C. W. & J. E. BAUKNIGHT,

Walhalla, S. C.

Concross, July 29 .- Special: Last Wednesday at 11 a, m, the death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Abbott, of this community, and conveyed from earth to heaven the spirit of their daughter Zadie. The entire community is overshadowed with gloom in consequence of the sad and unexpected death, which was due to typhoid fever. Zadie was 12 years of age. Although she was young she had given her life into the keeping of the One who has taken her away, and was a loyal little sol-dier for her Saviour. It does not seem possible that our little friend is gone, yet we have to realize that God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call her to that beautiful city above. She was the only daughter and youngest child of J. S. Abbott. She will be greatly missed, not only in her home, but in the church and Sunbeam work, and especially in the Sunbeam work, and especially in the Sunday school, in which she was a devoted worker. More especially than on Saturday night.

How the Trouble Started.

The trolble started a few days ago when Minnie Heard, a negress, attacked livey Miller, a little white boy, with a rock while both were working following her death when four of her in a neach orchard. Next day the sad tribute of respect to their dear little friend. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. L. D. Mitche', who just about one year ago builed her in baptism. The re-

Lesley Morgan, of near Central, was a visitor to his cousins, Messrs. Barker, recently. He was on his way home from Double Springs, where he accompanied his sister-in-law, Miss Ethel Jones. She will open school at Poplar Springs school house this morning. She has friends here who wish her much success.

LITTLE ZADIE ABBOTT DEAD. WHITES CLASH WITH NEGROES.

Death Casts Deep Gloom Over Com-munity—Local News.

After Shooting Three White Men Negroes Barricade Themselves. Negroes Barricade Themselves.

> Plainville, Ga., July 28 .- White men are not sleeping to-night in Plainville after Sunday morning's battle between officers and eleven negroes, in which fifteen were wounded, some seriously, although > not a negro has appeared on the streets during the day.

> Men left here early this morning for Rome, where they secured arms and ammunition and returned early this evening this evening.

The eleven negroes were desperately wounded in the battle, and who surrendered only when Sheriff Dunehoo and his posse rushed the house after the blacks' ammunition was gone, are in jall at Calhoun, while the wounded whites are being given model attentions. medical attention.

Another outbreak is not expected, although preparations have been made to cope with it more effectively following her death when four of her little girl friends, dressed in white, entered the church, bearing the many severely beaten by hot-headed white pretty flowers, mute tokens of love, followed by the lovely white casket, borne by six of her uncles. A deep gloom fell over the large audience which had assembled to pay the last to his assistance. The four were stood in a row against the depot and lashed with buggy whips. Finally one broke away and fired as he ran. This brought on an exchange of shots among the excited people. This oc-curred just as the Southern southbound passenger train from Chattanooga passed through

> Amid wild excitement the blacks, who outnumbered the whites, fled from the town, and took refuge in the section houses.
> Sheriff Owens, of Calhoun, arrived with a posse to arrest the negroes. On the way to the negro quarters a volley was poured into the posse from a negro section house, which was quickly surrounded. The wounded sheriff, Ernest Johnson and Dock Miller were carried to a white home and aid asked from nearby towns. Sheriff W. G. Dunehoee and his deputies from Rome were rushed to the scene in an automobile. They were armed with rifles and riot guns. Not knowing the location of house, they were fired upon as they passed in an auto, the tires being punctured and the lights put out.

Securing places of vantage, they kept up a steady fire on the house for several hours. The hillsides were fast filled with farmers, who hurried into the town, and several thousand shots were fired into the shanty, the weatherboarding which was punctured like a sieve.

After a four hours' battle with the negroes it was noticed shortly after 2 o'clock that they were not returning the fire. Capt. Dunehoo and his party made a rush to the house in the face of a heavy fire, which seemed reserved for the last moment, and broke down the door. Deputy Sheriff Gaines was hit by bullets in the head and side, but not seriously hurt.

A sickening sight was the interior of the negro hut. Ten negro men and two women were lying around the room, all of them more or less seriously wounded. The room sembled a slaughter pen with its

Hundreds began crowding around the disarmed and wounded prisoners and beat them into insesibility with gunstocks. A lynching was averted by the officers, who guarded the negroes with drawn rifles against the mob. All of the prisoners were carried to jail in Calhoun, and early reports to-night from that place state that a lynching is improbable.

EUGENE GRACE FEARS ATTACK. Appeals to Detectives for Protection Until Hearing is Over.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

The fear of death, swift, silent and relentless, clutched at the heart of Eugene H. Grace yesterday as he lay helpless on a hospital cot in the to-bacco-laden court room of the criminal division of the Superior Court, listening to the sordid details of the crime which he has charged to his wife, Daisy Opie Webster Grace.

The sting of a bullet or the swift pierce of a knife is what Grace fears. He says that he saw himself being assassinated in a dream, and the halucination has become so fixed in his mind that he has appealed to Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford for protection during his trial.

"I don't trust that woman, and I fear her friends still more," he declared Monday as he was being lifted into the court room.

To ease his mind and dispel any fear of danger, T. G. Farmer, Jr., and Tom Fisher, both boyhood companions, stand at the head and foot of his cot. At the slightest bit of excitement in the court room Monday morning, or whenever a strange person approached his side, he would clutch at the bed covering to attract his friends.

"Watch me close, boys!" he admonished them.

The Jury Completed.

The tedious task of selecting the jury to try Mrs. Grace for shooting with intent to kill her boyish husband was completed at 11.30 o'clock, and immediately after both sides plunged into the examination of witnesses, which will last until Wednes-day afternoon. Five witnesses were heard. The State began tracing the movements of Mrs. Grace from 9 o'clock of the morning of March 5, the hour which she was first seen by the servants, until she reached New-nan at 3 o'clock that same afternoon. Up to 4.30 o'clock Monday afternoon, when the hour of adjournment had been reached, the Stat had failed to show that Mrs. Grace had actually fired the shot into the side and against the spine of her husband.

Policies Suggested as Motive.

(Atlanta Constitution, 31st.) The crucial moment in the trial of Mrs. Daisy E. Grace came at clock yesterday afternoon when the Solicitor began laying the foundation to show that the snug little fortune of $25,000 was the tempting morsel which caused the woman to attempt

"It is but one of the attorneys.
"This link will hold the chain together and make it complete. It will show motive.'

These policies were suggested when Gene and Dalsy, yet on their honeymoon, paid their first visit to the Hill home. It was Mrs. Hill, the mother of Grace, happy because her big boy had brought his bride home to see her, who asked Gene to take out the policies.

"I told them that it was a duty they owed to each other," Mrs. Hill said on the witness stand Tucsday.

As the tragic sequel of the wedding passed through her mind, Mrs Hill wept when she was questioned as to what prompted her to make the suggestion. "I was just happy then, and I thought that it would be a good idea for them to be protected. Had I known that this great trouble would be the sequence I would have died rather than breathe a word.'

Grace Collapsed

when his gray-haired old mother stepped down from the witness box, fagged from the trying ordeal of examination. His condition was such that Dr. Goldsmith advised that he be removed hastily to the sanitarium. A bulletin at 2 o'clock was to the effect that Grace had a high fever and that his pulse was high, almost as high as when he was shot on the af-ternoon of March 5.

"Grace is very sick," was the news from Piedmont Sanitarium at eight o'clock last night, and there was no encouraging news thereafter. physicians decline to discuss his condition other than to state that he was very sick.

MEETINGS AT SENECA.

We are requested to announce that it is desired to hold a Congressional and Senatorial campaign meeting at Seneca next Saturday night. We have no information as to where the meet ing will be held, or the exact hour. The meeting is an extra one, arranged for the benefit of the aspirants for Senatorial and Congressional honors.

The county campaign will open at Seneca to-morrow (Thursday.)

Society Woman Takes Her Life.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 27 .-- Mrs Harvey R. Payne, one of the most popular young society women of this city, committed suicide some time last evening in a vacant house in the heart of the fashionable Springfield more. suburbs. Her body was found late this afternoon in a back room, where she had turned on the gas with fatal results.

It is believed she rented the house for that purpose. Mrs. Payne had been separated from her husband. She was a daughter of the late Da-mon Greenleaf, one of the South's most exclusive jewelers.

SHOOTING ON KEOWEE RIVER. Mack Banks Shoots Will Turner at

Home of the Latter.

Last Saturday Mack Banks shot and painfully wounded Will Turner at his home in the Keowee River section of Oconee. Banks used a shotgun, filling one of Turner's legs with small shot, inflicting a painful, but it is thought not serious wound. It is stated that Turner's leg is badly lacerated, and he has suffered no little from the wound.

Mack Banks was brought to jail Sunday and lodged therein to await developments.

It is understood that the shooting took place as a result of a disagree-ment over the sum of $4.50. It is stated that Banks was leaving the employ of Turner and "sked the lat-er for the amount due him for wages. and that Turner simply replied that he would pay him when he had car-ried out his contract. Some time later Banks went to Turner's house and without warning fired the shot that resulted in a simultaneous call for a doctor and the sheriff. Reports from Mr. Turner are to the effect that he is getting along all right, and no complications are expected, though the wounded limb is in a most uncomfortable condition.

CAMPAIGNERS AT NEWBERRY. Candidates for Senate and Congress Address Small Crowd.

Newberry, July 29.—N. B. Dial ad W. J. Talbert, candidates for and W. J. Talbert, candidates for Senator Tillman's seat in the United ted States Senate, and the three candidates for Congress in the Third District spoke to an audience of about 100 people in the Court House here to-day. The meeting was quiet, good attention being accorded all the candidates.

Messrs, Dial and Talbert spoke along the same lines as they have elsewhere in the State. Congressman Wyatt Aiken reviewed his record and the work which had been accomplished by the Dem-ocratic House. He referred to local matters, especially to the rural mail routes, and discussed national issues, favoring a parcels post, among other Capt. F. S. Evans, of Greenwood, was opposed to parcels post, saying it was a scheme by the large mail order houses of the Northwest and he did not think it would benefit the merchant or farmer. He was opposed to the Bristow amendment to the bill for direct election of Senators. Capt. Evans discussed other issues. Marcus C. Long, of Walhalla, fa-vored the repeal of the war amendments to the United States constitu-tion, thereby taking away the ne-gro's citizenship and suffrage. He did not want to mistreat the negro, but would put him in his place and keep him there. He advocated Federal aid in building highways, opposed trusts, opposed protective tariff and opposed foreign immigra-

JOHN N. BLECKLEY IS DEAD.

Passed Away Tuesday—Desperately Ill for Several Days. (Anderson Mail, 30th.)

This afternoon the Daily Mail carries to its readers the sad news of the death of John N. Bleckley. He had been extremely ill since Saturday last, but hope was not abandoned un-til Monday night. Mr. Bleckley was one of the most widely known and most generally useful men of the county, and his death will bring sorrow to many hearts.

Mr. Bleckley's illness commenced a week ago last Friday. He had just returned from Lake Toxaway, and complained of feeling very sick. B. A. Henry found that he had the aching and chilly sensations of a genuine case of grip with bilious complications.

The patient failed to respond the treatment and the fever continued, his whole nervous system being involved. Dr. Henry called into con sultation some of the other physicians of the city and tried in vain to locate a specialist in Columbia. It was seen several days ago that Mr. Bleckley's condition was very grave indeed, and Monday night he lapsed nto a comatose condition, from which he never rallied.

Mr. Bleckley had large and varied business interests, having been cashler of the People's Bank and interested in oil mills and farming enterprises. He was a native of Georgia and was about 45 years old. He had lived in Anderson 20 years.

The anonuncement of Mr. Bleckley's death will bring deep sorrow to many friends in Oconee and else where in the upper section of the State, where he was well known. He was a nephew of Mrs. E. A. Bell, of Walhalla.

The Reunion at Townville.

Townville, July 30.—Special: Don't forget the reunion of teachers and pupils at Townville August 15th. Let everybody come and enjoy seeing old friends and schoolmates once

There will be an interesting program for the day, consisting of short addresses by each teacher, with replies by pupils. These replies will contain some amusing incidents connected with the school,

DISEASE AMONG CATTLE.

Quite a Number in Oconeo Have Recently Been Affected.

F. W. Harbort, who lives a short distance above Walhalla, has called the attention of The Courier to the prevalence of a disease among cattle, from which many have been seriously sick and some have died. The disease is indicated first by the catdisease is indicated first by the cattie's eyes becoming badly blood-shot. This is followed by sores in and around the mouth, then stiffness and swelling of joints and limbs, finally ending in generally disordered and congested condition of bowels and intestines.

Quite a large number of the cattle in the section above Walhalla have been attacked by the disease, which is said to originate from the eating of grass on which a fungus has appeared near the ground, and possibly also through the gathering in of portions of "toad stools" that have sprung up every-where during the long-continued rainy weather. Mr. Harbort's cattle were attacked, and he appealed at once to Clemson authorities for a remedy, which was promptly sent him and is very simple. Mr. Har-bort used it as soon as received, and his cattle began to improve at once. The prescription and directions are given below:

Use a solution composed of parts water and two parts creoline, the solution being used as a mouth wash twice daily. An application of boracic acid powder after the mouth wash will give good results. The creoline wash should also be applied to the feet, followed by the use of carbolated yearline. carbolated vaseline.

One ounce of creoline to a gallon of water gives the proper solution. The boracic acid can be applied as a solution also, the proportion being one ounce boracic acid to a pint of

This as will be seen is a very simas effective as it is simple. The prescription, we are informed, can be gotten at any drug store, the price for same being about 25c.

Reports from other sections of the State as to the appearance of this disease are numerous, and the results obtained from the use of this prescription have proven entirely satisfactory.

MAYOR CHALLENGES GOVERNOR Latter Releases Former from Obligations of Previous Confidence.

Glenn Springs, July 30 .- Mayor J. Grace, of Charleston, who is spending a week here, has challenged Gov-ernor Cole L. Blease to release him from the confidence placed in him while they were on friendly terms, and states that if the Governor would publicly state that he (Grace) was free to tell any and all the things he wanted to, he would reveal facts that would "nauseate the people of South Carolina.

Blease Accepts.

Columbia, July 30 .- Governor Blease Tuesday Issued a statement in which he grants Mayor Grace, of Charleston, permission to tell any-thing he wishes on the Chief Execu-tive, and in which he says that if the Mayor tells the truth he will admit it, and if he tells a falsehood he will deny it. The Governor further says that he has never had any confidence in Grace: that Grace did not support him in the first primary two years ago, and doubts if he supported him in the second election.

FIRES VOLLEY IN LODGE ROOM.

Candidate for Degree Probably Fa-tally Wounds Team Leader.

Anderson, July 27.—Mistaking that part of the initiation where firearms are fluorished and blank cartridges are exploded as meaning to do him bodily harm, Furman Bag-well, aged 21, a candidate being ini-Woodmen of the World, rushed from the lodge room and snatched his pistol from his coat hanging in the ante-room, hurried back into the lodge room and fired there shots in rapid succession at Milton Taylor, aged 26, who was leading the degree team in the initiation.

The first shot hit Taylor in the

The first shot hit Taylor in the abdomen, fearfully learing the intestines. The bullet hid itself in the spinal column. The second bullet hit Taylor on the right hip and buried itself in the hip bone. The last shot struck Taylor on the back of the neck and glanced off.

This occurred in Friendship lodge room, three miles northeast of Honea Path last night. To-day Taylor was brought to Anderson Hospital and Dr. Sanders, the attending physi-cian, says to-night that his condition is extremely critical and that he fears peritonitis will set ic.

Taylor was able to tell of the shooting to-day after he came from under the influence of an anaesthetic. He says that he and Bagwell were warm friends; that Bagwell became excited and in the heat of excitement lost his head and rushed for his pistol, evidently thinking that he (Taylor) meant to do him some bodily harm.

Bagwell is a clerk in a store at Honea Path and was at his post today. He was married about two months ago. Taylor's father said today that prosecution of Bagwell de-pended on whether or not his son survived the wounds. It is not likethat he will survive.

Young Milton Taylor Dead.

(Anderson Mail, 29th.) After lingering in great pain for 30 hours, S. Milton Taylor, the young Honea Path man who was shot by Furman Bagwell in the lodge hall of the Woodmen at Friendship church, near Honea Path, Friday night, died at the Anderson Hospital Monday morning at 6 o'clock. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Tay-lor, and a brother and sister, were # constantly at the bedside of their loved one, and were with him when he breathed his last.

Novitiate Becomes Crazed. While Bagwell was being initiated into the local Woodmen lodge he became greatly excited, and when Taylor, who was leading the degree team, fired several shots from a revolver, said to be loaded with "blanks," the candidate for initiation rushed into an ante-room, where he procured a .32 Smith & Wesson revolver from his coat pocket and turned upon Taylor and began shooting. In all, four shots are reported to have been fired, one taking effect in the back of the neck, making slight flesh wounds in the hip and the fourth entering the transverse colon twice, tearing large #### holes in the walls of the intestine. The Father's Statement.

S. P. Taylor, father of the deceased young man, stated Modnay morning that he would bring no criminal action against Bagwell, being fully satisfied that Bagwell harbored no ill feelings toward his son and shot him under the stress of the excitement. The father held no resent-ment to the assailant of his son, strange to relate, but seemed to regret more that the order had incorporated in its initiation ceremonies things which were likely to arouse the wrath of the novitiate and which, in this instance, was the #### cause of the entire affair. OCONEE INSURANCE MEETING.

Farmers' Mutual Association Will Convene Tuesday, August 13th,

The Oconee Mutual Insurance Association will convene at the Court House in Walhalla on Tuesday, the 13th day of August, at o'clock a. m. This will be the annual meeting—the most important meeting of the association—at which the election of officers and the transaction of other important matters will be taken up. There are quite a number of lady members of the association (all policy-holders being members), and it is hoped that the female members will attend as well as all male members. It is particularly desired that this annual meeting shall be as representative as possible, and to this end every policy-holder is urged to attend if possible.

Remember the date and the hour, and let nothing trivial prevent your # attendance. J. B. Pickett, President. J. D. Isbe.., Secretary.

Georgia Will Lose Million.

Washington, July 28.—The army worm, which is "marching through Georgia, will do $1,000,000 worth of damage to the corn, cotton and other on feet in air, a rope attaching the trapeze bar to his parachute broke and Thomas Heyfield, aged 26, of Springfield, Illinois, son of a United States deputy marshal in Springfield, the amount of injury will be in the department of agriculture. What the amount of injury will be in the other Southern States which the pest has invaded has not yet been figured, although it is feared that farmers and planters vill suffer heavily.
