On December 5th his regiment left for New York, where final medical examination was had for foreign service. In this examination Charlie did not pass. He saw his regiment leave for foreign service, but could not go. He was transferred to a hospital in New York State. After staying there about two months he was finally given a discharge, and came home last week. He will leave the last of this week for Harlowton, Mont., where he has a government land grant. This is Mr. Burley's first visit to his old home in over eight years. Mr. Burley is over the draft age and it is hardly probable that he will ever join his old regiment.

Rev. Massih Cobb died at his home in the Hetrick Hosier Mill village, just out of Walhalla, last Wednesday night. He had long been a sufferer from Bright's disease, though he had never given up, and until within a few weeks of his death had retained active charge of pastoral work as pastor of the South Side Baptist church. He was born in January, 1853, and was a native of the Mountain Grove section of Oconee. His parents, Rev. and Mrs. Robert Cobb, are still living. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his death. All of the children are married. He was a good man and had lived an active and useful life, devoting his time to physical labors as well as serving weak churches in his denomination. Funeral services were held Friday, and the interment was made at Mountain Grove cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. L. H. Raines. The Courier joins with other friends of the family in extending sympathy to them in their sorrow.

The colored Red Cross Society was organized at the church, on Church street, last Monday night. There were 23 who became members of the organization with memberships paid in full. The house was well filled, and a number of interesting talks were made by members of the white and colored races. Officers for the new organization were chosen as follows: Leslie Clinkcales, chairman; Mary Chapman, assistant chairman; Bell Rena McFall, treasurer; Amanda Williams, secretary. The new organization promises to be of great help in the accomplishment of Red Cross work. The colored women of the town have exhibited no little zeal in the work in the past, though they had no organization of their own, and the organization of their own society will naturally bring greater interest for them in the work to be performed. The name chosen for the colored organization is New Galilee Red Cross Society. The new organization will have the hearty cooperation and assistance, whenever needed, of the local Red Cross Society.

Shortly after The Courier had been printed last Wednesday morning a telephone message came to Walhalla announcing that M. R. McDonald, Esq., who had started earlier to Townville to appear in a case in Magistrate's Court, had been seriously cut; his assailant being Justin Woolbright, son of Magistrate Woolbright. The affair took place at Woolbright's store, a mile or more from Townville. The Woolbrights are large farmers in their section of the county, and young Woolbright, who acts in the capacity of constable for his father, was in the case in hand last Wednesday the defendant. He had levied on and seized some property belonging to a negro tenant on the Woolbright place, and the darky had instituted recovery proceedings. Mr. McDonald's business at the time was to secure bond from Woolbright for the retention of the goods seized, and it was Mr. McDonald's contention that young Woolbright would have to go before Magistrate Hopkins at Seneca, to make bond, instead of before his father, who lives near Townville. To this Woolbright objected, it is said, and began cursing and abusing Mr. McDonald, who resented the insults hurled at him, arose from his chair and struck at Woolbright, who retaliated by slashing McDonald across the face with a knife, which he held open in his hand at the time and had had open for some time prior to the difficulty, it is said. Mr. McDonald received a severe cut on the head, the knife striking about the middle of the forehead and coming downward across the left eye and for about an inch below the eye. Mr. McDonald was taken to Townville, where it was hoped that he would be able to secure medical aid, but there were no doctors at home at the time. Relatives at Seneca picked up information as to the affair from the message sent to Walhalla for Dr. J. W. Bell and Mrs. McDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Holleman and Dr. E. C. Doyle, of Seneca, started at once for Townville, reaching there some time before Dr. Bell and Mrs. McDonald. The cut was not as serious as at first thought, though it was a severe wound, severing large veins, from which the blood spurted in large, pulsating streams, so weakening Mr. McDonald that, from sheer exhaustion he sank to the ground in a faint just after reaching Townville. His coat, shirt and other clothing were literally saturated with blood. He is still confined to his home, but is improving and it is thought that he will be able to be out in a few days. Mr. Woolbright was placed

An accident that proved quite serious to John Cash, of the Jocassee section, occurred on Saturday, April 13th. Mr. Cash had lost a pig and was out hunting for it. He had been walking briskly for quite a while and was tired and thirsty. Coming to a branch he stepped on to a rock preparatory to stooping over to drink from the branch. He had reached out with his left hand to steady himself against the opposite branch and the gun he held in his right hand struck against the rock, the hammer striking a ledge and discharging the gun. The entire load took effect in his left hand, outstretched against the branch. The hand was literally torn to pieces. He was several miles from home and had to walk three miles before he could secure a friend to bring him to Salem in a buggy. From there he came to Walhalla in an automobile. Here he received attention at the hands of Drs. J. W. Bell and J. W. Wickliffe, who amputated the hand just above the wrist. Mr. Cash was in The Courier office Monday and says he is getting along all right. He is a young man, 25 years of age, and was placed in Class 4-A for army service. He has a wife and three small children, the oldest five years of age. He has many friends in Oconee who will learn with regret of his accident and misfortune in losing his hand.

The third annual expression contest of the Oconee Oratorical and Athletic Association was held at Walhalla last Friday night, at which time the large High School auditorium was packed to capacity. There were many visitors present from Seneca and Westminster and other points in the county, and it was a great pleasure to the people of Walhalla to have this opportunity of accommodating the Oratorical Association, the participants in the contest and the many visitors. It was the good fortune of the Walhalla High School to win first place in the contest, the honor falling to Miss Edith Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Carter. The recitation on which she excelled in the art of expression was entitled "Ketchin" a Chicken,"

SECRETARY McADOO ADDRESSES YOU:

"And so I beg you to devote yourself with that patriotism and that eagerness to serve which is so characteristic of the men and women who devoted themselves to these Liberty Loans in the past, to devote yourselves with renewed enthusiasm to these great tasks, and I know when you bring that sort of spirit, that sort of energy to the consideration of these problems, their solution cannot for one moment be in doubt."

Permit Us to Add a Personal Word:

After we win this war, how are we going to answer the question—what did we do to help? There are just two ways to answer it—call to "Lend a Hand"—with blood or with money. We cannot fight with our hands, but we can BUY BONDS. The more bonds we buy, the less blood will be shed. Let us show how the American business community can help.

CLEMSON MEN MADE GOOD.

Thirty Out of Forty Eight in Training Camp Passed.

Camp Forrest, Ga., April 20.—Editor K. was Courier: I am writing to ask you to change the address of my Courier to Chattanooga, Tenn. The third Officers' Training Camp closed at Fort Oglethorpe on the 18th, at home of the candidates received commissions. They were given diplomas from the school stating that they had satisfactorily completed the prescribed course and were eligible for commissions as vacancies occur. All candidate-officers will wear a small white badge on the cuff of their coat sleeve until commissioned—which will not be long, probably, in view of the next draft. All men who belonged to some army organization returned to them and will retain their former rank and pay if sergeants or higher. All men who were below that grade, and all men from civilian life, were given warrants as sergeants and assigned to the regiment of the 88th Central Postal Directory, Camp Forrest, Ga.

I was one of the 48 but candidates in the fourth company, R.O.T.C., and am now a sergeant in the 53rd infantry, practically 60 per cent of the men who entered the camp completed a course successfully and the remainder were eliminated as unfit for officers, for various reasons, as they proceeded.

The Clemson men held their own as usual in this camp, for I believe 30 out of 38 made good. One has already received a commission in the "tank" service and two others were selected to go to France and receive further training in the artillery branch of the service.

With best wishes,
Bruce J. Scribbling.
