

WALHALLA DIVIDES TWO.

Beat Richland 6 to 4, But Lost to Pendleton 4 to 3.

Playing before a record-breaking crowd, the Walhalla Hill Toppers divided a double-header with Richland and Pendleton last Thursday by scores of 6 to 4 and 4 to 3.

About 1,000 people saw two briskly played games, the fourteen innings taking only two and a half hours to be played.

Richland Lined Up for the first contest. Allen and Davis were the opposing boxmen, but Davis, wild and ineffective, lasted only two innings, retiring in favor of Simpson after five runs had been scored against him. Simpson did better, and after the third inning a man passed second base.

The Hill-Toppers got the jump on Richland and scored one at the send-off. After Lewis grounded out in the opener, Hetrick let four bad ones pass and took first. He advanced a base, when Allen also checked in safe at first, Glaser muffed Simpson's throw. Davis was wild as a rabbit and couldn't locate the plate, passing the next batter. Smith, next up, bounced one to Tribble and was thrown out, but the bounce let Hetrick dust home for the first run. Second and third were still occupied, but Rowland left the pair, Davis handling his grounder and throwing him out.

A couple hits, a pass and an error produced four more in the second.

With two gone in the third, Earle shot one to left and was safe at first. Lewis grounded along the third base foul line and reached second when Davis threw wild to first base. Earle crossed the plate on Hetrick's rap to left, but Allen went out, Simpson to Glaser.

Richland played a grand up-hill game and scored one in the sixth and another in the seventh, but the locals had too big a lead.

The Second Game.

Pendleton proved to be more formidable opponents and won out by a score of 4 to 3. It was a pitching duel between Smith and Watson, and the latter had slightly the best of it. Errors and passes figured largely in all the runs.

Smith was unsteady in the first inning and Werner, first up, was passed to first. He took second on Brown's sacrifice and scored when Aull lined to deep left for two bases. Smith tightened up, fanning Ganti and retiring Sitton on a weak grounder.

The Hill-Toppers evened up matters in the fourth. Hetrick sent a safe one between short and third and went around to third when Watson issued two passes to the next batters. Watson was in distress, for with three on base and none out, prospects of runs looked bright. Smith also waited for four wide ones and a run was forced across. Simpson flied out, and Werner hit into a double play, ending the inning.

But even though Pendleton was three runs ahead in the final inning the Hill-Toppers never gave up, and after two were out, Galliard was given a life on Ganti's muf. Harper followed with a two-bagger to left, scoring Galliard, and he also crossed the plate when the throw-in went wild. McDonald went out, Watson to Ganti.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Some Things that Happened Last Thursday, the 21st.

During dedication day, on the 21st, there were a few incidents of note and interest worthy of mention.

South Carolina's Welcome to Texas.

During his introductory remarks Col. Jaynes noticed the presence of J. Ben. G. W., Wm. T. and E. P. Abbott in the audience. Pausing a moment, he said: "South Carolina welcomes Texas as represented in the persons of the four Abbott brothers, who have come all the way from that great State to be present at the dedication of this monument to the heroes of the Confederacy. The Abbott brothers are invited to seats on the grand stand beside the Governor of South Carolina." They arose and took seats beside Governor Ansel amid hearty cheers.

Joy Ride by the Vets.

The joy ride in the auto procession by the veterans was not only novel and unique, but most delightful. It was the first ride of the kind many of them had ever taken, and their faces were wreathed with broad smiles from start to finish. They said it beat the rides in box cars, flat cars, or any other kind of an old car, on which they so often had to ride, if they rode at all, in the campaigns through the Carolinas and the Virginias. This auto ride was a happy thought, and to W. A. Strother is due the credit for this feature of the parade.

Tribute to the Sweethearts of the Sixties.

In concluding his remarks upon the women of the Confederacy and the trying ordeals through which they passed during the four years of that terrible war, Mr. Jaynes referred to the sweethearts of the sixties in a manner not reported in his published address as follows:

"Gone to the war! O, the sorrow and anguish of heart wrapped up in those four little words as they so often fell from the lips of mother, of wife, of daughter, of sister, and should I not also say of another—not a sister? For then, as now, we know:

"There's another—not a sister; in the happy days gone by, You'd know her by the merriment that sparkled in her eye; Too innocent for coquetry—too fond for idle scoring, O friend, I fear the lightest heart makes sometimes heaviest mourning."

He Had a Good Dinner.

The old Veterans in Walhalla seemed to fare pretty well last Thursday, and they took occasion to comment quite freely on the manner in which they were "filled up" at the homes where they were fed.

One of these old fellows, jolly and good natured, accosted a citizen late in the afternoon shortly before he was ready to take his departure from town. Meeting this friend on the street he said:

"Say, Mr. —, have you a wheelbarrow at your house that I can borrow until to-morrow?" "Yes," was the somewhat puzzled reply, the gentleman addressed wondering what the old soldier wanted with a wheelbarrow.

"All right," said the old Vet; "I'll send it back to-morrow; I just want it to roll my belly home in. I've had so much to eat that I don't believe I'll be able to tote it."

An Honored Guest.

Among the honored guests in town last week was Col. J. C. Stribling, of Pendleton, who rode as one of the marshals of the day at the unveiling. Col. Stribling brought with him the old "Red Shirt" flag, which was greatly admired by the old Veterans and many others who saw it and noted its peculiarities as compared with the other flags displayed. Col. Stribling is always a welcome visitor to Walhalla, but on this occasion he was unusually so, and made himself, as is his custom, quite as useful as he was ornamental—and that is saying no little, for he is one of the best riders this country affords, and as his handsome chestnut sorrel pranced around the colonel gave a mighty good idea to the younger generation of the Confederate cavalryman of the sixties. The marshals for the day were all good and graceful riders—Col. Stribling and Capt. S. K. Denny, of the "old boys," and W. M. Brown and Wade C. Hughes, representing the younger generation.

The First Contributor.

Dr. J. B. George, of Gainesville, Ga., had the honor to be the first one to answer the suggestion made by Mr. Jaynes in his speech, that the men of to-day honor the Women of the Sixties by the erection of a handsome shaft to their memory on the 21st day of July, 1911. Meeting Mr. Jaynes shortly after the program for the day had been completed, Dr. George handed to him two dollars with the request that it be placed on the list for the memorial to the women. There were a number of others who took the first opportunity to contribute, and among these was another Georgian—Silas Cannon, of Lavonia—who asked Mr. Jaynes to put him down for five dollars. Both these gentlemen are native Oconees, and were here for the purpose of honoring with their presence the Confederate dead of Oconee. To the funds for the erection of the monument unveiled last Thursday they were also contributors. In all about sixty dollars was pledged and subscribed in cash before the day had closed, and not one of those who contributed was asked to do so. It would seem that this proposed monument to the Women of the Sixties is appealing to the people in such manner that but little solicitation will be necessary.

DEATH OF A. CHARLES BRUCKE.

Was Native of Germany, and Brave Confederate Soldier.

After an illness extending over a period of three months, caused by an attack of pneumonia, A. Charles Brucke died at his home in West Union last Sunday morning in the 71st year of his age, he having been born in Germany May 24th, 1840. Mr. Brucke, with his parents, came to America in the early fifties and settled near Walhalla. For about fifty years the deceased had made his home in Oconee. He was a quiet and unassuming man and had many friends who will be grieved to learn of his death.

At the age of 21 Mr. Brucke entered the Confederate army, and for four years fought for Southern independence. He was a valiant soldier and ever answered the call to duty. After the war he moved to Tennessee, where he spent several years in the copper mines at Ducktown, after which he returned to Oconee and again took up his residence. Mr. Brucke was a stone mason by trade, and there is much work in this county that was executed by him. For the past several years he had been operating a grocery store in West Union and looking after his farming interests.

Mr. Brucke was one of the first members of the Walhalla Lutheran church and was a faithful attendant and believer in its laws and teachings, and will be greatly missed by its congregation. His remains were laid to rest in the cemetery of the church Monday afternoon. Services were conducted at the church by his pastor, Rev. T. B. Epling, in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

Mr. Brucke was twice married, his first wife being Miss Mary Waldt, who preceded him to the grave 17 years. To this union six children were born, all of whom are living. On March 1, 1896, Mr. Brucke and Miss Anna Busch were united in marriage, by whom he is also survived.

To the bereaved widow, children and other relatives is extended the deepest sympathy of many friends.

Locals from Richland.

Richland, July 25.—Special: More grass has been killed the past week than any one week this year.

Misses Nell Stribling, of Roswell, Ga., and Daisy Foster, of Westminster, were guests at the home of T. B. Wyly the past week. She and Miss Cora Wyly are visiting relatives in Fair Play.

The social feature of the past week was the party given at the home of J. D. McMahon in honor of their spend-the-week guests, Misses Stribling and Foster, on Tuesday evening. A very exciting flower seed contest was engaged in by all present, Miss Fincannon winning the prize, a pair of gold cuff links. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening. The out-of-town guests were: Misses Nell Stribling, Daisy Foster; Misses Pauline and Theo. Hughes, Messrs. Harry Cary and Monroe R. McDonald, of Walhalla, and Miss Stella Fincannon, of Seneca.

Miss Doelia Stribling, of Atlanta, is visiting at the home of J. D. McMahon.

The unveiling of the monument at Walhalla was witnessed by a large number of Richland people.

Miss Clara Beth Ballenger is visiting at the home of her uncle, Capt. J. J. Ballenger.

Mrs. W. H. Hughes has returned from a visit to relatives in Pickens. She was accompanied home by her niece, Miss Ella Lewis.

The following lads and lassies walked over from Seneca to Richland last Tuesday evening: Misses Hunter, Gladys Ramsay and Carolyn Herndon, Al Thompson and John Edwards.

Miss Pearl Verner has returned from a visit to friends and relatives in Columbia, Hodges, Anderson and Seneca.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coe are expected soon to visit at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. S. H. Coe.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Walker spent the latter part of last week near Richland.

The many friends of Burt Campbell are glad to know that he is out again, after a few days' illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Buchanan have returned to their home at Denver, after a short visit among relatives and friends here.

Mari Cox and Miss Hattie Cox have returned home, after making a long visit at Sandy Springs.

The protracted meeting at Hepsibah will commence on Saturday before the third Sunday in August at 3.30 o'clock. There will be service Sunday at 11 o'clock and at 8.30 Sunday night.

Those Pies of Boyhood.

How delicious were the pies of boyhood. No pies now ever taste so good. What's changed? The pies? No. It's you. You've lost the strong, healthy stomach, the vigorous liver, the active kidneys, the regular bowels of boyhood. Your digestion is poor and you blame the food. What's needed? A complete toning up by Electric Bitters of all organs of digestion—stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels. Try them. They'll restore your boyhood appetite and appreciation of food and fairly saturate your body with new health, strength and vigor. 50c. at all druggists.
