

GREW DESPONDENT OVER HER TROUBLES

ONCE WAS "MOST WRETCHED PERSON," SAYS MRS. GREENE.

BUT NOW IS HAPPY.

Gained 10 Pounds After Taking Tanlac and Improved Considerably.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I was the most wretched person I expect you ever saw, but now I am as happy as I can be over the good that Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. Maggie Greene, of 1219 Avenue A, Ensley, Ala.

"For a long time I suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble," she continued, "and had grown so weak from loss of energy that I really took no interest in anything. I would suffer for hours from gas on my stomach that made me dizzy and gave me palpitation of the heart. I fell off until I weighed only 95 pounds and was so weak and run-down I could not do any work about the house. I was so nervous that at times I trembled all over, and I got so cross and fretful I was not like myself at all and was growing more despondent every day.

"Nothing I took seemed to reach my troubles, and I just went from bad to worse. My husband got a bottle of Tanlac for me, and as soon as I began taking it I started to improve and began to eat and my appetite got better every day. The disagreeable fullness does not trouble me any more after meals, and I just feel fine. In fact, I do not know what it is to have a pain now. I sleep like a log at night, have gained ten pounds, and every one tells me I look like a different woman."

Tanlac, the master medicine, is sold exclusively by Bell's Drug Store, Walhalla; J. C. Cain, Oakway; Salem Drug Co., Salem; Seneca Pharmacy, Seneca; Stonecypher Drug Co., Westminster; Hughs & Dendy, Richland.—Adv.

TRAWLER TURNED INTO RAIDER

Submarine Captures and Transforms Vessel Into Coastwise Pirate.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Navy Department officials to-night confidentially awaited a wireless dispatch telling of the capture or destruction of the trawler Triumph, which was seized by a German submarine yesterday, a German crew put aboard, the vessel armed and started on a raiding expedition against the defenseless fleet of fishing smacks operating on the Grand Banks. Every precaution has been taken, it was said, to prevent the raider slipping through the line stretched around the fishing region.

The department through Admiral Benson, Acting Secretary, requested newspapers to make no mention of the type of craft being employed in the hunt. It was said, however, these are numerous and swift enough to make the eventual apprehension of the converted fishing vessel absolutely certain unless the enemy crew destroys the ship or attempts to engage one of the pursuers in unequal combat.

Can't Keep It Up.

Officials here expressed the belief to-day that the German commander realized the utter hopelessness of his venture continuing operations for more than 24 hours. Some considered that a rendezvous with the submarine had been arranged by the crew of the Triumph, after which the Triumph would be sunk so that the patrol flotillas would find it necessary to continue their hunt for several days. This would result, the German officers might hope, in a large force being held along the Grand Banks, lessening the strength of the coast guard at other points. The answer made to this possibility is that adequate forces are now in service at every vital point to protect all ships.

First News.

The only dispatches received by the department concerning the newest manoeuvre of the German submarine flotilla off the American coast was a brief message from the commander of the First Naval District at Boston. This dispatch merely confirmed the landing of the captain and crew of the Triumph and reiterated the story told by these sailors. Six hours earlier this information was given to the Navy Department through press dispatches and was flashed by naval wireless to officers in command of patrol forces in the vicinity.

Time Too Limited.

Admiral Benson expressed the opinion it would be impossible for the Germans in the limited time at their disposal to equip the Triumph properly as a raider. Such a task, he pointed out, would occupy the New York navy yard nearly a week. With a crew of 17 men, however, armed with revolvers and a machine gun or two, the Triumph would be able to capture and destroy a number of small craft. The maximum military advantages the Germans can hope to obtain, it was held, was the depletion of the supply of canned fish for the army.

Doesn't Credit Report.

Admiral Benson refused to place much credence in the declaration made by the submarine commander to the captain of the Triumph that six U-boats now are operating in American waters. Very careful checking of all information regarding the activities of these craft has convinced naval officials that only three have been actively engaged. The acting secretary warned against the public placing too much hope in stories of German submarines being destroyed. In this connection he divulged the fact that the claim of a British merchantman having sunk a submarine after a long range gun duel already has been definitely converted. It was on this same submarine, and several days later, that Capt. Evans, of the steamer Penitence, was detained after his ship had been captured and sunk.

Fishing Schooner Sunk.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, Aug. 21.—The fishing schooner Lucille Schnare, of Lunenburg, N. S., was sunk late to-day by the trawler Triumph, which a German submarine crew has converted into a raider. Both bombs and gunfire were used. The crew arrived at Canso to-night. Members of the crew said that the Pasenda, another fishing vessel, was in the vicinity when the Schnare was sent down. Although they did not see any attack upon the Pasenda they expressed the opinion that she was sunk after the Germans had finished with the Schnare. None of the crew of the Pasenda had been reported as having reached shore late to-night.

Fishing Fleet Destroyed.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—Virtually the entire fleet of the Maritime Fish Corporation has been destroyed by the trawler Triumph, which was captured by a German submarine crew and armed, according to reports to the corporation's office here to-day. The fleet was operating off the Grand Banks of New Foundland. It was composed of boats of both Canadian and American registry.

The exact number of vessels destroyed is not known, but the corporation's fleet generally consisted of eight or nine vessels.

Schooners reported sunk on the Grand Banks up to this afternoon are: The Pasenda, Una P. Saunders, Lucille Schnare (Canadian); Francis J. O'Hara, A. Platt Andrews, Sylvania (American); Dela Garde (registry not identified).

The rescued crew of the fishing schooner Lucille Schnare, which reached port last night, reported that the Pasenda was nearby when their craft was destroyed by gunfire and bombs. When they left the vicinity in small boats, they said, no attack had been made on the Pasenda.

Six fishing schooners so far have fallen victim to the Triumph, whose German crew of 16 men, according to rescued crews of vessels she had sunk, have been operating with two guns and wireless outfit aboard the captured trawler. The Triumph is said to have 20 days' supply of coal in her bunkers.

Destruction of another fishing schooner was reported with the arrival at Gabarus, Cape Breton, of 16 of the crew of the Dela Garde. They said their vessel was sunk on the fishing banks by a submarine. One of the men is injured. A dory containing three of the crew is missing.

British Ship Escapes.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 22.—A British freight steamship which arrived here to-day from European waters was attacked by a submarine yesterday afternoon near Nantuxet. One torpedo was fired by the U-boat, which missed the freighter by about 20 yards, members of the crew said.

The submarine then began shelling the ship and the fire was returned by the Britisher. A running fight lasting more than an hour followed, the freighter finally outdistancing the submarine. None of the shots fired by the U-boat took effect.

Sub, Operates With Triumph.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, Aug. 22.—A German submarine, presumably the craft which captured the Triumph, is operating with the raiding trawler, said Capt. Jeff Thomas, of the Sylvania, who arrived here in a power dory after his schooner was sunk by the raider. As he and his men rowed away from their craft, which the Germans bombed, they saw, two miles distant, a large submarine lying on the surface.

Capt. Thomas came into port with two of his fishermen. Nineteen men and a boy of his crew, he said, have not been reported, but he is confident they have landed at some remote village on the Cape Breton coast.

The captain said he sighted the Triumph an hour and a half before his vessel was destroyed, but he did not suspect the trawler until it came alongside and he was ordered to leave his ship "and be quick about it."

Expect to Capture Triumph.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Absence of any definite report of activity to-day on the part of the raider Triumph, the converted steam trawler armed by 16 members of a German U-boat crew, strengthened the belief held in naval circles that the vessel is no longer on the North Atlantic fishing grounds. While numerous dispatches were received during the day detailing the effects of the Triumph's foray into the ranks of American and Canadian smacks and trawlers, all dealt with sinkings which occurred yesterday and Tuesday night.

So thorough has been the "steps taken to safeguard the fishing fleets," as described by Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, that officials here are positive the Triumph could not have escaped the net spread for her capture. The only possible explanation of the failure of patrol craft to capture the raider will be that she has been sunk by her crew, possibly after the men have returned to the submarine.

Immediately upon receipt of news that the Triumph had been seized as an auxiliary by the Germans, naval experts expressed the opinion that the cruise of the raider would be short, probably lasting only from 24 to 36 hours, and this fact was realized by the German commander in planning the coup. In naval circles the belief was held that the German crew either would meet the parent submarine at a pre-designated rendezvous and sink the trawler or would sink the craft and take to small boats in an attempt to reach some desolate part of the coast, from which point they hope to make their way inland and find places of hiding.

The possibility that the raider's crew might capture some craft of an entirely different type and try to slip through the patrol of fleets makes the work of the hunters more exacting. Undoubtedly every steamer, vessel and yacht met by the patrol ships will be stopped and questioned and probably boarded for a more strict examination before being permitted to pass.

Only confirmation of the press dispatches came to the Navy Department to-day in the wireless messages dealing with the hunt for the Triumph. Locations of the points at which the enemy ship was reported to have come in contact with victims were carefully plotted, the results furnishing valuable data for the use of the coast patrol vessels.

A BEAUTIFUL PRAYER.

The Journal is deeply indebted to Rev. J. H. Pfohl for a copy of one of the most beautiful prayers the war has yet brought forth. It is a prayer of a fallen soldier, found in the pocket of a British colonel after he was killed in action in Flanders on October 11, 1917. The prayer is so notably beautiful that it is appended in full:

"Father of all, Helper of the free, we pray with anxious hearts for all who fight on land and in the air to guard our homes and liberty. Make clear the visions of our leaders and their counsels wise.

"Into Thy care our ships and seamen we commend; guard them from chance-sown mines and all the dangers of this war at sea; and as of old, give them victory.

"To men on watch give vigilance, to those below, calm sleep. Make strong our soldiers' hearts and brace their nerves against the bursting shrapnel and the unseen fire that lays the next man low.

"In pity blind them from the sight of the fallen comrades left upon the field.

"May Christ, Himself, in Paradise receive the souls of those who pass through death.

"Let not our soldiers ever doubt that we shall overcome the forces of king who seeks to wade through slaughter to a throne and shut the gate of mercy on mankind.

"O God of Love and Pity, have compassion on the wounded; make bearable their pain and send unconsciousness.

"To surgeons and dressers give that strength that knows no failing and skill that suffers not from desperate haste.

"To tired men give time to rest.

"Pity the poor beasts of service who suffer for man's wrong.

"For us at home let not that open shame be ours, that we forget to ease the sufferings of the near and dear of brave men in the fighting line.

"O, Thou, Who makes human hearts the channel of Thy answers to our prayers, let loose a flood of sympathy and help for children and their mothers who wander desolate and suffering, having wrecked homes and gardens trodden under ruthless feet.

"With thee, who sufferest more than all, may with reverence thy

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema

Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire.

There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only lay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.

The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle to-day at any drugstore, and you will see results from the right treatment. Write for expert medical advice, which you can get without cost, by addressing Medical Director, 21 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
