

EQUINOX AND GLUCK MILL

Operatives Go to Northern Mills. Utica Gets First Squad.

Anderson, Nov. 15.—The families of more than 50 strikers of the Gluck and Equinox Mills will move to cotton mills in the Northeast, according to the labor organizer of the United Textile Workers of America, who came here from the national headquarters of the union several months ago. The first party, 18 in number, will start for Utica, N. Y., Thursday afternoon. The organizer says that many other members of the Equinox and Gluck Mills unions have filed applications for jobs in the mills in the Northern and Eastern States. Ticket reservations for the party leaving tomorrow came to-day by telegraph to the Blue Ridge railway from a Northern railroad. It is presumed they are furnished by the mills which are going to give them employment. These strikers were busily engaged packing up their personal effects to-day.

Seven writs of ejectment against as many strikers residing in the Gluck Mill village were placed in Constable Martin's hands to-day. He will proceed to serve them to-morrow. It is reported here to-night that at least two of the seven have asked the mill management to allow them to remain in their cottages, indicating they desired to return to work when the mill starts up and without the 10 per cent increase in wages which was demanded by the local union and the refusal of which precipitated the strike.

The renunciations of the labor union obligations by many other strikers have been talked of in mill circles here to-day. The Greenville and Jonesville companies of the coast artillery were transferred this morning from the Equinox Mill to the Gluck Mill. The soldiers are occupying the Gluck Mill school house. No disorder occurred at either of the two mills to-day.

One arrest was made, Choice Frady, a striker of the Equinox Mill, and son of A. J. Frady, who was ejected from his cottage yesterday, arrested for trespassing on the Equinox Mill property after notice. He was arrested by Constable Martin and furnished a cash bond for his appearance for trial in Magistrate Cox's court. Counsel for S. H. King, who was ejected from his cottage in the Equinox Mill village on Monday and who was arrested on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon yesterday, asked for a continuance of his case, which was granted.

The cold snap has not caught the soldiers unprepared. They are warmly quartered at both mills and all are equipped with heavy overcoats and blankets. The men declare they are as comfortably located as they would be in their homes.

The Gluck Mill management has not announced when this mill will resume work, but preparations for starting the machinery are being made. At the Equinox Mill this afternoon more than 100 operatives were at work. Only a few strikers gathered to watch them go in the mills, and there was no jeering or arguments against their going to work.

Both Mills Start Up. (Daily Mail, 17th.)

After being idle since the middle of last August the Gluck Mill resumed operations this afternoon after the dinner hour. The management was informed that 74 operatives would report for work, but only 14 or 15 were at their posts when the machinery started up. The strikers gathered in groups and argued with the strike-breakers against going in the mill. Sheriff Ashley was with the strikers, and it is said that he also pleaded with the strike-breakers to stay out of the mill. The complement of the mill is 300. It is expected that other operatives will come in this afternoon and that more will report for work to-morrow morning. The management states positively that the mill machinery will be kept running now since it has been started up. The Greenville and Jonesville companies of coast artillery are on guard at the Gluck Mill. Major Robertson took some pictures of the strikers and asked Sheriff Ashley to get in the group for the pictures. He complied. At the Equinox Mill this morning 124 operatives reported for work. This mill started up on Monday morning with 53. The number of operatives at work has been increasing every morning and every afternoon. The complement of this mill is 360, and it is expected that within a short time this number will be at work.

OLD "CODGER" WAS NEUTRAL.

Didn't Give a Gol-Darn Whether His Wife or Bear Won Fight.

There is, or at any rate was until recently, an old "codger" living "way up the valley of the Magalloway river, in Northern Maine, for whom his neighbors make the claim that he really originated two ideas which have been more or less prominent features of the policy of the present administration, relates the Washington Star.

The Magalloway region is pretty wild, and where the river emerges from Magalloway Lake is right on the edge of the wilderness, as witness the three-day wanderings and narrow escape from death by Mr. and Mrs. Denison, of Boston, in that portion of the State in or nearby New Hampshire, only last month. This old man's stumpy and rocky demesne is the last farm up. He doesn't think much of the judgment of his ancestors who picked it out and cleared it, but, having no other place to go, he lives there alone with his wife and a "hired man."

And the old fellow is henpecked. There isn't a doubt about it. His wife is a big, strapping woman and rules him with a rod of iron; won't let him come into the kitchen with his boots on; won't let him smoke except in the barn, and sees to it that he doesn't get a bite of supper until he has completed various and sundry heavy "chores" each evening, the worst of which is the milking of a good many cows.

His hired man was away one night, and he meekly but firmly informed his better-half that she would absolutely and positively have to help him milk if the job were to be done before it was too late. She, hating to benefit him, but realizing the necessity, grudgingly consented, giving him the rough side of her tongue the while.

Just as they were nearly finished a fair-sized bear, impelled either by extreme curiosity or the possibility of a veal supper, suddenly appeared in the doorway. It would be hard to decide which was the more surprised—the bear or the lady of the house—but it was a safe bet who was the most scared. The old man made the top of the haymow in one jump.

The old lady, made of sterner stuff, picked up the milking stool and bolted Mr. Bear across the nose with it. The bear (he was about half-grown) got in a couple of good "ruffs" on his antagonist, but the latter finally, by a mixture of force and bluff, got the animal outside and shot the bolt of the door.

Old Man Too-Proud-to-Fight knew the story would get pretty well circulated and fought shy of the village gathering places for some time. Finally, though, he simply had to go to the post office one evening.

"Lo, Seth. Hear a bar got inter yer caow barn 't'other night," greeted the principal "kiddier" of the rural community.

"Wall, naow, one did," admitted Seth.

"Hear you got skairt and run up a'top th' haymaw, 'n left the old woman ter handle th' mess?"

"Wall, naow, I dunno but what ye heard right," admitted Seth, and, in a burst of confidence, added: "But lemme tell you fellers sumthin': I wanter tell you that I see a dummed good fight, danged if I didn't. An' ef you ever see a feller who was absolutely neutral, it was me. I positively didn't give a gol-darn which one o' them two come out ahead!"

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK.

Acts Like Dynamite on a Sluggish Liver and You Lose a Day's Work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate. Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel to-day and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated to-morrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

FIRST FIGHT FOR PROHIBITION.

It Was Started in 1680 and Aimed Against the Indians.

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)
The water wagon started on its journey through this country longer ago than most persons realize. I offer you a proof of this assertion, which was 236 years old last April.

It is in the form of a petition to a royal governor signed by twelve men who were determined that the brewers' big horses shouldn't run over them:

"Where as, wee, ye inhabitants of ye new Seated Towne near ye falls of Delaware (called Crewcorne), finding ourselves aggrieved by ye Indians when drunk, informeth that we be and have been in great danger of our lives, of our houses burning, of our goods stealing and of our Wives and Children affrighting. Insumuch that wee are afeared to go about our Lawfull affairs, least when we come home we finde you and our concerns darinified.

"These things considered, wee doe humbly & jointly desire that the selling of brandy and strong liquors to ye Indians may be wholly suppressed, when, if done, wee hope wee shall live peaceably."

The Dog's Cold Nose.

(New Orleans States.)

When your faithful old dog pokes his nose into your hand even your affection cannot prevent a shiver. Why is it? When the body of a dog is so warm, why should this one spot be different from the rest of him? The old fable tells us that when Noah tried to get all the animals into the ark some of them were troublesome and he had to get a dog to help him drive the last to enter the ark. There was no room in it, so he had to stand in the doorway with his nose outside in the wet, and it has never been warm since. Science gives quite another explanation of the matter. The coldness of a dog's nose, says science, is due to the fact that it must be kept moist all the time in order to sharpen his sense of smell. And, as the moisture is cooled by the air, it keeps the nose cool all the time. In addition to the olfactory or smelling nerves inside a dog's nostrils the whole black membrane around the nose is very sensitive, and this sensitiveness can only be retained by moisture. Thus it is that when a dog's nose is dry and warm he is ill and needs doctoring.

FIRST "LADY CONGRESSMAN."

Montana Voters Couldn't Resist Republican Lady's Charms.

(New York Times)
Montana went Democratic in Tuesday's election, gave President Wilson approximately $1,000 votes and Hughes only 55,000, and elected one Democratic Congressman; but though Miss Jeannette Rankin, who worked and studied for several years in this city, ran on the Republican ticket in Montana, the State elected her to be the first woman ever to sit in Congress.

Since the late returns have shown definitely that Miss Rankin was elected telegrams of congratulations have been sent to her from women in this and every other section of the country until, according to reports from her home town, Missoula, she has been deluged with them. Miss Rankin announces in reply that she will represent all of the women of the country and not only those of her own State.

Although Miss Rankin spent several years in New York city, it appears that she was comparatively little known here, and many women who have been active in suffrage work in this city for years have been asking during the past few days what the "Lady from Montana" is like, how old she is, how she lives, and what she looks like.

The fact that she was so little known in New York is probably explained in the description of her characteristics given by the few persons who could be found here who had known her personally while she was in this city. According to them, Miss Jeannette Rankin is of the most modest type personally, and if one will not talk suffrage or some other problem in which she is interested, she will not talk of it herself. When she began to study public speaking, according to her former teacher in this subject, who is now living here, Miss Rankin was really timid.

Got Into Politics Early.

She is about 34 years old and is about five feet four inches in height, slender, with light brown hair—not red, her friends insist—and has an unusual store of energy. She is the daughter of one of the best known of the Montana pioneers, who went West when the State was so sparsely settled that it resembled a wilderness, and she and her three sisters have learned to "rough it" in the big Western State. She was graduated at the University of Montana, became an ardent suffragist while a girl, and went to Seattle to study voice culture, and then came to New York city to take a course at the School of Philanthropy in this city.

Miss Rankin was among the early and most ardent workers for suffrage in the West before any States had granted women the vote, it was said, and fought actively for amendments in Washington and California. In these campaigns, it is said, she went into mines and to farms to argue personally with men and women to induce them to fight for suffrage. She obtained a place as a field secretary of the National American Woman Suffrage Association after leaving New York city and went to Florida to establish suffrage organizations there. Then the campaign for woman suffrage in her home State was taken up and she resigned as field secretary of the national body to begin campaigning at home.

She is credited with having done more, perhaps, than any other woman in the State to obtain suffrage for the women of Montana. Then after a hard fight she was nominated for Congress by an overwhelming vote in the primaries, and between the primaries and election day, it is reported, she had to fight some of the "old guard" Republican leaders in her own State as well as the Democrats. She did a large part of her campaigning on horseback.

Her friends joined her in creating electioneering innovations. She didn't finish her campaign until election night, it is said. On election day her friends telephoned to practically everybody in the State who had a telephone, according to reports received here and greeted whoever answered the telephone with a cheery: "Good morning! Have you voted for Jeannette Rankin?"

Makes Famous Lemon Pie.

"Miss Rankin is a very feminine woman," one young woman who had known her here, and who is now a reporter on a New York evening paper, said yesterday. "She dances well and makes her own hats, and sews, and has won genuine fame among her friends with the wonderful lemon meringue pie that she makes when she hasn't enough other things to do to keep her busy.

"She is the sort of girl who won't stop until she has got the results she is after, and it will be lots of fun to see her in her first fight in Congress. She is this sort: her father was trying to rent one of his houses in Missoula, Mont., and there wasn't any sidewalk in front of it. A prospective tenant was found, but the tenant said

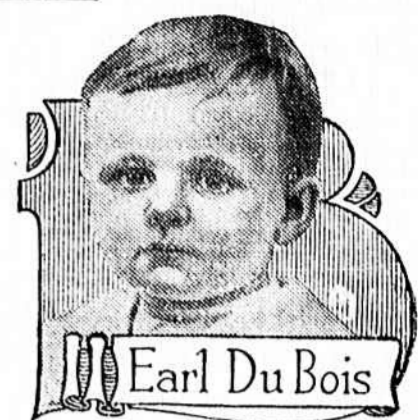

Most Effective Remedy Mother Had Ever Used

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN RELIEVES BABY WHEN OTHER MEDICINES FAIL.

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of childhood.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative should be employed. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their action and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred Du Bois, Mt. Holly, N. J., says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation she has ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its he wouldn't take the house unless it had a sidewalk. Jeannette called up some carpenters and found them too busy to lay the sidewalk. And so she bought the lumber, borrowed a hammer and saw, and laid the sidewalk herself."

Among the things which Miss Rankin has announced that she will fight for in Congress is extension of the child labor laws—she intends to represent children as well as women in Congress—national woman suffrage, mothers' pensions, universal compulsory education and similar propositions. It is expected that she will introduce a new national suffrage bill as soon as she has the opportunity.
