

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

Organization Was Formed Here Last Saturday Afternoon.

The visit of D. H. Winslow, government road building expert, to Walhalla last Saturday was appreciated by our citizens, and he was heard by a small gathering at the Court House. It is a matter of regret that more from each section of the county did not hear him, for he gave some very timely thoughts on the matter of permanent road building.

Mr. Winslow reached Walhalla Friday evening from Pickens, where he held a meeting Friday morning, driving through the country in a Brush a. o. which was somewhat crippled by reason of several bad stretches of road between here and the Court House at Pickens. Mr. Moorman, of the Columbia Record, was unable to come to Walhalla, thus throwing the main work for the Walhalla meeting on Mr. Winslow.

Saturday morning a party of automobiles was organized for a ride with Mr. Winslow over the new road being completed to Westminster. There were six automobiles in the party, as follows:

Ford touring car, driven by Dr. J. W. Bell, with W. A. Strother, W. L. Verner and C. W. Pitchford as passengers.

Maxwell runabout, driven by Sheriff W. M. Kay, carrying W. Thos. Maxwell.

Maxwell runabout, driven by Dr. B. F. Sloan, carrying A. P. Crisp.

Ford touring car, driven by J. H. Darby, carrying W. M. Brown, D. H. Winslow and J. A. Steck.

Ford touring car, driven by E. L. Herndon, carrying G. A. Norman, R. A. McLees and A. C. Merrick.

DeMott runabout, driven by R. C. Carter, carrying Jas. P. Singleton.

The run to Westminster was made in good time, Mr. Winslow stopping several times to take photographs of several sections of bad roadway at points where work on the new road had not been begun, and also to examine and criticize the work done on the Walhalla-Westminster model road. It was particularly gratifying to the party to note that the criticisms of Mr. Winslow were almost entirely favorable. He estimated that the work done would cost between $500 and $600 per mile, and was surprised when told that, as a matter of fact, the work had been done at a cost slightly in advance of $300 per mile.

After a short stop in Westminster the party returned to Walhalla, being joined by Lois Zimmerman, driving his 30-h. p. Cadillac touring car, and carrying as passengers Dr. C. M. Walker, E. C. Maret, and Jas. G. Breazeale. The return trip was made by way of Richland, giving abundant opportunity for comparison of good and bad roads. Much of the road from Westminster leading to the Richland section is in good shape, with bad sections here and there, but from Richland to the public road from Walhalla to Seneca the trip was over road that might very properly be classed as bad and worse by sections.

Immediately on reaching Walhalla a meeting was called to order in the Court House and Mr. Winslow gave about an hour's talk, condensing a few thoughts for practical benefit on the subjects of permanent road building, road maintenance, the relation of good roads to land values, and the effects of good roads as related to education. He was listened to attentively and applauded as he closed.

Mr. Winslow was asked the question by John L. Smith, one of the rural mail carriers for the routes out of Seneca, what the average cost of building permanent roads in Oconee ought to be, and his reply was that, judging by the character of the work being done between Walhalla and Westminster, the average cost would be about $300, provided it was done with the same degree of economy in expenditure. Some roads would cost more, and some less, but he judged that $300 could be made an average over the county for similar work.

Association Organized.

By a vote of those present it was decided to organize a permanent association for Oconee, and the Oconee County Good Roads Association was chosen as the name under which the organization will work. One of the main objects of the association is to lend its influence to the securing of State aid in the matter of building permanent highways. Thirty-four counties have been visited by Mr. Winslow, and Oconee ranks as the thirtieth to form an association.

The Officers

chosen for the association are as follows:

President—A. P. Crisp, Walhalla. Vice President—Dr. C. M. Walker, Westminster.

Secretary—S. N. Hughes, Richland.

An executive committee was appointed with one member from each of the eight townships of the county, the president being ex-officio a member of the committee. The committee members chosen are as follows:

Wagner—W. M. Brown (Walhalla).

Tugaloo—P. P. Sullivan, Center.

Seneca—J. J. Ballenger, Seneca.

Keowee—W. H. Glazener, Whitewater.

Whitewater—Jesse Lay, Chattooga.

Pulaski—Geo. Matheson.

There is no membership fee to be charged for this organization, and it is desired that every citizen of the county lend his aid and influence to the movement for better roads by giving in his name for membership.

Those present at the close of the meeting who became members of the association were:

A. P. Crisp, Dr. C. M. Walker, S. N. Hughes, W. M. Brown (Walhalla).

E. L. Herndon, W. W. Kennedy, H. T. Ritter, A. H. Ellison, L. D. Bearden, J. J. Haley, Dr. J. W. Bell, W. A. Strother, Jas. H. Darby, Dr. B. F. Sloan, A. C. Merrick, W. T. Maxwell, Pitchford, W. L. Verner, J. D. Isbell.

Meeting Next Friday.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee held at the Court House next Friday, August 26, at 11 o'clock, and it is especially desired that each member of the committee shall be present. It is important that each of the eight townships in the county should be represented, in order that the active work of "spreading the gospel of good roads" may be taken up simultaneously in every section of Oconee.

There is no section of the county in which "missionaries" will find they have nothing to do. The idea is to create such a volume of sound sentiment favorable to good roads that nothing can withstand it.

The Tailor Dressed Man Gets In!

We are not content to sit idly by and let any man suffer the humiliation of poorly fitting clothes because he does not know The Royal Tailors' System. That is the purpose of this big advertisement. To let every last clothes wearer in this town know that now he can have his clothes made to his own order at a price he can afford. That there is a master measure-taker here at this store waiting to take his measure and a Royal craftsman in Chicago or New York waiting to tailor his cloth over those measures in the latest styles.

Deep down in your heart, you have always coveted tailor-made clothes—every man has. Some men may have smothered pride and accepted a factory made substitute because of fancied economy. But the envy of the man with a good tailor lies unrooted in every untailor.

That envy need no longer remain ungratified in you. Here is a tailoring service, that because of its enormous output, its national field, is bringing the best hand-tailoring within the purse reach of all.

WITH THE VETS ONCE MORE.

United Confederate Veterans Reunion at Spartanburg Last Week.

On Wednesday and Thursday of last week was the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans for the State of South Carolina at Spartanburg.

According to several estimates about twenty-five hundred old soldiers of the Confederate army were assembled in Spartanburg during the past week, going there from every part of the State. It is stated that many veterans from North Carolina and Georgia seized the opportunity to be on hand and to exchange old stories with their South Carolina comrades. The annual parade of the division is described as having been a most inspiring, although pathetic sight. The veterans were all on foot, even the crippled soldiers, refusing carriages. All of them seemed proud again to be able to march in line with comrades of war-time days, and gallantly remained in the ranks until the line of march had been covered.

A number of good speeches were addressed to the assembled veterans during the reunion. That of Gen. Carr, commanding the North Carolina division, Confederate Veterans, is considered to have been a masterpiece and will long linger in the memories of those fortunate enough to have heard it. Gen. Carr was introduced by Lieut. Gen. Walker, of the Army of Northern Virginia.

Nothing better than the Confederate Veteran's Edition of the Spartanburg Herald has ever been published in South Carolina. The Herald deserves the very highest laudation for a distinct achievement in historical journalism.

Sketches of the signers of the Ordinance of Secession, all of them; sketches of Spartanburg county Confederates, officers and privates; a sketch of Col. Robt. A. Thompson, the sole survivor of the Secession Convention; reviews of the work of the organization of veterans, sons and daughters, and a mass of other historic facts, well garnered and arranged, making a volume worth preserving in bound form.

Immediately after the speech of Gen. Carr, Col. R. A. Thompson was brought upon the stage and introduced to the veterans. On mounting the stage he was received with the greatest applause that has yet greeted any man on the rostrum, and some one in the rear of the building shouted three cheers for Col. Thompson. The building was made to resound with the cheers from the lungs of the old veterans and others who were present.

It is estimated that 25,000 people lined the streets Thursday afternoon to witness the parade which brought to a close the annual reunion of the Confederate Veterans, the Sons of Veterans and the Red Shirt Men of 1876.

Gen. C. Irvine Walker, commander of the department of the Army of Northern Virginia, who reviewed the parade, stated that he never saw more men in line on foot, even at a general reunion, and said that he desired to congratulate Spartanburg in pulling off the greatest State reunion ever held in the South.

Gen. B. H. Teague, commander of the division, and members of his staff who were with him in the reviewing stand, concurred in the opinion of Gen. Walker that the parade was the best they ever saw and was a fitting climax for the most successful reunion ever held in the South.

A most distinguished figure in the reviewing stand was Col. Robt. A. Thompson, of Walhalla.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the hearty thanks of the reunion are due and are hereby tendered to the citizens of Spartanburg, to the city council, to the chamber of commerce, to the members of the press of this city, to the railway companies, and last, but not least, to the noble and fair women of the great and progressive city, 'The Gem of the Piedmont,' for the unbounded hospitality and hearty welcome so graciously tendered to the members of our organization."

It was estimated that on both Wednesday and Thursday 5,000 people were fed at the barbecue dinner given in the grove surrounding the Court House. The city of Spartanburg during the royal entertainment for the Veterans, Sons of Veterans, Red Shirt Men and hundreds of visitors from all parts of South Carolina and many from distant States. The praises of Spartanburg were spoken by all.

Among those attending from Oconee county may be mentioned Col. Robert A. Thompson, Capt. R. C. Strother, S. K. Dendy, Newton Crenshaw, B. Bagwell, J. D. McMahan, W. L. McMahan, Stephen Barron, T. H. Stribling, R. T. Jaynes, J. L. McCarley, Jasper Doyle, Marshall Abbott, I. D. Pincannon, Eustace Hopkins, M. B. Gaines, Y. C. Langston, J. E. Sitton.

The citizens of Spartanburg threw wide open their doors and dispensed elegant hospitality to their visitors.

The city of Spartanburg has justly earned and maintains its enviable position as the "Gem of the Piedmont," and it can justly boast of its big and enterprising mayor in the person of Hon. J. B. Lee. He is big in every sense of the word. Under his leadership the Confederate Veterans last week were the recipients of genuine hospitality. At his elegant home, No. 181 East Main street, quite a number of the veterans were entertained for two days. It was a scene of genuine Southern hospitality. In the northeast corner of the beautiful lawn, fronting on Main street, was erected the grand-stand from which Gen. B. H. Teague, Col. R. A. Thompson and others reviewed the joint parade of the Veterans and Red Shirt Men Thursday afternoon, thus bringing to a close the most successful reunion the Veterans have ever enjoyed.
