GRACE MAY HEAR WIFE'S TRIAL

Newnan Citizens Believe He Will Return on a Stretcher.

Newnan, Ga., April 6.—That Eugene Grace will be carried on a stretcher to Atlanta on April 16 to testify against his wife is the belief of many in Newnan.

It was rumored that in the recent Grace continued to improve as he has since Monday. The prosecution will have him appear against his wife in the commitment trial. It is believed he will be in condition to withstand the trip, and, although paralyzed from his chest down, can undergo the ordeal of removal and testifying in court.

Dr. Bailey, Grace's physician, would not state whether or not Grace would be carried to Atlanta in case his condition warranted. "The situation with Grace is a difficult one," he said, "and there is no telling when he will suffer a relapse, although at present it looks like he will improve gradually between now and the time of the trial, in which condition it might be possible for him to withstand such a trip."

If Grace is taken to Atlanta on April 16 the entire trip will be made in a stretcher, and in it he will remain while in the court room.

The paralyzed lower portion of his body, according to his physician, probably never will regain animation, and it is likely he will linger a bedridden invalid.

Although not abandoned, the plans for an operation have been deferred, as an incision in the wounded man's present condition is considered a fatal step.

"We are content to let well enough alone," said Dr. Bailey in talking of the proposed operation.

Grace spent a restful day Friday. He was cheerful and bright, and hoping for recovery. His condition is now better than at any time since he was shot.

Confident of Full Recovery.

Newnan, Ga., April 9.—Eugene H. Grace not only firmly believes that he will recover from his wound, but he also thinks that some day he will be able to walk again.

In spite of the confident assertions of physicians who have been closest associated with him during the time he has suffered from the bullet in his body, the wounded man has quietly set aside the verdict and held strong to his belief of absolute recovery. He now thinks that before two years are past he will be as strong as in the days of his youth.

Don't be surprised if you have an attack of rheumatism this spring. Just rub the affected parts freely with Chamberlain's Liniment and it will soon disappear. Sold by all dealers.

PROBABLY OTHERS WILL ENTER

Ansel, Manning, Evans, Rhett, Blease and Lever are Mentioned.

Columbia, April 6.—The spring ice of the senatorial pond has been broken, and the water seems to be fine for candidates with the inclination toward the senatorial toga, which is only worn in the national capital. The announcement from Laurens that N. B. Dial, the well known lawyer, banker and cotton man, will enter the race for the United States Senate against B. R. Tillman and Jasper W. Talbert may serve as a wedge to bring out some of the others in the State who have a hankering after the job.

Jasper W. Talbert, of Edgefield, was the first to announce his candidacy for the place of B. R. Tillman. He will make an aggressive campaign for the place.

Among those who have been mentioned as "might be's" in the senatorial race are A. F. Lever, member of Congress from the Seventh District; Martin P. Ansel, former Governor; R. Goodwin Rhett, former mayor of Charleston; Richard Manning, well known business man of Sumter; John Gary Evans, former Governor, and the present Governor.

GEORGIA LAWYER ENDS LIFE.

Scurrilous Circular Preyed Upon the Mind of Albany Solicitor.

Albany, Ga., April 7.—J. W. Walters, Jr., solicitor of the city court of Albany, one of the most brilliant and popular young attorneys in this section of the State, shot and killed himself this afternoon at the plant of the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, where he had gone with his brother-in-law and a friend. The theory of accidental shooting has been abandoned, but the weight of evidence is that Walters in a moment of mental aberration, due to despondency, which had been growing upon him for several days, took his own life.

Solicitor Walters went to the office of the bottling works with his kinsman, N. R. Dehon, and I. C. Brinson, an intimate friend. They had been seeking to cheer him up, but with little success. He and Mr. Brinson had been standing together in one of the rear apartments of the building for several minutes engaged in conversation, and when the latter finally turned to go into the front office, Walters went in the opposite direction and entered a closet at the extreme rear of the building. A moment later the report of a pistol was heard, and when those who rushed to the rear of the work's reached the closet they found Walters in the throes of death with a bullet wound through his heart. The weapon used was an automatic .38-calibre pistol, carrying a steel bullet.

It is generally accepted theory of Solicitor Walters' friends that brooding over an anonymous political circular which was mailed in Albany last Tuesday was responsible for his death. As reported in State papers at the time, the circular made a bitter attack on Solicitor Walters, who was a candidate for re-election. It was a bungling appeal to prejudice and an attack on the solicitor for his zeal in the prosecution of a certain class of criminals. It ended with an unprintable slander so shameful and so utterly unfounded that the whole community fairly seethed with indignation.

Every effort has since been made by city and county officers, post office inspectors and others to discover the identity of the perpetrator of the outrage, but without result so far as the public knows. Not the faintest suspicion is attached to the solicitor's political opponent.

J. W. Walters, Jr., was not quite 30 years old and was exceedingly popular. He was a son of Col. Jesse W. Walters, one of the most prominent lawyers in South Georgia, and was himself wonderfully successful as an attorney. His friends were legion and his tragic death has cast gloom over the whole community. He is survived (besides his father and mother) by three sisters and three brothers. He was unmarried.

LEEVE BREAKS; FLOOD SPREADS

The Main Embankment at Golden Lake Has Given Away.

Memphis, Tenn., April 9.—Advice received at Memphis at 1.30 o'clock state that the main levee has broken a mile and a half north of Golden Lake, Ark., about 50 miles north of Memphis. The water is spreading over a wide area in that section.

Forty-five townships will be partly covered by water. The town of Marked Tree, Ark., will probably be inundated. The water will cover parts of an area of about 1,700 square miles, in which, however, are some parts of higher ground which will escape the flood. Whether there will be loss of life remains to be ascertained; but warnings were flashed over the telephone lines in all portions of the section affected in the hope that the residents will escape before the water shall reach them.

The break was in the main line of the levee, a gap of about 100 yards, which collapsed with a crash shortly after 1 o'clock. The water then tore aside the ends until at 2 o'clock the gap was reported to have widened to more than 600 yards.

SENECA LOCAL MENTION.

Episcopal Convocation in Session—Epidemic of Measles—Briefs.

Seneca, April 8.—Special: A large crowd of the patrons and pupils of the school will go to Greenville for the oratorical contest and track meet the 12th and 13th.

Seneca was well represented at the Sunday school convention at Richland last week.

Measles is taking the day in Seneca. The type is mild, however, and there has not been a fatality in the town out of dozens of cases.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week convocation will be held in the Episcopal church, and there will be a number of prominent delegates in attendance, among them John W. Wood, of Spartanburg. H. P. Boggs, formerly a teacher of this place, will also be a delegate to the convocation.

The Misses Gignilliat entertained at a delightful party last Friday evening for Miss Norma Gignilliat, who is spending the Easter holidays at home.

The Gossipers held a delightful meeting with Miss Mary Julia Reid last week.

Charley Byrd was "at home" to a select number of his young friends last Friday night.

At a congregational meeting at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning A. P. Brown and W. M. Propst were elected elders.

Congregations were very good at our churches last Sunday, but the weather was not favorable for Easter bonnets.

S. K. Dendy, Jr., is with homefolks for a few days.

The cemetery is in great need of work now, particularly in the walks; and a thorough burning of the leaves and trash which have accumulated the past winter would improve the appearance wonderfully.

Gec T. Stribling, of Turnerville, Ga., visited his relatives here for a day or two last week.

Your correspondent has no apology to make for the statement made in a former letter relative to the recent election of Mayor, quoted by "One of the Minority" in an article seen in your last issue. Your correspondent was correctly informed as to the action of the minority in the convention, but there was nothing said by this correspondent relative to the action of the majority in the convention.

As quoted, there were two tickets; one was nominated in a convention composed of a majority of registered voters, the other nominated by the minority, or bolters, and for lack of a better word we called it the independent ticket. As we have always understood it, one of the first principles of Democracy is to stand by the decision of a majority. A nominating convention, whether "a pernicious system" or not, has been deemed the wisest plan by a majority of Seneca citizens.

In the Richland correspondent's account of the track meet last week he says, in reference to the hurdle race, "Stribling and Coe, of Richland, close second and third, all in a bunch, with the breath of the second and third boys blowing cold upon the shoulder of the boy in front—only a hair's breadth, you know." The winner in this race (Stribling, of Seneca,) says the boy in the rear must have been "blowing a cyclone," there being the distance of a hurdle between the first and second man at the close of the race. Really, little man, the description is misleading—"cold breath," "hair's breadth"—a lack of consistency in the two terms intended to describe the same thing. We regret that our last letter containing the account of the meet should have been delayed. There was no effort at bragging; like the Irishman said when questioned as to why he always bragged on his poor horse, "the fat horse can take care of itself!"

Seneca was in bad luck in having one of her best men incapacitated, but she has no apologies for this or any other shortcomings. What she did in the meet was done to the "queen's taste."

We agree with The Courier that there should be some regulation of rules of the Athletic Association as to weight, age, etc. We have said as much hitherto, but how is it to be done? There was an age limit at one time, but your correspondent is informed that it was removed last year. The present arrangement is discouraging to the small boys, but the same difficulty is met with in our colleges, so what's to be done about it? Just rock along, we suppose, letting "the longest pole get the persimmon."

County Farmers' Union.

The Oconee County Farmers' Union will meet in regular quarterly session on Saturday, April 13, at 10 a. m., at the Blue Ridge High School building, four miles south of Walhalla. Each local union is expected to send a full delegation, as business of importance will come before the meeting.

A. H. Ellison, President. J. W. Alexander, Secretary.

Card of Thanks.

Editor Keowee Courier: Please allow us space in your columns to return thanks to the kind friends who in our sudden bereavement have so freely tendered their kind assistance and sympathy. Their deeds and words will ever be cherished by us. Mrs. C. A. Burton and Family. Walhalla, April 9, 1912.

ACCUSED OF CUTTING HIS WIFE.

Warrant Issued for New York Society Man—Sensation in Aiken.

Aiken, April 8.—A warrant charging Frederick O. Beach, New York society man, and member of the Aiken millionaire colony, with assault and battery with intent to kill his wife, Mrs. Camilla Beach, was sworn out here today.

This action grows out of the assault made upon Mrs. Beach on the night of February 26, when she was felled with a fence paling, and her throat was slashed in the yard of her winter home, which has been the scene of a sensation at this resort. It was claimed by the Beaches that Mrs. Beach had been called out to the gate by a negro man, who said he had a note for her; that she went to get it, and that the negro then slashed her throat and made his escape in the darkness.

A gold-plated, diamond-studded pocket knife, the property of Beach, given by him to Mayor Gyles about three weeks ago, is held as memento evidence against him. Upon microscopic examination made by experts, first in Aiken, then in Augusta, and lastly in Columbia, a quantity of human blood was found on the larger blade. This is one of the prosecution's main points. It is also said that a conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Beach, overheard while the two were left in a room by a man concealed behind a bookcase for the purpose will be relied upon to some extent.

A warrant accusing Beach has been expected for more than a week past by those who have been in the secret, that the detective employed by the city authorities was continuing his investigations. This detective, M. S. Baughan, who came here about three weeks ago, was one of the deaths who succeeded in landing Beach behind the bars.

The warrant was sworn out by S. E. Bailey, one of the rural policemen of this county, before Magistrate Simpson, and Solicitor Gunter took steps at once to have the Governor of North Carolina issue a requisition upon the Governor of New York for Beach.

Beach left here two weeks ago when his wife for New York, giving it before his departure that he intended to sail for Europe April 20th.

The Mrs. Beach were to be on their European trip. It was learned this afternoon, however, after Solicitor Gunter had left the city, that the Beaches sailed from New York for a European port last Wednesday.

Penri Hampton, the negro woman who was also struck with the same fence paling that felled Mrs. Beach on the night of February 26, a few minutes before Mrs. Beach was struck down, and who has stoutly refused to give the police any information of the events of that night, was also taken into custody, together with two maids from the home of Joseph Harlan, the valet of C. W. Dolan, of Philadelphia, and two maids employed at the Lyons home, adjoining that of the Beaches. All of these are held as witnesses and gave bond for their appearance at the June term of court of general sessions.

Beach in London; Denies Charge.

London, April 9.—Frederick O. Beach, the Wall street broker, against whom a warrant has been issued in Aiken, S. C., charging him with assault and battery with intent to kill his wife, has arrived in London with Mrs. Camilla Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Beach, who are staying at a prominent hotel in London, have not left their apartments since they arrived here.

Mr. Beach declined to be interviewed, but he told the newspapers over the telephone to-day that there was "nothing in the charges."

Later in the day, when a cablegram saying that a warrant charging him with assault and battery had been sworn out at Aiken, S. C., was received here, it was sent up to Mr. Beach, but he returned it without making any comment, and again refused to grant an interview.

Nothing regarding the case against Beach has so far been received at the American embassy in London.

Inquest Into Cherokee Lynching.

Gaffney, April 5.—The coroner's jury in the case of the lynching of two negroes, which occurred at Blacksburg a week ago, convened this afternoon. Not a witness was sworn, and no further testimony being introduced, the jury rendered a verdict: "We, the jury, find that Frank Whisonant and Joe Brinson came to their death at the hands of parties unknown to us." Considerable interest is being manifested in the case, but others than the officers of the law do not seem to be making any decided effort to get information as to who composed the lynching mob.

The Danger After Grip.

It lies often in a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the glorious tonic, blood purifier and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50 cents. Sold and perfect satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

MRS. GREEVER'S BODY FOUND.

Unfortunate Woman Found Rest in Waters of the Potomac.

(Washington Post, 7th.)

Mystery surrounding the disappearance in this city on February 17 of Mrs. N. Roberta Greever, 44 years old, wife of Rev. Wm. H. Greever, of Columbia, S. C., editor of a Lutheran paper, was cleared yesterday, when her body was washed ashore near the wharf at Fort Hunt, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, about 12 miles from Washington. The discovery put an end to a country-wide search, which had been in progress for six weeks.

The body is in such a state that it cannot be identified, but the clothing and a plain wedding ring on the finger leave no doubt that it is that of the missing woman. Miss Frances S. Ryan, who knew Mrs. Greever well, went to the morgue last night soon after the arrival of the body on the police boat Vigilant, and completed the identification.

Accident is Theory.

That Mrs. Greever was on her way to Tazewell, Va., to see her three children and was accidentally drowned is the opinion of the police, which is shared by some of the relatives. She had been separated from her children for about six months, and had frequently expressed a desire to see them.

A report received last night from Fort Hunt seems to confirm this theory. Mrs. Greever went away on February 17, about 5.40 p. m. That night about 9 o'clock John L. Austin, a member of Company 47, coast artillery, stationed at Fort Hunt, was doing sentry duty, when he heard a woman scream twice. The cries seemed to come from the river. He investigated, but failed to find any one.

The next morning he reported the incident to Capt. R. T. McMillan, who ordered a squad of men to search the reservation, including the water front. The men were unsuccessful in their hunt, but the date of the occurrence was recorded.

There was thick ice along the shore at the time, and it is thought that Mrs. Greever wandered down to the river, and that she fell through not far from the shore. The Mount Vernon trolley cars pass Fort Hunt.

one of those cars, and alighted at the fort. She might well have passed the fortifications at night without being seen.

The children—a boy 9 years, a girl 6, and another 3—are still at Tazewell, and it is said, still think their mother is under treatment in this city.

The husband was notified, and is expected here early this morning. Theodore Bruegel, a real estate operator of Philadelphia, brother of the dead woman, arrived last night. He would not go to the morgue, but waited at police headquarters to receive the details of the discovery from Detective Armstrong, who went down the river with a party of officers to bring the body to this city.

Walter H. Greever, an attorney of Tazewell, Va., brother of Rev. Mr. Greever, and other relatives also were notified, and are expected here to-day.

Sighted by Lookout.

A woman's body was reported floating off the fort Thursday night by the lookout of a steamer, and early yesterday morning the Vigilant was sent down the river to try to recover it. It was thought here that it might be that of Mrs. Greever. Supposedly the same one was washed ashore about 100 feet south of the wharf at the fortification yesterday afternoon about 1.30 o'clock, and the authorities here were notified.

Few cases of the kind here have excited as much interest as this one. Mrs. Greever was a daughter of the late Rev. G. A. Bruegel, a Lutheran minister. A woman of unusual intelligence, she was known in many cities. Soon after she disappeared Lutherans the country over became interested in the case, and co-operated with the police in the search. Tens of thousands of circulars were scattered through the land. Each one bore a picture, together with a complete description, of the missing woman. Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Syracuse, Utica and Buffalo, N. Y.; Erie, Pa., and practically the whole of the Lehigh Valley, where she was particularly well known, were thoroughly circled with these cards, and a reward was offered for information leading to the discovery of her whereabouts.

Came Here for Treatment.

Mrs. Greever was in Columbia with her family until compelled by a nervous breakdown to come here for treatment. Her children were then sent to Tazewell, Va. She came here about six months ago, and the greatest specialists here were called into consultation. She made her home with her nurse, Miss Ryan.

A member of Mrs. Greever's family said after her disappearance that occasionally she seemed obsessed with the idea that she had been annoyed by police, as if she had committed a crime, and that she would show an inclination to hide.

While here she was encouraged to take daily walks, but never went out alone. Generally she was accompanied by her nurse.

On February 17 she and Miss Ryan were together in the downtown shopping district. At Eleventh and G streets Mrs. Greever met the wife

C. A. BURTON DIES SUDDENLY.

Stricken With Heart Failure at His Home Sunday Afternoon.

Last Sunday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock citizens of Walhalla were shocked to learn of the sudden death of C. A. Burton, which occurred a few minutes before at his home on Tugalo street. He had been, apparently, in good health up to the moment of his passing away. At the time of his death he was sitting on the front porch of his home with members of his family. Without the slightest intimation that he even felt ill, he ceased talking, his head sank forward on his breast and he was no more. Heart failure had taken him to the beyond "in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye," and the news of his passing away was received with deep sorrow by all who had known him.

Claudius Augustus Burton was born April 28th, 1853, in Anderson county, in what is known as Hall District. He was 59 years of age. About 26 years ago he moved with his family to Oconee and since that time had resided here and near town. He was an honest, upright citizen, respected and honored for his integrity by all who knew him.

On December 16th, 1877, he was happily married to Miss Julia A. Simpson, of Anderson county, and to this union ten children were born, five of whom survive. They are Mrs. Essie Walters, of Madison; Albert C. Burton, of Atlanta; Robert, Miss Minnie and Grady Burton, who reside with their mother in Walhalla. He is survived also by one brother, A. J. Burton, of Anderson county.

In his death a good, substantial citizen has been removed from our midst, and there are hosts of friends of the family who will join with us in extending sincere sympathy to them in their deep sorrow.

Mr. Burton was a member of the Baptist church at his old home in Anderson county. Funeral services held at the church here Monday afternoon, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Walhalla Baptist cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. C. S. Blackburn.

Kills Two; Commits Suicide.

Chicago, April 5.—Morris Fishman, who is believed to have been one of the men who shot the other men, and who is believed to have been financially embarrassed, to-day shot and probably fatally wounded his brother-in-law, Alexander Striker, shot and wounded Mrs. Frances Ginter, a patron, and then killed himself in his tailoring establishment on Milwaukee avenue. Striker was 50 years old and had been employed by Fishman. Mrs. Ginter, who entered the store with her daughter, 20 years old, to get a dress, was wounded in the knee. Her condition is not serious.

For rheumatism you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. Try it and see how quickly it gives relief. For sale by all dealers.

of an army officer, an old schoolmate, and they talked about their school days, which seemed to produce a sudden mental change in her.

A few minutes later, at Eleventh and P streets, Mrs. Greever vanished while Miss Ryan's head was turned. Search was made in the stores in the vicinity, but no trace of her was found. That was about 5.40 o'clock. The police were notified shortly afterward, and the whole city, including the water front, was searched.

The next morning Rev. Mr. Greever, his brother and brother-in-law arrived to personally direct the hunt, and they co-operated with the police. Many clues were run out, but to no avail.

The relatives remained here about ten days, and then abandoned hope of finding her here. They were inclined to the belief that she had gone somewhere to visit friends, to get away from old scenes. From here they went to Baltimore, then to Philadelphia, to New York, Brooklyn and other places.

Recently the husband, in despair, returned to his work at Columbia. The other relatives quit hunting about the same time and went back to their homes. But the police and churchfolk went ahead with the search.

It was recalled here last night that just before leaving here for Baltimore Rev. Mr. Greever expressed the opinion that his wife had started out for Tazewell to see her children, and that something might have happened to her en route. He did not think of death, however. He thought she might have lost her way and wandered to some other city.

The husband was hopeful of finding her alive until a few days ago. Her brother, Mr. Bruegel, said last night that he had clung to the hope that she was still alive, and that she soon would be restored to her family.

"It is a great relief in one sense," he said, "but we all hoped it would be of another kind."
