Americans at that time knew practically nothing about wood preservation for paving purposes, laying the wooden blocks just as they were sawed. Of course the wear, tear and weather soon made the pavement almost unfit for use Foreign nations first made success... experiments in the preservation of wood used for paving, and now Uncle Sam has also learned some very important things about the manufacture of wooden learned some very important things about the manufacture of wooden paving blocks, and in some respects has gone the European manufacturers one or two points better.

res one or two points better.

The company whose representative has been in Washington conferring on these matters of wood preservation has just completed a three-cylinder treatment plant at Norfolk, Va., where the wood will be impregnated with creosote and rosin by the preserved. sure cylinder methods. The natural toughness of the wood makes it wear well, and the chemicals forced into the fibre will render it immune from decay for many years.

The turning of black and tupelo gum to account, on so large a scale is a matter of importance in connec tion with the waning timber supply. Lumbermen have always considered it an inferior wood. Except for spe-cial uses, such as mauls, mallets, boards for wagon and cast beds, and for other purposes where a wood is wanted which will not split, black gum has been rejected by farmers and lumbermen. It grows over a tolerably wide region, and is abun-dant on the low, marshy lands near the coast of the Southern States. It finds its ideal home in the Dismal Swamps, where other woods, espe-cially cypress, once grew in great abundance.

Severe tests have shown that the black and tupelo gum, when given a proper preservative treatment, are excellent materials for street paving. The blocks are cut to stand on end, about three inches thick, four inches wide and about eight inches high. The wood is not very hard, but its toughness gives it superior wearing

THE PROMISED REST.

Memorial Thoughts on the Death of S. S. McJunkin.

"There remainsth, therefore, rest." At rest! How precious the thought That he has entered into rest!
In the bright mansions of the blest,
Where sorrow, sin and pain are not—
Where he has gained the promised rest.

At rest! How peaceful and how calm His life is in that blessed rest! The very thought, to us, is bless'd, Like the sweet soothing of a Psalm, That he has gained that promised

For he earth's trials had while here, But now in that sweet place of rest, Where he has gone, he knows 'tis That here the sigh, and here the tear, While there the peace and there the

For us the tear, for us the sigh, While this side of our heavenly rest But leaning on our Saviour's breast, Like he just gone, we'll glandly die, And find our rest, our promised rest. But we must be as true and good As he who has gained his rest.
Be of like precious faith possessed—
Help us, then, Lord, for oh! we would,

Like him, too, gain the promised Through Christ he bore with martyr's faith forevermore, and blest! Through Christ he triumphed over death,

Then went into his promised rest. We'd follow in his heavenward wake, Like him just entered into rest; Ve'd ask of God that we be blest With that same faith and love that make Sure entrance to the promised rest. M. M. D.

Senatorial Salaries.

(From the News and Courier.) If the abolition of the office of State Commissioner of Immigration is to be discussed in the campaign for Senator next year, it will be well to include the abolition of the office of State Bank Examiner, Railroad Commissioner, State Chemist, State Auditor of Dispensaries and other offices with which a Senator in Congress has equally as much to do. After all, substantial, visible evi-dences are sometimes abundant, that Senators do not give too great a part of their time and energy to Senatorial duties, and the people, in their own interest, should endeavor to prevent the Senatorial mind from being diverted too much in the direction of State affairs of secondary moment.

Senatorial salaries have been raised recently to ...,500 a year, but there are many indications in numerous States that the time of a man to ous states that the time of a man to represent the people exclusively and continuously while in office cannot be obtained for a sum less than four or five or ten times that amount.

Tillman's Plano in Danger.

A special from Washington re cently says:

The Roosevell Administration is about to take out some of its grievances against Senator Tillman on an offensive piano which the Senator had stored with his friend, Ex-Senator Chandler, in the office of the Spanish Treaty claims commission.

When Chandler's successor moved Treaty claims commission.

When Chandler's successor moved into the building the crowds hopped on the South Carolina senator's plano with great glee, and after failing to find legal authority for the senator to use the government property as his private warehouse, they decided to remove the object of their virtuous resentment out upon the specious resentment out upon the spacious sidewalk in front of the treaty claims commission building unless some of Chandler's or Tillman's friends came to the rescue. Senator Tillman was advised by telegraph of the proposed vengeance, and further developments are awaited with interest.

Tue Piano Saved.

Washington, October 2.—Senator Tillman's piano, which was dislodged from the Spanish treaty claims commission yesterday, has been given a reprieve by the commission and the melodious box out of which the South melodious box out of which the South Carolina Senator was wont to thump an air accompaniment will not be cast out roofless on the atreets of Washington for the present. The members of the commission received a shock when they saw how the story looked in print this morning, and a hurry order was discretched to the hurry order was displicated to the office of the tribunal which stayed the rude hand of the porter until Senator Tillman can be reached and is enabled to find a more hospitable nurry order home for his cherished piano.
