SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON BY REV. DR. LINSOTT FOR THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS BIBLE QUESTION CLUB.

The object of the International Press Bible Question Club is to promote, by questions, through the press, thought and investigation on the teaching of Scripture in connection with the International Sunday School Lessons.

(Copyright 1912 by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1913.
Subject: "Moses' Cry for Help."
Num. xi: 4-33.

Golden Text: "The supplication of a righteous man availeth much in its working." Jas. v: 16.

1. Verses 4-5—Who were this "mixed multitude" and what was it they longed for so much?
2. What is generally the influence of worldly, unconverted or backslidden people in the church?
3. Did these Israelites have any real reason for weeping and finding fault with their circumstances? Why?
4. If they had been forced to live on "cucumbers, melons, leeks, onions and garlic," for which they now cried, instead of upon manna, which they had in abundance, how would they have taken it?
5. Verses 6-9—How is it that people long for what they have not and fail to be satisfied with better things which they have in abundance?
6. How much has our disposition to do in making plain food palatable or nauseous?
7. What evidence is there that these people had reason to rejoice with great joy rather than to bitterly murmur? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)
8. Verse 10—Why was God displeased at their weeping?
9. Judging from your experience and observation, what proportion of our sorrow is imaginary and concerning which God is displeased?
10. Why were the Lord and Moses justified in being displeased at their weeping?
11. Verses 11-15—Would you say that Moses shows a right or a wrong spirit in his complaint to God, and why?
12. How would you say Moses ought to have felt and spoken to the Lord, and how ought we to act when in our most trying circumstances?
13. If a man is in ever so sore trouble, is he ever right in committing suicide, or in wanting to die? Give your reasons.
14. Verses 16-17—If Moses had been brave and cheerful in his trouble, would God still have appointed this committee of seventy? Give your reasons.

15. If the appointment of this committee of seventy was a step toward a democratic organized community, would the circumstances which made it necessary prove that difficulties are the necessary forerunners of all law? Why?

16. Verses 18-20—Which to-day is the greater practical evil, eating too much or too little? Why?

17. Would these Israelites have been better or worse if they had not made such a pitiful request for flesh food?

18. Verses 21-23—Seeing all the wonderful things Moses had witnessed at the hands of the Lord, how do you account for him doubting this promise of God?

19. All Christians have had experience of how God always makes all things to work together for their good; how then is it that in every great trouble many are afraid that God will not this time prevent a calamity?

20. Verses 24-30—Would you say, or not, and why, that God has men who are filled with His spirit in every church and denomination?

21. Verses 31-33—What is the proof that all who sin will as certainly suffer?

22. Which are more to be pitied, and why, those that have too little, or those that have too much?

White Grubs Cost $12,000,000.

Washington, Sept. 25—Crops of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin suffered to the extent of $7,000,000 last year from the attacks of common white grubs, while the damage to the corn, timothy and potatoes in other infested areas of the country north of the Ohio, from the Atlantic Ocean to South Dakota, was at least $5,000,000, so that the total loss last year from this cause was not less than $12,000,000, according to a conservative estimate made by John J. Davis, of the United States Bureau of Entomology.

Observations seem to make it certain, he says, in reporting his findings, that in the Northern States the total life cycle of this injurious species is three years. May beetles were unusually abundant in 1908 and 1911, and the grubs caused the greatest damage in 1909 and 1912. He advises farmers in the regions infested last year to plow deep this fall, the best time being ordinarily between October 1 and 15.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR, FREE FROM DANDRUFF.

Girls! Try It! Hair Gets Soft, Fluffy and Luxuriant at Once—No More Falling Hair.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine in any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair, and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now, ad.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of my dear sister, who died April 18th, 1912.

Death has been here and borne away A sister from our side— Just in the noontide of her day, As we all must do, she died.

While it seems sad, it's not been long Since she filled her place at home, But she has run her mortal race And never can return.

We know we should not grieve for thee, Nor yet lament nor mourn, For with dear Jesus thou shalt be When we are left alone.

Oh, how can we e'er forget thee? Thy ever-ready smile At home, around the fire-side, We miss so much the while.

But we'll meet thee up in heaven, And we'll know each other there, Where there'll be no more sad partings, In that home "just over there."

Yes, we know that up in heaven, Where angels dwell forevermore, We will meet thee, dearest sister, With our loved ones gone before.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman street, Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

Judge Emory Speer's Case.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Taking of testimony in the case of United States District Judge Emory Speer, of Georgia, for alleged misconduct in office, will be begun by a sub-committee of Congress about November 15, Chairman Clayton, of the House Judiciary Committee, announced to-day. Mr. Clayton expects to send the sub-committee to Macon, Ga., the Jurist's home, to take Judge Speer's testimony. He is desirous of presenting it to the House before the new session starts in December.

INFORMATION FOR THE FARMER.

We have selected below a few items that, to us, appear of importance to agriculturists in this section. They are taken from answers to questions propounded to W. F. Massey in the Progressive Farmer.

Sowing Crimson Clover in Cotton.
"I intended to sow crimson clover in my cotton, but the recent hurricane has laid it flat and I cannot get through it. Can I sow it broadcast and have a chance for its growing without preparation?"
Sow the clover among the cotton and it will usually grow well.

Setting Pecan Trees.
"What is the best time to transplant pecan trees, and will they need to be watered?"
Plant in the fall, after the leaves have fallen. Ram every inch of the soil to the roots, and you will need no water.

Cotton Red Rust.
"My cotton makes a fair weed and puts on fruit, and about the first of August the leaves turn red and fall and the bolls get hard, but not large, and do not open. I applied 200 pounds of kainit and 200 pounds of 14 per cent acid phosphate. Can you suggest a remedy?"
So far as I have observed, the red rust is either the work of the red mite in dry weather or of starvation. In your case it was probably starvation from a lack of plant food. You do not say anything about the previous treatment of the soil, or whether you had clover to try for the cotton. If you had not, then you should have used a complete fertilizer, and more of it than you did. You applied in the 200 pounds of kainit 24 pounds of potash, and in the 200 pounds of 14 per cent acid phosphate 28 pounds of phosphoric acid, and the crop soon used this up and the red leaves were a sign that the crop was starving. Some nitrate of soda alongside might have helped it, but you should have been more liberal with a complete fertilizer mixture. If the crop was poor on a crimson clover sod you could have dispensed with nitrogen, but should have used more than twice as much acid phosphate and 16 per cent grade. The amount of potash would probably have been sufficient. I have seen more red rust from starvation than any other cause.

Apple Trees Dying.
"My apple trees that are just beginning to bear are dying with something that looks like mold on the trunk and limbs. Please tell me what to do for it."
From what you say I suppose your trees are covered with San Jose scale insects. These are very small and stick close to the bark and make the whole look moldy or scurfy. A badly infested tree is generally too far gone to save. You can get the concentrated lime-sulfur and dilute it and spray the trees, or you can make a self-boiled lime-sulfur by slaking ten pounds of fresh lump lime and adding to it ten pounds of flowers of sulfur, and the heat of slaking will make the combination, and you can add water enough to make 60 gallons and spray with this at once and repeat it in the spring and even after the leaves are out.

Scab in Potatoes.
"What causes Irish potatoes to scab, and what will prevent it?"
Scab is the result of a fungus growth. The soil gets infected with the scab spores and they grow on the potatoes, making what we call scab. Sometimes the scab scars are much deepened by insect attacks, but the fungus is the cause. The growth of the fungus in the soil may be largely checked by making acid conditions by turning under a green growth of clover for the potatoes, and you can soak the seed potatoes in a solution of formaldehyde to destroy any spores that may be on the potatoes. But you should never plant scabby potatoes even with treatment. Sweetening the soil with lime or ashes promotes the growth of the scab fungus, and ashes especially should not be used on potatoes. With a green crop to turn under and only commercial fertilizer used, the crop will generally be clean. But stable manure promotes the growth of the scab.

Nuts for Planting.
"How shall I sprout pecans and hickory nuts? I tried a peck once and none came up."
If you let nuts of any sort get dry they will not grow. You can plant the nuts as soon as ripe, and the outer hull removed, or you can mix them in wet sand and bury them outside all winter and plant in the spring. But once let them get good and dry and none of them will grow.

Burr Clover Not a True Clover.
"Will soil from a burr clover field inoculate the land for crimson clover?"

You cannot inoculate for crimson clover with soil from a burr clover field, for the burr clover is not a clover, but near kin to alfalfa, being, like alfalfa, a member of the Medicago family. Burr clover will inoculate for alfalfa. The true clovers belong to the Trifolium family.

Formaldehyde for Smut.
"I have bought the 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde, and would like to know how much water to use for soaking wheat to prevent smut?"
Some advise one pint to 40 gallons of water, but I would prefer to make it stronger and add 30 gallons of water. Soak the seed an hour in sacks and spread out to dry.

They Make You Feel Good.
The pleasant purgative effect produced by Chamberlain's Tablets and the healthy condition of body and mind which they create make one feel joyful. For sale by all dealers.
