The quality of cake, biscuits and all quickly raised flour foods depends largely upon the kind of baking powder used.

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar derived from grapes. It is absolutely pure and has proved its excellence for making food of finest quality and wholesomeness for generations.

OUR D. A. R. SCHOOL

(The State, Dec. 3d.)
The resolve expressed two years ago by the South Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution to establish an industrial school in one of the mountain counties of the up-country, has taken definite form and will soon be a reality. After serious consideration of many sites, the recent conference in Johnston voted to accept one at Tamassée, in Oconee county, ten miles from Walhalla and three miles from the government forest reserve. It comprises 110 acres, of which 50 were given by Mrs. Hayne Jones, 50 by George Harrison and 10 by W. C. Whitmore. The generosity of the donors was further evidenced by the conditions imposed, practically the only one of importance being that at any time this land ceases to be used for educational purposes, the D. A. R. are to purchase it at $12.50 an acre, irrespective of future value, or to return it to the original owners. As this price is considerably below the present value of the land it shows the confidence of these public spirited people in the sincerity of the D. A. R. and reflects the desire of the community for such a school.

Site is Picketts Home.
Of special historic interest to the people of South Carolina is the fact that this is the region of the government land grants made to Gen. Andrew Pickens for his Revolutionary services, and he retired to this mountain spot to spend his declining years at Tamassée. Those who have seen the wonderful views from here do not marvel at his choice.

From a utilitarian standpoint the site is desirable for many reasons. The considerations which the Daughters have had in mind in determining the location of this school are that it should be remote, yet accessible, "where the need was greatest, and our coming be in answer to a manifested desire of the people for the aid we offer." This place is ten miles from the terminal point of the railroad, yet has excellent roads with R. F. D. service by auto once a day. The only schools within many miles of this spot are held in small, crowded buildings, greatly in need of repair, and open for only two or three months in the year. The eagerness of the people for our school has been evidenced by their generous contributions toward the building fund, and their promise of labor and co-operation.

School Opens Next Fall.
The conference which accepted this site created a school board of seven members, with the State Regent as chairman, three members elected by conference (now Mrs. Duvall, Mrs. Carlisle and Mrs. Hayne Jones, all members of the D. A. R.), these four to elect three additional members, who may be either men or women, all terms to be for three years. This board will have full control of the school and its affairs. They will plan a group of buildings, allowing for future growth. While it will be necessary to begin in a modest way, as each building is added it will fit into the general harmonious scheme. It is expected that the first one, that for the day school, will be built this summer and school open with the fall term.

The water problem will be simple. In addition to several small springs there is a stream with an 8-foot fall and the water shed in our control, running through the property, which insures running water in the buildings at small cost. The land is partially wooded and about 80 per cent is level or slightly rolling. Cheochee mountain protects it from ice storms from the north and west and the land will be well adapted to grapes and fruits. Prof. W. W. Long, who has charge of the State extension work, has promised his co-operation, and will make the school the center of the county demonstration work. The government is interested in encouraging grazing in the mountain portions of the State, and to this end purposes establishing several cheese factories. It is planned to have one of these in connection with the school, both as a means of income and to teach the industry to the pupils.

Financial Prospects Good.
The financial prospects of the school are most encouraging. The citizens of Walhalla and vicinity have contributed over $1,500 toward the building fund with the promise of more. Many of the Oconee county people have not yet been approached owing to the short time between the offer of the site and the meeting of conference, but assuredly Oconee county and the upper section of the State will make their appreciation of the selection of this locality evident. For the past two years the D. A. R. have been accumulating a fund, and, altogether, there is now between $2,000 and $3,000 for building purposes. An endowment fund of $10,000 was started at the recent conference. This is to be raised by securing 100 individuals or chapters who will each pledge $100, thus becoming original founders. This amount can be paid in one check or in four yearly installments of $25. The income from this fund will be used for running expenses. It is hoped to have this fund in sight by Christmas. Individuals may become founders by the payment of the $100 or it can be given as a memorial.

The response of the chapters at conference was most enthusiastic. The following pledged as founders: Esther Marion Chapter, Aiken; Cecelche, Anderson; Mary Adair, Chester; Andrew Picketts, Clemson College; Columbia Chapter, Columbia; Charles Pinckney, Denmark; Rebecca Picketts, Dillon; Old Ninety-Six District, Edgefield; Daniel Morgan, Gaffney; Star Fort, Greenwood; Kosciuszko, Greenwood; Margaret Gregg Gordon, Kingstree; Henry Laurens, Laurens; Lone Oak, Latta; Jasper Chapter, Newberry; Putaw, Orangeburg; Michael Watson, Ridge Spring; Catawba, Rock Hill; William Thompson, St. Matthews; Kate Berry, Spartanburg; Sumter's Home Chapter, Sumter; Walhalla Chapter, Walhalla; Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, Jacksonville, Ill.

While the list of individuals is not yet large, many have the matter under consideration. The following have already pledged: C. W. Pitchford, C. W. Bauknight and J. E. Bauknight, Walhalla; Campbell Courtenay, Newry; Mrs. F. H. H. Calhoun, Clemson College; Mrs. Jones Fuller, Greenwood.

Made Partial Pledges.
Several of the chapters represented at conference hesitated to pledge their chapters to the $100 without consultation, but promised $25 for this year, with the privilege of allowing that to count as first payment if the chapter decided to become a founder. It is expected that nearly all will take this step at their next meeting. These are: Pee Dee Chapter, Bennettsville; Old Cheraws Chapter, Cheraw; William Capers Chapter, Columbia; Musgrove's Mill Chapter, Clinton; Kanawha Chapter, Fort Mill; Nathaniel Greene Chapter, Greenville; Moultrie Chapter, Spartanburg; Thomas Woodward Chapter, Winnsboro; King's Mountain Chapter, York.

Additional pledges were made by Mrs. Clark Waring, $25; Hobkirk Hill, Camden, $10; Fair Forest, Union, $10; Mary McClure, Allendale, $5.

Yet to Respond.
The following chapters were not represented or have not yet responded: Andrew Hamilton, Abbeville; Samuel Bacot, Florence; Behethland Butler, Greenville; Robert Lide, Hartsville; Jane Campbell, Lynchburg; Swamp Fox, Marion; Trenton, Lenoir; Wizard of Tamassée, Seneca; Emily Geiger, Johnston.

Oconee county has proven its interest in the school by its local pledges. When South Carolina has demonstrated her earnestness by completing this endowment, we expect to go outside for additional aid. As a national society the D. A. R. have pledged themselves to the support of industrial education in mountain schools. Many State organizations send hundreds of dollars each year to Georgia, North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee. They will be glad to share with South Carolina when we have proven ourselves. Can't you be one of these 100 founders? Twenty-five dollars a year is not a prohibitive amount and the interest promised in better citizenship is indeed high. If you cannot do this much you should at least have some part in this splendid work. Send a check or pledge either to Mrs. E. W. Duvall, at Cheraw, or to me at Clemson College. You want your name on the final roll to be published on New Year's.

The Christmas season is approaching when the love of little children is uppermost in every heart. Will you not share your gifts with the 150 little children whose greatest wish is for a school and a chance in life?

LESSON TO WESTERN DAIRYMEN.

The Clemson Creamery and Prices to Dairymen for Butter Fat.

(Too Late for Last Week.)
Editor Keowee Courier:
Perhaps some of the shippers of cream to Clemson have noticed from the market quotations that Clemson butter sells in the local market at 50 cents per pound, and that it is quoted one cent a pound above Elgin butter. That is speaking well for a home company and giving information to our Northern and Western brethren who have lately decided that the South can produce dairy products in these latter days "equal" to the West. The Columbia State also led its readers to infer that Clemson butter was selling wholesale, from the creamery, at 50 cents, while the facts are it brought only 43 cents last week and is selling now at 38 cents. Some of us were beginning to think this co-operative creamery could pay more than 30 to 31 cents per pound for butter fat at the prices we saw quoted in the daily papers, but they will all be pleased to know that their checks for November will be 35 cents per pound. We are informed also that henceforth better rates may be given because of the fact of the popularity of the Clemson product.

It seems not yet to be practical to sell from Clemson to local jobbers, and therefore the middleman's profit must also be accounted for.

The creamery is assured now of a market for all the butter it can make, which was not true in its early history. This fact also assures the farmer of a ready market for all the cream he can produce.

We are reliably informed that when the creamery gets well established and enjoys a big patronage it can pay to the dairyman the same price for butter fat they get for butter, but that means they must work on a larger scale.

This creamery work is one of the best things Clemson College has done for this up-country. It means land improvement and better cattle; it means also that there will be something to turn to should the cotton industry fail, as is now prophesied; it means further that what formerly was almost a loss can be turned to profit.

I have written this because there are not a few who were beginning to think there was too wide a difference between the butter price and butter fat prices; and also, on the authority of the creamery managers, to assure the shippers of cream that a nearer equality in prices may constantly be approached.

Flat Shoals Locals.

(Too Late for Last Week!)
Walhalla, R. F. D. 2, Dec. 13.—Special: The literary society of this school will have a public meeting on Friday, December 22, at 2 o'clock. All visitors will be welcome.

Archie Tow caught a very large owl in a steel trap near his home on the 9th. Its wings measured 41½ inches.

Misses Esta Arve and Sue Annie Todd, the teachers at this place, were spend-the-day guests Sunday of the latter's aunt, Mrs. D. O. Sheppard, of the Cheochee community.

Rev. J. A. Bond, of near Salem, preached a very interesting sermon at the school house last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Nellie George has returned from Walhalla, where she spent several weeks with Miss Lillie Ross. She attended the normal training school during a part of her stay there.

The school improvement association has changed its time of meeting from Friday afternoons until Saturday evenings at 7 o'clock. All members will please bear this in mind.

Mrs. Duffie Todd and family have recently moved from this community to Picketts county, near Central, where they will live with Mrs. Todd's father, W. S. Frazier.

The people of the community were very much surprised when the report was made that Miss Eula Head, of this place, and Edward Freeman, of Picketts, went to Salem last Saturday and were happily married. They were accompanied by Miss Viola and Raymond Head, sister and brother of the bride, and James Clements, of Picketts. The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for Picketts, where they expect to make their home. Mrs. Freeman was one of the most popular girls of our community. She possesses many lovable traits of character. We regret to lose her. Hearty congratulations are extended to the groom. We wish for the young couple a life of happiness and prosperity.
