

FAVOR HELP FOR HELPLESS.

Paul Hayne Circle Passes Resolutions Favoring State Institution.

At a recent meeting of the Paul Hayne Circle of Walhalla the following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, we have noted with great pleasure that our Governor is bending his energies toward the alleviation of human suffering and the betterment of the condition of the unfortunate ones of our State; and, whereas, we, the Paul Hayne Circle, as an organization, and as individuals, are most heartily in favor of our State taking rank among the sisterhood of States that are helping their wards who are unable to help themselves; Therefore, be it Resolved, That we urge upon our Senator and Representatives that they lend their full aid and influence for the establishment by the State of South Carolina of a home for the feeble-minded and mentally deficient.

Resolved further, That we urge the citizens of our town, county and State to join their efforts with ours in an endeavor to secure, at the earliest practicable time, the establishment of an institution such as is contemplated by Governor Manning and others of our State who are giving this important problem their earnest consideration.

Resolved further, That it is the sense of this body that liberal provision be made for the financial needs of such an institution; and that action should be taken on the matter by our General Assembly at its coming session.

Robbery in Columbia.

(The State, 10th.)

At 7:40 o'clock yesterday morning two men stepped into the grocery store at 931 Pendleton street, and while one held a business looking man on the proprietor, D. M. Shealy, the other passed him about $25. Then, after dropping the man that they would shoot Mr. Shealy full of holes if he stuck his head out of the door, they withdrew through a rear door. Mr. Shealy after the robbers had gotten blocks away, sent a small negro boy for a policeman.

J. C. McCain, sheriff, and J. W. Richardson, chief of police, with assistants, went to work on the case, but up to late last evening the robbers had not been apprehended.

J. L. Gamble, after entering a plea of guilty to the charge of defalcation while postmaster, was sentenced to imprisonment of one month in the Richland county jail and a fine of $1,461.46.

ACHES IN STOMACH SOUR THE FOOD AND CAUSE INDIGESTION.

"Pape's Diapiesin" Fixes Sour, Gassy and Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and urticate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs, or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now—this minute—and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.—Adv.

$50,000,000 COST OF CAMPAIGNS.

Money Spent for Elections This Fall Mounts Way Up.

New York Nov. 9.—Elections this fall will cost $50,000,000. Such is the consensus of conservative estimates by political leaders here. Some place the figures twice as high.

Only a small part of this expense goes toward electing a President and Vice President. About 75,000 State, county, city and other offices will be filled, or, in the case of a few States, have been filled this fall.

Two hundred thousand men—and women—were running for office. Of the fifty millions, about half will be spent by the candidates and their supporters and the other half by the State and municipal governments in preparing for and holding the elections and counting the ballots.

In New York State alone the cost of registering voters and conducting the elections will be about $2,500,000.

The $25,000,000 spent in furthering the campaigns of candidates will be divided among postage, telegraph service, advertising, press agent publicity, speakers' pay and expenses, bands, rent of halls and theaters, clerical help, campaign buttons, banners and badges, rallies and conventions, printing and engraving, and sums—large in the aggregate—given to the hundreds of thousands of minor "workers."

It is estimated here the Republican National Committee spent $76,000 for printing, $30,000 for advertising, over $60,000 for campaign lithographs and $10,000 for buttons. This year these items will be much larger. For one reason, the cost of almost everything to be bought has doubled or tripled.

In 1908 Wm. J. Bryan had his national treasurer try a plan of soliciting dollar contributions. This plan was a failure, because it was found the cost of getting the dollar ate up all but a few of the hundred cents.

Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., Republican national treasurer, has been successful this year with a campaign for $10 contributions, however. This scheme has increased largely the number of individual Republican contributors.

Happy is the Farmer.

(Forrest A. Lord.)

Fall is with us, and the ever decreasing length of the days reminds us that winter is on his way. Twilight overtakes us long before the evening chores are done and as the nights grow colder we will hurry a little faster with the work, visions of the crackling fire and cheery lights of the family sitting room hastening us along. I don't know of a thing in this world that is quite comparable with the homey, restful and contented feeling that comes over a man who sinks to rest in a cozy chair by the old fireplace after a hard day's work out in the barn or woodlot. Do you? Isn't it perfect contentment, then, to settle back in the old chair, shoes off and mayhap carpet slippers on, and bury yourself in the pages of your county paper, while gathered around, mother and the children sit likewise happy and at peace.

You, my farmer friend, are the envy of the age. Most likely the world knows of your discouragements and failures. They are many, I right well know, but the man who works and lives by the sweat of his brow, is a stranger to the mental unrest that besets those of almost every other vocation of life. You are comparatively free from the fear of failure, the infidelity of friends, the frenzied desire for place and power that torment the minds of many men in other walks of life.

Therefore, sit you down by the glowing fire with the family gathered around; your cares and worries vanished with the disappearing day and you are at rest with the world; shut your eyes, relax, doze a little, if you please, but before you go to bed thank God—on your knees or standing—with your lips or heart—that you are a farmer.

Advertising Schemers Banned from Use of United States Mails.

Postmaster N. Fant has received the following letter of instruction regarding a mail order scheme that has been proven a fake:

Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—To the Postmaster at Walhalla, S. C.: Your attention is invited to the following order issued on October 28 to all postmasters:

It having been made to appear by evidence satisfactory to me that the National Mail Order Brokerage Exchange, at 520 Globe Building, Minneapolis, Minnesota, is conducting a scheme of obtaining money through the mails by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations and promises, in violation of Sections 3929 and 4011 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, and that communications addressed to this concern are unmailable within the meaning of Section 4 of the Act of March 2, 1889 (Sec. 484, P. L. and R., 1933), all postmasters are hereby directed to withdraw from the mails all matter of any kind addressed to this concern and return the same to the sender where known, and where not known to send such matter to the Division of Dead Letters for proper disposition. Wherever possible, postmasters should decline to receive such matter for mailing.

J. C. Koons,

Acting Postmaster General.

Please see that the provisions of this order are strictly complied with. The action of the department in this connection should also be given as much local publicity as possible.

The scheme conducted under this name consists in the sending out of circular letters, in which a silk petticoat worth $4.75 is promised to the addressee provided she will remit 10 cents to the concern and send five exact copies of the letter received by her to five of her acquaintances. The promoters of the scheme have left Minneapolis and cannot be located, and many thousands of letters are now being received at the postoffice at Minneapolis for this concern which cannot be delivered and are being treated in accordance with the provisions of a fraud order issued against the National Mail Order Brokerage Exchange on the 28th instant.

DON'T SCOLD, MOTHER! THE CROSS CHILD IS BILIOUS, FEVERISH.

Look at Tongue! If Coated, Clean Little Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs." and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, mother! A little given to-day saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Adv.

PINK BOLL WORM IS COMING.

Government Issues Warning—Said to Be More Disastrous Than Weevil.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The pink boll worm, most destructive cotton pest known, has appeared for the first time in North America. The Department of Agriculture announces that the worms have been discovered in Northern Mexico, where their presence, the department says in an official announcement, "constitutes one of the greatest menaces which has come to the American industry in her history." Importation from Mexico of cotton seed, cotton seed hulls and seed cotton is prohibited under an order just issued.

Officials of the department were unable to explain how the pink boll worm happened to be imported to North America. It is presumed, however, that the pest came in seed imported to Mexico from abroad.

Discovery of the worm was announced in the following statement: "The pink boll worm, the most destructive of known pests of cotton, has been discovered in the Laguna district, Coahuila, Mexico, within 100 miles of the Texas border. Amendments to quarantine orders and regulations, effective immediately, have been promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture, prohibiting the importation into the United States of cotton seed, cotton seed hulls and seed cotton from the territory in Mexico which is infected.

"The pink boll worm has not been known to exist on the North American continent heretofore. The pest is prevalent in practically all other cotton-producing regions of the world, and in all sections where it has become established has caused widespread destruction. Its establishment in Northern Mexico constitutes one of the greatest menaces which has come to the American cotton-growing industry in its history.

"Every possible precaution will be taken to prevent the worms from getting across the border. All cotton interests are warned of the danger which threatens the industry and are urged to give the utmost assistance to the Federal authorities in preventing any movement in violation of these rules governing movement of cotton seed, cotton seed hulls, seed cotton or cotton lint from Mexico into the United States."

Won't Run for U. S. Senate.

Columbia, Nov. 9.—"No, I will not be a candidate for the United States Senate two years hence," said Governor Manning in an interview to-day.

It is known that a large number of the Governor's friends from various parts of the State have been urging him to become a candidate for Senator Tillman's seat in the Senate, and it was understood by a great many people that the Governor would run.

When asked about the matter Governor Manning said: "No, I will not be a candidate for the United States Senate two years hence. Among other reasons, I feel that my individual attention to the duties of the Governor's office will be required and my purpose and desire is to continue to consecrate my best efforts to the service of the Governor's office."

THIRTY OR FORTY KILLED

When Street Car Plunges Through Open Drawbridge in Boston.

Boston, Nov. 7.—The lives of from 30 to 40 persons were lost to-night when a crowded passenger car of the Boston elevated street railway plunged through an open drawbridge in to Fort Point channel, just outside the South station terminal.

Twelve persons were rescued from the water by fire boats and tugs. One man, T. J. Gannon, died after being brought to shore. Two bodies were found with grappling irons, but the recovery of other bodies was delayed, as it was believed, they were pinned in the car which rested on the bottom of the channel, 35 feet deep.

Gerald Walsh, motorman of the car, who jumped before it went over the edge of the draw, asserted that the accident was due to the fact that there was no light on the gates protecting the opening. He and George McKeene, the conductor, who also leaped and so saved his life, were arrested on technical charges of manslaughter. The conductor was insensible and the police were unable to learn exactly the number of his passengers.

Some of the rescued people estimated the number of passengers at upward of fifty. J. H. White, publicity agent of the Boston elevated railroad, in a statement issued soon after the accident, said his information agreed with that of the police that about 40 persons were unaccounted for.

Were Returning Home.

Most of the passengers were employees of the Western Electric Company's factory in South Boston and were returning to their homes from work. Many women and children were included in the number. The car was of the closed type with a narrow door at each end, so that escape was impossible except for those who happened to be standing on the platform.

The first assistant draw tender, T. J. Shea, who was in charge of the bridge, disputed the statement of the motorman that there was no light at the draw. Shea said the usual red signal lights were on the gates. He was not sure, he said, whether the arc lamp on the bridge was lighted.

The draw tender said that he received a signal about 5.25 p. m. from the tow boat William G. Williams, which was going up stream with a lighter in tow.

"I was in the controlling house," said Shea, "and I took all the usual precautions. There were red lights on the gate. I opened the draw and the tug started to come through. Suddenly my attention was attracted by a crash and screams. As I looked around the car went right through the gate of the draw and plunged into the channel. Only the rear trucks remained on the rail, the body of the car breaking away from these trucks and disappearing under the water."

THE OLD SCHOOL SLATE AGAIN?

Shortage of Paper May Bring It Back Into Public Favor.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

The story that in the shortage of paper there is hope for the old school slate seems too good to be true. Yet it is perhaps true that the board of superintendents has discussed this possibility, and it certainly is true that supplying the schools with paper is exceedingly difficult.

Middle-aged men who never thought of school without a slate for doing sums on were shocked at the waste when "educators" brought about the abolition of the slate. Paper is used up fast, fast enough to suit any paper trust on earth. The slate would go on forever if you didn't take a notion to fling it at teacher's head, and unhappily break it on her desk instead.

"Educators" said the slate was noisy, dirty, demoralizing. They intimated that slate and discipline were compatible if you had plenty of corporal punishment, and not otherwise. They worried when Jennie Jones drew a caricature picture and all who could see giggled, and a swift stroke of the sleeve made Jennie's conviction impossible. As a matter of fact, the slate required a real teacher to deal with its possibilities, and real teachers are scarce.

For ourselves, we take the middle-age or medieval view. The use of paper always has been a waste. The slate was just as good, except for the paper manufacturers. The litter involved in using paper is worse than the uncleaned slate, more trouble for some one to put things right. And when it comes to rival trust interests the slate quarries are to be considered. They have been hard hit in several different ways of late years. Patent roofing has almost banished slate roofs. Artificial stone has nearly wiped out the sale of sidewalk paving. The "educators" have destroyed in the cities the demand for school slates. Hence the quarries up Granville way and elsewhere are in a state of depression. Revival of the old school slate will help them. The owners of these quarries are as good Americans as the owners of the paper combinations, though they have not been quite so cleverly commended to the attention of the "educators."
