BRITONS FOLLOW UP SUCCESS.

Crown Prince Rupprecht Brings Up Reserves to Be Mowed Down.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 23.—Victorious on a battle front of 23 miles extending from the Cojeul river on the north as far as the Ancre and Somme rivers, almost to Lihons, the third and fourth British armies, under Gens. Byng and Rawlinson, at mid-afternoon were vigorously following up their successes of to-day, which apparently has been one of the most disastrous days ever experienced by the Germans.

The enemy has lost wide stretches of ground, numerous towns, thousands of men made prisoner and large quantities of materials and guns. He also again has had heavy casualties.

Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, the German commander, has thrown his men in before the advancing British armies in an effort to stave off the inevitable, but only to have them mowed down again and again by storms of metal which poured from the British guns. One entire enemy battalion was annihilated during the fighting.

Dead Germans in great numbers are scattered everywhere over the battlefield. As an example, 400 enemy dead were observed this morning on one small piece of ground over which the battle had swept.

Confusion Behind German Lines.

With all this fierce fighting, and notwithstanding the fact that the British at many places have fought over open ground against an enemy protected in "pot holes" and strong points of other kinds, the British losses everywhere seem to have been extraordinarily light. This probably is due to the confusion the Germans find reigning behind their lines as they are fighting a losing battle when hourly their situation grows more serious.

Crown Prince Rupprecht to-day had strengthened his line at many places, but this, instead of stopping the British, simply meant that the Germans suffered bigger losses.

During the night and this morning the front upon which the battle was being fought yesterday was being widened appreciably both to the north and the south, while the ground in the middle between Albert and Beaumont-Sur-Ancre, which

Grandma Talks About Babies

Has a Large Circle of Listeners Who Profit by Her Wisdom and Experience.

In almost any community there is a grandma who knows Mother's Friend. Not only is she reminiscent of her own experience, but it was through her recommendation that so many expectant mothers derived the comfort and blessing of this famous remedy.

Mother's Friend is an external application prepared especially for expectant mothers after the formula of a noted physician. It certainly has a wonderful effect in relieving tension brought about by expanding muscles, and is a most grateful encouragement to the woman awaiting motherhood.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles firm, pliant and responsive. When baby arrives they expand easily, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less. Strain upon the nerves and ligaments is lessened and in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread, it is a season of calm repose and happy anticipation.

Mother's Friend enables the mother to preserve her health and natural grace and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the pain and suffering which more often than otherwise accompanies such an occasion when nature is unaided.

Write the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Mother's Friend," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime do not by any chance fail to purchase a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort. Mother's Friend should be applied night and morning with the utmost regularity.

heretofore had been fairly quiet, suddenly was drawn into the whirl.

Germans Surrendered in Body.

South of Achiet-le-Grand the British did not start to-day's operations so early as farther north. The New Zealanders here stopped work to let a German counter attack develop. They "played dead" until the advancing enemy infantry was almost on top of them. Then they put down a heavy machine gun barrage just at the rear of the Germans, who surrendered in a body rather than be killed in their tracks. This happened just north of Miraumont. Many of the prisoners were non-commissioned officers, and all of them appeared to be glad that they had been captured.

When asked about the Austrians the prisoners expressed the greatest contempt for their allies as soldiers, saying they were no good whatever.

Slightly to the south the British have crossed the Ancre river and started back in the general direction of Courcellette. Already they are reported to be southeast of Grandcourt. This move menaces from the rear the German stronghold at Thiépval, which is an old fortress.

Many Prisoners Taken by French. Paris, Aug. 23.—Between the Oise and the Aisne during the advance of Wednesday and Thursday Gen. Mangin's army took 5,000 prisoners, according to advices reaching here.

The allies are reaping the fruits of the victories of July 18 and August 3, in the present critical situation in which the German command finds itself.

The German retreat around Noyon, it is held here, is the logical consequence of those victories. The French and British are pressing the enemy so close that he is obliged to throw in his best troops to save himself from disaster. In the north and in the south the allies are dashing upon the Germans and snapping up prisoners and booty.

Gen. Mangin's pressure between August 18 and 20 resulted in the capture of more than 10,000 prisoners, and on the 22d he forced the enemy to beyond the Ailette. The army of Gen. von Eben is in such a predicament, it is believed, that he is bound to make a formidable counter attack to halt Gen. Mangin or be obliged to withdraw from the Aisne and Vesle to the Chemin des Dames. If the enemy does not counter attack along the Ailette it probably will mean that Gen. von Eben is in a sadder plight than is thought here.

In the north the British third army has pushed the Germans so dangerously near Bapaume that the German command has found it necessary to counter attack in force. The loss of Bapaume in the present circumstances would amount to a disaster, according to opinion here.

A REMARKABLE PAPER.

Last week Editor V. B. Cheshire, of the Anderson Farmers' Tribune, came squarely out from the Bleese ranks, announcing himself constitutionally opposed to anybody or anything not measuring up to the standard of 100 per cent American, and therefore unalterably opposed to Ex-Governor Bleese and Congressman F. H. Dominick. His announcement, which we regard as one of the really remarkable incidents of the campaign, is given place below. His explanation of his past apologies for Mr. Bleese's shortcomings is especially worthy of note, showing the fact that he has not always really been at heart a believer in Bleese, but a follower of an apologist for him because Mr. Bleese has each two years posed as the chosen champion of "Reform."

We congratulate Mr. Cheshire upon his open announcement, which we reproduce below, as follows:

"Issues and Not Men."

"I am constitutionally a Reformer. As such I espoused the cause of Governor Bleese in his earliest campaigns, and have been consistently with him in all his many races for State-wide office, dating, I believe, back to 1906, and running continuously to November. In doing this I have antagonized some of my best personal friends, incurred the business hostility of most of the leading advertisers of our city and had numerous personal encounters.

"I undertook to defend Governor Bleese when he pardoned Portland Ned, a notorious murderer and safe-blower, and secretly slipped him out of the side door of the Governor's private office.

"I attempted to defend him when he pardoned R. A. Richey, convicted of seducing a little factory girl, who had been reared in his home, and as the evidence showed, had been taught to call him father.

"I attempted to defend him when he pardoned W. T. Jones, of Union, a man who, as shown from the evidence in court, had stripped and repeatedly beaten his poor wife, in the presence of negroes, for the purpose of humiliating her, and who was finally convicted of murdering her.

"In my blindness in support of the Reform party, I tried to lose sight of the shortcomings of the continuous self-constituted leader, for the supposed good of my faction, on the general ground that so long as the personal popularity of the leader contributed toward the strengthening of the cause of the masses, my course was justifiable.

"I am a reformer still and am willing to risk what little I have and my life, if necessary, in the cause of reform. But as I see it, there can be no reform party in South Carolina worthy of the name so long as Governor Bleese elbows all of its leading men out of position to make a place for his biennial entry into State-wide politics, nor so long as the Reform faction must occupy its whole time explaining his executive and inconsistent acts.

"I have heard that Governor Bleese said that he hoped his arm would be paralyzed if he ever signed a pardon for Jones, and I know that he said that he would not pardon R. A. Richey, and yet, for reasons best known to himself, he pardoned both of them.

"I believe that the rank and file of the Reform party in South Carolina recognizes the fact that when America entered the war, the allies were practically whipped, and that America, if she did not strike then would shortly afterward have been forced to meet Germany alone, with the certainty of defeat staring her in the face. Germany would have re-enacted all of her policy of murder and rape right here in our homes, and we would have been powerless to prevent it, because of our unpreparedness. Two hundred helpless old men, women and children were shot into a heap of dead bodies in a Belgian town, and the same might have been re-enacted in the city of Anderson if we had fallen in with German propaganda to keep quiet and, in fact, to wait our turn.

"Whatever Governor Bleese may say now about the bonds he bought and the land he has loaned to the government, he is forced to the admission that his loyalty dates only from the time of the amendment of the espionage act in Congress, from which time he dare not be otherwise than loyal. His utterances that President Wilson made this war at the instance of English financiers, and that every drop of blood shed off of American soil would be upon the heads of President Wilson and the members of Congress who voted for the war, show the true inwardness of his feelings. He is, according to his own admission, against the war on principle and favors it now only because the die is cast.

"Governor Bleese has repeatedly denounced Congress and the President for bringing on this war. He has never denounced Germany and the Kaiser for originating it and continuing it. As a loyal citizen of the United States, I cannot and will not support a man who believes, according to his own admission, that our young men now in France are shedding their blood in an unjust and unrighteous cause. My motto is, 'America first, last and all the time, and to hell with the Kaiser.'

"What Governor Bleese has uttered in public speeches Fred Dominick has emphasized by his votes in Congress. He voted against war; he voted against conscription. He has been consistent in his opposition to the President and Congress and cannot escape his record.

"This is the time when every ounce of manhood, every ounce of brains, every ounce of loyalty of which this country is capable should be laid upon the altar of Freedom. It is no time for factionalism or political expediency. It is no time to consider the wisest of men, except as they are 100 per cent loyal."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars Reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

LIKE AN ELECTRIC BUTTON ON TOES

Tells Why a Corn is So Painful and Says Cutting Makes Them Grow.

Press an electric button and you form a contact with a live wire which rings the bell. When your shoes press against your corn it pushes its sharp roots down upon a sensitive nerve and you get a shock of pain.

Instead of trimming your corns, which merely makes them grow, just step into any drug store and ask for a quarter of an ounce of freezone. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn stops the soreness instantly, and soon the corn shrivels up so it lifts right out, root and all, without pain. This drug freezone is harmless and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin.—Adv.

Preferred Death to Soldiering.

Huntsville, Ala., Aug. 21.—Rather than be a soldier, Jim Hill, 28 and newly married, of New Hope, Ala., blew out his brains to-day at his home. He had not been called to the colors, but was expecting the call.

In the same town Calvin Hunter, 80 years old, veteran of the Confederate army, killed himself to-day with a pistol.

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ellensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles.

I improved in health so I could do my own work; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. JOHNSON, R. No. 3, Ellensburg, Wash. "There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are afflicted with functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.
