Kerensky Peace Declared Probable.

sky has been deposed and the Maximalists have obtained control of Petrograd and have issued a proclamation saying the new government will propose immediate peace, the semiofficial Russian news agency announces.

Leon Trotzky, president of the central executive committee of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's delegates, issued a declaration to the effect that the provisional government was no longer in existence and that some of its members had been arrested. The preliminary Paliament has been dissolved.

Report from Petrograd.

Petrograd, Nov. 8 .- Government forces holding the winter palace were compelled to capitulate early this morning under the fire of the cruiser Aurora and the cannon of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortresses across the Neva river. Premier Kerensky was reported · last night at Luga, 85 miles southwest of Petrograd.

Late yesterday evening, after the government forces had been driven into the winter palace, the palace was besieged and a lively fire of machine guns and rifles began. The cruiser Aurora, which was moored at Nicolai Bridge, moved up within range, firing shrapnel. Meanwhile the guns of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortresses opened fire.

The palace stood out under the glare of the searchlights of the cruiser and offered a good target for the guns. The defenders held out for four hours, replying as best they could with machine guns and rifles.

There was spasmodic firing in other parts of the city, but the workmen's and soldiers' troops took every means to protect citizens, who were ordered to their quarters. The bridges and the Nevsky Prospect, which early in the afternoon were in the hands of the government forces, were captured and held during the night by the workmen's and soldiers' troops.

The battle at the palace, which began shortly after, 6 o'clock, was a spectacular one, armed cars of the revolutionists swinging into action in front of the palace gates, while flashes from the Neva were followed by the explosion of shells from the guns of the Aurora.

Internal Strife Probable.

Washington, Nov. 8 .- Kerensky's fall and the collapse of his government in Petrograd into the hands of the Maximalists, who propose an armistice to the end of an immediate and fust peace with Germany, is regarded here as threatening Russia with the civil war which all her riends hoped to see avoided.

The State Department, entirely without official advices of its own, was silent, wishing to avoid making any statements until the situation could be accurately assessed on the basis of intimate reports from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd.

The Russian embassy, too, preferred not to make a statement until after there has been opportunity for communication with Ambassador Bakhmeteff, who was traveling in the South. -

The embassies of the entente allies, realizing that the development means first of all probably a rearrangement of their war plans, were shocked, but not disheartened, at what is considored a triumph of insidious German

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * 4 KEEPING SWEET POTATOES 4. * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

The following interesting item with to conserve the supply of coal, should a terence to the keeping of sweet potatoes is sent out by the Yorkville correspondent of the Charleston News, and Courier:

Isaac P. Boyd, superintendent the county home of York county, is a farmer of no mean ability, and he s doing his bit to win the war for America. Besides being one of the most successful truck farmers in York county, Mr. Boyd has made a discovery in the way of saving sweet potatoes through the winter which is as effective as it is simple, and which requires no expensive special build-ings or a special cellar to save the tubers, which heretofore have caused lots of worry to farmers who would keep the sweet potato for consumption through the winter months. Mr. Boyd when in town showed a sample of sweet potatoes that were dug a year ago, and that had been saved in perfect condition by his method that is in use at the county home. Instead of putting the pota-toes away in "hacks" or pits, or in dry cellars, as do many potato growers, Mr. Boyd when he digs his crop simply has his children and other help to wrap each individual tuber in a piece of newspaper, torn to convenient size, and then packs the potatoes away in barrels or boxes, or piles them on floors wherever it may convenient to do so. The potatoes so packed away keep in perfect condition for months, and the specimen he was showing to-day was still in good condition and fit for tood.

At first thought this method might seem to be a rather tedious one, but it is hardly any more trouble than is the process of putting the potatoes "hacks" and running the risk of losing the whole crop. Mr. Boyd's method has been tried by him thoroughly and it works to perfection.

Another wrinkle in regard to sweet potatoes that Mr. Boyd-works in getting sweet potatoes for next year's crop is this: Along in the middle of the summer he clips cuttings from his vines and sticks these in the ground, and these clippings will at once start growing, and will produce tubers of sufficient size to use for bedding to furnish "slips" for next year's potato crop.
