A FEW FERTILIZER FACTS.

The Folly of Buying Low Priced Grades of Fertilizers.

W. F. Massey, in Market Growers Journal.)

Some time ago 1 took up the bulletio of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, giving the analysis of the various fertilizers sold in that state. I counted over two hundred every one of which had a special fancy name, a special for to-bacco, for potatoes, for wheat, for sats and every imaginable crop, and every one of the more than two hundred was the same identical thing. Every one might have been sacked from the same pile, and every one of then was the low grade 2-8-2, h which every ton had at least 500 points of sand or other worthless material added to make the ton. The manufacturers are not to blame, for is the fault of the farmers who demand a low-priced fertilizer, thinking that a low price means cheapness, when in a fertilizer it always means maying a high price for all that is of also in the article and then paying for sacking and freighting a lot of worthless filler put in to make a low grade article weigh a ton. The manufacturer simply meets the demand.

The same thing will be continued till the farmers study what they need 24 a fertilizer and buy it instead of buying by the fancy name. I have known two farmers to argue for hours as to the merits of two brands f fertilizer, not knowing that under different names they were both using ic same thing.

The oddest thing is that farmers mazie over the per cent and think there is something abstruse about percentages, not understanding that percentage of the different plant ands in a fertilizer simply means so many pounds in each 100 pounds of the material, and I have had to exidain hundreds of times that acid phosphate, for instance, rated at 16 er cent, simply means that there is 20 pounds of phosphoric acid in a ton or 16 pounds in each 100 pounds, and that this 320 pounds was what they buy the ton for, and all that is of value in it, unless in some soils the 660 pounds of lime sulphate in it may bave some value.

in the low grade 2-8-2 fertilizer there is but 210 pounds of plant food and the buyer will have to freight and pay for sacking about twice as much as I pay for a fertilizer I am using that has 460 pounds of plant food is a ton. It is the actual plant tood we are buying and paying for, and we need not pay for freighting, sacking, etc., of a lot of material that is useless in order to get what is of 821 20

Then when you find on a fertilizer sack a sliding scale of 5 to 6 per cent, at any low and higher figure of any Thinks the Cotton Producers Are Guilty of Financial Suicide.

In a letter to Governor Colquitt, of Texas, endorsing his call for a meet-ing of the Governors of the cotton States to devise some plan by which the cotton planters can be saved the millions of dollars they are losing by selling their cotton at the present low prices, Theodore II. Price, the great cotton dealer of New York, offers some valuable suggestions and gives his views on the cotton situation. The following extracts from Mr. Price's letter will be read with interest: "My work in connection with the cotton picking machine, has, for the past two months, taken me into numperless cotton fields throughout the State of Texas, and I have had an opportunity to make a comparative study of the crop that few men have enjoyed. I do not think that the crop is much in excess of that of last year and I am more and more impressed with the arduous and unremitting toil that is required to produce cot-

ten. "I have felt for some time that the producers of cotton were guilty of financial suicide in their present competition, as to who would sell their cotton cheapest, and I therefore express my sympathy with and hearty approval of your plan to call a meet ing of the Governors of the cotton States with a view of considering the situation. "Under normal conditions, 1 bel'eve that the cost of producing cot-ton is 9 cents a pound. And when we take into consideration the investmeat and the hazard involved in the planting and cultivation of cotton, to say nothing of the picking, it is ridiculous that the South should sell its cotton without profit, and at a loss if the grade be below middling, as a great deal of this year's crop promises to be. "The question is not a local or sectional one. It is true that the price of cotton affects the entire business structure and the 18,000,000 people resident in the cotton States, but the importance of the issue becomes national in its scope when we remember nearly all our exports of cotton constitute nearly our whole balance of trade, and that it is with cotton that we pay our debts to Europe. If the price of the article is depreciated our lebt-paying power is impaired.

"Although in Europe and America the spinning industry is highly organized, and in America at least our spinners are the beneficiaries of an exceedingly high tariff, I think I am correct in stating that the spinners of the world would rather see cotton selling at a stable than at an abnormally low price. It is only because spinner fears his competitor each may be able to buy cotton cheaper and so produce goods cheaper, that he procrastinates in securing his supplies at a time when the cotton pro-ducers of the South, through their own fatuity, are daily depreciating in value the results of their painful toil. "One pound of cotton produces on an average five yards of cloth. An advance of 5 cents a pound in cotion therefore means an advance of less than one cent a yard in the cost of cloth. The world requires all the cotton goods that can be made from an American crop of 14,000,000 bales. In ten years it will require the equivalent of 20,000,000 bales of American cotton and a cent a yard more or less is a difference that is not appreciated by the thousands and millions consumers of cotton goods. 'On the other hand, 5 cents a pound on a crop of 14,000,000 bales means $350,000,000 annually to the South and to the United States. It means the difference between impov-It erishment and prosperity for the people in this section and it means a dif-nors of the Southern States that you have called is a step in the right di-bab called is a step in the right direction, I fear it will be without effect unless at that meeting some definite and concrete proposition is agreed upon that will afford relief from the present situation. The numerous agricultural organizations of the South, have, in the past, from time to time, met and passed resolutions calling upon farmers to hold their cotton, but in every instance the farmers have ignored these resolutions and proceeded to sell their cotton, so that their last state was

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deaf-ness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube, When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperefet hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

worse than the first. "Their inability to hold their octon was made clear by their disrecard of the resolutions and those inrested emphasize the weakness of the situation as thus expressed. As a matter of fact, it is impossible for the farmers of the South to hold their cotton during the first two or three months of the season, and 50 per cent of the crop always comes in sight by December 1.

"Practically all the cash and credit resources of the Southern States are tied up in the planting, cultivation and picking of cotton and to withhold the crop from the market when it is ready to be sold would be to disarrange the entire credit machinery of this section. If, therefore, your convention shall only have what may describe as a conversational result, it had, in my opinion, better not be held.

"It seems to me, however, that a practical, definite and workable plan can be formulated at your proposed meeting, which, if carefully worked out, will alford great relief. If the cotion world realizes that the Southern states as seriously bent upon helping themselves, the decline in cotton will be stopped."
