W. D. Martin Vs. King and Ashell. Grew Out of Auto Collision.

(Anderson Mail, 14th.)

The Court of Common Pleas is to-day hearing the case of W. Davis Martin against W. C. King and E. C. Ashell, growing out of the collision of an automobile owned by Mr. King and Mr. Ashell with Mr. Martin, as the latter was riding a mule along the public highway last October. Damages to the amount of $10,300 are asked.

Monday afternoon the case was begun, and it is probable that the greater part of to-day will be taken up in the hearing, two witnesses only having been examined Monday. Martin is represented by Stribling & Denny, of Walhalla, and Martin, Greene & Earle, while Bonham, Watkins & Allen appear for King and Ashell.

The collision occurred on the road between Townville and Oakway in October of last year. It is claimed by Martin that the machine was running at a high rate of speed, and that the mule he was riding became frightened and was unable to get out of the way, so that it was struck by the auto. The mule died about half an hour after being struck, and Mr. Martin claims to have received permanent injuries, the result of a fracture at one of his ankles, cuts and bruises about the face, hands, body, etc.

At the time of the collision neither Mr. King nor Mr. Ashell was in the machine. It had been in the shop at Townville being repaired by W. D. Holsenbeck, then employed at the garage of King & Ashell, and Holsenbeck, with Rufus Mays and Prof. Byrd, occupied the car as it was being tried out after the repairs had been made.

Henry A. Johnson, a business man of L'Anse, Mich., writes: "For years Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, for coughs and colds, has been our family medicine. We give it to our children, who like it on account of its pleasant taste. It is a safe cure for coughs and colds." It contains no opiates. Bell drug store. adv.

FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED.

Body of T. E. Lewis is Found Lying Near Railway Track.

(The State, 13th.)

Thos. E. Lewis, shipping clerk and foreman of the mixing department of the Pocomoke Fertilizer Company, was found lying dead beside the Southern railway track, about a half mile beyond the plant of the company, at Cayce, in Lexington county, near a path which crossed the track, early yesterday morning. The top of his head was crushed, and on the right side of his neck there was a large gash, which severed the jugular vein. A shirt stained with blood was found about 300 yards down the track from the body.

W. C. Weed, coroner of Lexington county, after making an investigation, at which three witnesses were sworn, adjourned the inquest until 5 o'clock next Saturday afternoon. Members of the jury expressed the opinion that Mr. Lewis had met with foul play. They requested that the inquest be adjourned until further investigation can be made.

An investigation developed that Mr. Lewis received his pay Saturday afternoon. Saturday night at 11 o'clock he was seen by B. T. Yon, his room-mate, who stated that at that time Mr. Lewis had about $15. When the body was found the money was gone.

Mr. Lewis was 29 years of age and unmarried. He was a native of Brunson, Hampton county, and had been connected with the Pocomoke Company for 10 months.

The body of Mr. Lewis was discovered beside the railroad track by the crew of Southern train No. 24, from Savannah, in charge of Conductor Thomas, about 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

Will G. Richmond, a resident of Inglewood, Cal., will answer any inquiries about Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. He says further "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has greatly benefited me for bronchial trouble and cough, after I used other remedies that failed. It is more like a food than a medicine." Do not accept a substitute. Bell drug store. adv.

ANOTHER HORROR AT SEA.

136 Lives Lost Off English Coast. Vessel Burns to Water.

Fishguard, England, Oct. 11.—Wireless messages from the steamer Carmania report that the steamer Volturno had been abandoned at sea, and that 136 of the passengers and crew were missing.

Ten steamers responded to wireless calls for help and fought for hours in a raging gale to save the hundreds aboard the doomed boat. The Volturno caught fire in mid-Atlantic and was abandoned Thursday morning.

She sailed from Rotterdam on October 2d for New York. It is believed she carried 640 steerage and 24 cabin passengers and a crew of 93. Capt. Barr, of the Carmania, was 78 miles distant when he got the call for help. He crowded on full steam and made for the vessel in the teeth of a roaring gale. When the Carmania reached the vicinity of the Volturno it found the latter burning fiercely. Six life boats had been lowered. Four of them, filled with passengers, smashed against the ship's side in the high seas. The Carmania's life boats made a gallant but futile effort to get alongside the doomed Volturno.

After a two hours' battle with the waves the attempt had to be given up. Capt. Barr then maneuvered his vessel close to the Volturno and got within a hundred feet, but the storm prevented his getting a line to the vessel or rescuing any of the passengers on decks.

The passengers and crew of the Carmania stood on the decks and watched the hundreds on the burning vessel as they rushed panic-stricken back and forth. Most of the Volturno's passengers got into life boats.

The crew, meantime, was vainly battling with the flames, which were eating up the forward end of the vessel. Capt. Barr kept the wireless at work, sending out calls for help. Late in the afternoon the steamers Grosser Kurfuere and Seydlitz came in sight, and were joined later by the Kroonland, Devonian, Rappahannock, Minneapolis, La Touraine and Asian.

The gale moderated toward night. All of the ships lowered life boats. The waves were still so high it was impossible for the small craft to get alongside the ship. Approaching darkness drove them back to their ships. At 9 o'clock at night the flames burst through the amidship. As the fire threw a light across the sky a terrific explosion on the Volturno hurled the burning pieces of wreckage into the sea. All that could be done by would-be helpers was to throw overboard lighted life buoys and stand by hoping to pick up some of those cast into the sea.

About midnight a ray of hope came when it seemed the flames were not making such a great headway.

At daybreak the Volturno was still floating and the sea was moderating. The vessel was still burning and the passengers were still huddled on the decks.

Reports Confirmed.

London, Oct. 12.—The latest accounts of the disaster to the steamer Volturno, burned and abandoned in mid-ocean Friday morning, confirm that the loss of life will be limited to about 136. The Carmania, first of the rescuing ships to reach the burning steamer, arrived off Queenstown this morning, but owing to the gale proceeded direct to Fishguard, where she is due to arrive at 11 a. m.

The Carmania has one lone survivor of the Volturno aboard. From that survivor, however, comes a thrilling story of the burning of the steamer, of the terror, the struggle for the boats, the death of those who went over the sides and his own desperate fight for life.

To Destroy Blazing Derelict.

London, Oct. 13.—The British cruiser Donogal was dispatched today from the west coast of Scotland to destroy the blazing derelict Volturno.

BOILER EXPLOSION WAS FATAL.

Lumber Plant Near Hampton Wrecked—One Man Dead.

Hampton, Oct. 10.—At 12.25 a. m. today a large 100-horse-power boiler at the lumber plant operated by Lightsey Brothers at Miley, seven miles from Hampton, exploded, killing a negro and completely wrecking the plant. Part of the boiler that exploded was found a quarter of a mile away. The negro killed was hauling trash some distance from the scene. He was killed instantly. Several others, whites and negroes, were injured.

An automobile was sent from the scene of the explosion to bring back Magistrate J. G. Murdaugh, of this place, to hold an inquest over the body of the dead negro, Frank Patterson.

In speaking of the explosion, a witness from the scene stated that the situation was one of indescribable confusion. The immense plant, including mill shed, planing mill, dry kilns, lath and shingle mill, as well as three other boilers, was completely destroyed or blown away, and it will be impossible to estimate the loss at present.

HUERTA ARRESTS DEPUTIES.

The Mexican President Raids Lower House—Thrown into Prison.

Mexico City, Oct. 10.—One hundred and ten members of the Chamber of Deputies who signed resolutions of warning to President Huerta as the result of the disappearance of Dr. Belzaro Dominguez, Senator for Chiapas, were arrested to-night and lodged in the penitentiary. Five other deputies who signed the resolution were absent to-night when a cordon of troops was thrown about the legislative building and several hundred soldiers invaded the chamber.

The arrests followed a demand by President Huerta that the chamber withdraw the resolution, which carried the threat that the deputies would abandon the capital owing to an alleged lack of guarantees for their personal safety.

Attacked Huerta.

Senator Dominguez early in the month made a speech in the Senate violently attacking Huerta. He added that the situation was due first and foremost to the fact that the Mexican people could not resign themselves to be governed by Huerta.

Before the hour for the regular opening of the session of the chamber at 4 o'clock this evening, the basement and roof of the building had been packed with troops. Scores of police were scattered through the gallery.

When the deputies were in their places, Manuel Garza Aldalpe, minister of the interior, entered the chamber. Simultaneously several hundred Federal troops lined up in front of the chamber. Senor Aldalpe ascended the platform and read the reply of President Huerta to the resolution warning him of the deputies' intention to dissolve the parliament and hold their sessions elsewhere, and demanding an investigation of the disappearance of Senator Dominguez. The reply said that President Huerta could do no less than consider the resolution an act of unjustified aggression and transgression of the right of the other two powers—the executive and the courts.

Taken to Prison.

When the arrests were made a few of the leaders were placed in automobiles, while the other deputies were taken to the penitentiary in street cars.

Meanwhile similar demands to recent had been made upon members of the Senate who had concurred in the chamber's resolution. A committee of Senators called on President Huerta and signified their willingness to comply with his demands. Later the Senators formally withdrew this action.

In anticipation of possible trouble heavy patrols of troops are on the streets to-night. The rapid-fire guns which were posted in the interior courts of the palace in February are again in place and quantities of ammunition are at hand.

Orozco and Salazar "Marked."

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 10.—Friends of Gen. Pascual Orozco and Gen. Inez Salazar, former rebel commanders, now in command of Federal forces, received advices from Chihuahua today saying both commanders were slated to be executed for alleged disloyalty to the Federal government. Salazar is with his army, while Orozco has not left Chihuahua city since the present revolt began.

Huerta Defends His Action.

Mexico City, Oct. 11.—President Huerta's defense of his action in causing the arrest of 110 members of the Chamber of Deputies last night is that the Deputies were revolutionists. It is his belief, he states, that they represented the Carranza sentiment in the capital.

In a proclamation dissolving the chamber it is frankly stated that the deputies' threat to remove themselves from the capital and hold sessions where they would enjoy the protection which they alleged was denied them here, meant that they would transfer their sessions to territory controlled by the rebels.

Porfirio Diaz Will Wait.

Blarritz, Oct. 12.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz, ex-President of Mexico, when shown dispatches concerning the arrest of the deputies at the Mexican capital, displayed intense interest, but would make no comment. He had intended to leave Paris this week and later proceed to Mexico, but he now expects to remain until the end of October.

We Are Still Hands Off.

Washington, Oct. 13.—After a conference with Secretary Bryan, President Wilson announced to-day that John Lind, at Vera Cruz, had been instructed to tell the Mexican government that the United States would look with disfavor on any injury to members of Congress who are under arrest.

The President told callers that he did not see how a constitutional election could be held with affairs in the present state, and made it plain that there will be no departure from the policy to let the Mexicans settle their own troubles.

The government has abandoned all hope of treating with President Huerta as an individual.

Will Not Recognize Election.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Charge O'Shaughnessy was instructed to-day formally to notify the authorities at Mexico City that the United States

CHARGE MAN POISONED WIFE.

Georgia Physician Now Held Pending Examination of Her Stomach.

McDonough, Ga., Oct. 13.—Dr. Carey Barron, the young Henry county physician in jail here on a warrant charging him with having poisoned his first wife four days before he married Miss Cora Wheeler, of Conway, made the startling statement this afternoon that at the time he was arrested he was on his way to Milner to exhume the body of the dead woman and have the stomach and internal organs tested.

Dr. Barron said he had heard of the rumors which charged him with having poisoned his wife and that he proposed to set them at rest by examining the body and having an analysis made of the internal organs.

The imprisoned physician is anxiously awaiting the examination of his wife's stomach by Dr. Edgard Everhardt, an Atlanta chemist. He says he will be released as soon as this examination is completed. None of Dr. Barron's relatives have been to see him since his arrest. He stated to-day that he was expecting his present wife to come to him within a day or two.

Dr. Barron's father is a physician and lives near High Falls, Ga., where he owns considerable property.

Say Barron had an "Affinity."

Students of the Georgia College of Eclectic Medicine and Surgery in Atlanta who were in school with Dr. Carey A. Barron say that while he was a student of the college Dr. Barron was very attentive to a young woman there. They place no credence, however, in the report that he married that woman while here, thus committing bigamy.

could not recognize as constitutional the elections to be held October 26 in view of Gen. Huerta's decree announcing his assumption of legislative powers.

Huerta Angered by Warning.

Mexico City, Oct. 14.—An early answer will be made by the Mexican government to the communication from Washington stating that the United States would look with displeasure upon any injury to the Mexican deputies under arrest, according to the Mexican foreign minister, Qherido Maheno. It was the subject of a cabinet meeting which lasted until an early hour this morning.

Mexico's reply probably will be delivered late to-day to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, United States charge d'affaires. Neither Mr. O'Shaughnessy nor Foreign Minister Maheno would discuss the terms of the United States note, but Senor Maheno described it as "intemperate."

HUSBAND'S DEATH DUE TO WIFE.

Mrs. Jennie May Eaton to Face Trial For Death of Admiral.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton will be put on trial Tuesday, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Jos. G. Eaton. The prosecution contends that Mrs. Eaton gave the admiral poison with his meals at their home in Assinippi. The defense claims that he died of self-administered drugs.

So far as known to-night the government officials have been unsuccessful in their hunt for the original container of the poison, the place where it was bought and the purchaser.

Last March, three weeks after the death of the admiral, the district attorney intimated that Mrs. Eaton's mental condition would be the subject of inquiry, but so far as known no move in that direction has been made.

The prisoner formerly was the wife of D. H. Ainsworth, once a clerk in the United States Senate. While Admiral Eaton and his first wife were living in Washington, Mrs. Ainsworth was called as a nurse to care for the admiral. Acquaintance grew into a friendship, and according to the nurse, Mrs. Eaton bequeathed the admiral to her care with the words: "Marry Joe, my dear, and make him good."

In 1906 (at Chicago) Mrs. Ainsworth divorced her husband, and six months later she married the admiral in Washington. The bride brought to the household her two daughters, June and Dorothy.

In 1907 the admiral bought a little farm in Assinippi. Two years later he adopted a child that lived but a short time. Mrs. Eaton publicly charged her husband with having poisoned the child. Investigation failed to substantiate this. A year or two later Mrs. Eaton complained to friends that the admiral kept all sorts of queer East Indian poisons about the place. She wrote to a friend that he was a "subtle, dangerous maniac" and that she was in fear of his life.

Mrs. Eaton is 45 years of age. Her early life, as the daughter of a prominent Virginia family—the Harrisons—and in Washington will be described at the trial by witnesses summoned from both places.

YOUNG GIRL SLAIN IN HOTEL.

Body Found by Mother, Who Went to Awake Her.

Thomasville, Ga., Oct. 13.—Miss Dorothy Haugh, of Valdosta, who was visiting her mother in this place, was found murdered in her room at the Southern Hotel this morning. Her mother entered the room and found her corpse. The entire skull of the young woman was mashed in, as if she had met her death from a blow by some blunt instrument.

Nothing was found in the room, however, which indicated that it might have been used for that purpose. The only clue to the identity of the murderer is the pistol found on the floor. One chamber had been discharged, but the bullet did not take effect in the body of the girl. Her mother said she heard a shot some time during the night.

The coroner's jury this afternoon brought in a verdict of murder by an unknown party. Doctors say the girl was killed by the blow on the temple. No bullet wound was found.

The pistol found near her had one bullet missing, but the shell still remained in the chamber. The pistol was so covered with blood that it ran out of the barrel when taken up. No clue to the owner of the gun has been found.

Miss Haugh was a stenographer in the Citizens' Bank, of Valdosta, and had resided in that city only two weeks, going there from Bainbridge, Tenn., and her mother travels on the Stoddards lecture circuit. The deceased was a graduate from the University of Tennessee.

Over 400 Men Are Killed.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 14.—More than 400 Welsh coal miners perished, it is believed, from fire and afterdamp in the Universal colliery near here to-day. A terrific explosion shattered the works shortly after 931 men had descended into the pit.
