WALHALLA, S. C.:

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1918.

DIED FROM AUTO ACCIDENT.

Mrs. H. B. Zimmerman's Death Is Deeply Deplored.

Last week we made brief mention of the death of Mrs. H. B. Zimmerman, of Westminster, whose untimely death came as the result of an automobile accident while she and her husband and daughter were on their way to Georgia to visit friends. We had then no details of the sad tragedy at hand, and the reference to the sad accident and death was necessarily brief. We clip from the Tugalo Tribune (Westminster) of Tuesday of last week the following account of the fearful accident:

"A mantle of gloom and sadness was spread over Westminster last Thursday afternoon when a message was received from Athens, Ga., stating that Mrs. H. B. Zimmerman, of this place, was dead. She was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Farmington, Ga., on the morning of October 7th, while Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman and Miss Lucille Zimmerman were en route to Macon, Ga., to visit Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Wallace.

"Leaving Westminster at 4 o'clock in the morning in their Overland touring car, Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman and Miss Lucille traveled about 100 miles by 10.30, and after passing the town of Farmington, a station in Oconee county, Georgia, on the Central of Georgia railroad, the steering wheel of the car locked, and the car skidded and became unmanageable, striking a ditch and bank, and turned turtle. Mrs. Zimmerman occupied front seat with Miss Lucille, who was driving, in order that she might be as free as possible from jolts and jars of the machine, and Mr. Zimmerman was riding on the rear seat. As the car turned over, Mrs. Zimmerman was caught under the steering wheel and windshield, one hand being almost severed. The elbow of one arm was caught through the steering wheel. The glass of the windshield was shattered, but she was not cut by the glass, it being the frame of the shield which crushed her arm.

"Mr. Zimmerman and Miss Lucille were overcome with grief and had to see their wife and mother remain in this position until an automobile could make two trips to the nearest town and procure help to lift the car. She was pinned in such manner that to turn the car either way would hurt or kill her. To turn one way would have cut her throat, and to turn the other would have cut her arm with parts of the car. As soon as freed from this distressing position Mrs. Zimmerman was able to walk a few steps, and it was then thought that she was not fatally hurt. She was taken to the home of J. H. Maddox, a physician was summoned, and she was given every attention possible.

"It was planned to carry her to Atlanta that night, but she grew worse and these plans had to be abandoned. Wednesday night she became weaker, sinking into unconsciousness, and died at 6 o'clock the following day. She did not complain while under the car or while the doctor was taking the stitches in her

LEMON JUICE IS

FRECKLE REMOVER

Girls! Make This Cheap Beauty Lotion to Clear and Whiten Your Skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.—Adv.

arm, and on Wednesday while on the bed she counted her blessings.

"Miss Lucille escaped uninjured, while Mr. Zimmerman suffered some wrenches of the spine. He cut his way out through the sides of the car. The accident was one of the kind which happen unexpectedly, and was unavoidable, being due to the locking of the steering wheel. The accident happened at a point in the road where it is exceedingly narrow. Miss Lucille is a good chauffeur and always drives with care and caution. The tragic death of her mother was a great shock, and in her sad hours in Oconee county, Georgia, she had much of the burden of sending messages and making other arrangements made necessary by the sad accident to look after until the arrival of her brothers.

"At Farmington and in the vicinity the people were kind and good, and willingly rendered every service. "At the home of Mr. Maddox great kindness and service were rendered, and these are most highly appreciated by those bereaved. Although among strangers, they were among friends. Mr. Maddox, who is 81 years old, walked some distance to secure for Mrs. Zimmerman anything needed in the way of food and medicine. Friends in Farmington and vicinity presented many of the floral tributes.

"Miss Deka Maddox, at whose home Mrs. Zimmerman died, accompanied the family with their grief-bearing charge, and remained until yesterday afternoon. Miss Maddox was very kind and attentive from the very start. She was with the family during Mrs. Zimmerman's last days and hours and came home with them to do what she could to bring comfort while they were under the great weight of sorrow. Her kindness and devotion will always be remembered.

"Mrs. Zimmerman was born in the Varennes section of Anderson county, South Carolina, on September 23, 1854, and was therefore 64 years of age on the fifth Sunday of last month. She was a daughter of the late James McLin, and her maiden name was Miss Laura Elizabeth McLin. She and Mr. Zimmerman were married about 40 years ago, and practically all her married life was spent in Westminster. The devotion of Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman to each other and to their children constituted a beautiful domestic picture. Death had never entered the family until Mrs. Zimmerman was almost suddenly called away.

"The children are Walter M. Zimmerman, of the Southern Railway; Mrs. O. M. Stockton, of Little Rock, Ark.; H. R. Zimmerman, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway; Fred L. Zimmerman, of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Lucille Zimmerman. There are twelve living grandchildren.

"Brothers and sisters of the deceased are as follows: John L. McLin, of Atlanta; Rev. Jas. L. McLin, of Laurens; D. O. McLin and Mrs. Ellen A. Norris, of Westminster.

"To those who are bowed down in grief is extended what consolation there is in the sympathy of a wide circle of friends. "The funeral took place at the late residence of Mrs. Zimmerman Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and was largely attended. Rev. J. E. Wallace, her former pastor, now of Macon, Ga., conducted the service in a most appropriate and comforting manner to those so sorely bereaved, and paid a beautiful tribute to the life of the deceased. He was assisted by Rev. A. N. Littlejohn, the present pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. W. Lewis, preacher in charge of the Westminster Methodist circuit. The pall bearers were six nephews—James, David and Andrew Norris, of Greenville; P. W. Matheson, J. A. and C. L. Zimmerman, of Westminster."

Sunday Gas Ban Lifted.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Fuel Administrator Garfield to-day lifted the ban on gasoline Sundays, effective at once.

Should gasoline stocks again fall low, it was stated at the Fuel Administration offices, the request will be renewed. It is probable that priority orders will begin for shipment of gasoline overseas.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND GRIPPE

Ask any physician or druggist and he will tell you that the best and only effective remedy for a bad cold sore throat, influenza, or la grippe is what he calls a "brisk calomel purge," which means a big dose of calomel at bed time. But as the old-style calomel has some very unpleasant and dangerous qualities, physicians and druggists are now recommending the improved nausealess calomel, called "Calotabs," which is purified and refined from the sickening and dangerous effects, and whose medicinal virtues are vastly improved.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed-time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your diet, pleasures or work. Next morning your cold has vanished and your entire system is purified and refreshed.

Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your druggist guarantees Calotabs by refunding the price if you are not delighted.—adv.

Death Claims Chas. Carlisle.

(Anderson Mail.)

Dr. Mark L. Carlisle has telegraphed home that his son, Charlie, died in Quincy, Fla., Sunday, and that the body will be taken to Spartanburg for interment Wednesday morning. Aiken Carlisle, of West Point, Ga., the only other son, is here to-day with his mother.

Charlie Carlisle was about 30 years of age and leaves a wife and one child. He was with the McCray Engineering Company of Quincy when his father was called to his bedside, and died there Sunday.

Dr. Carlisle is prominent here as pastor of the St. John's Methodist church, and will have the sympathy of his congregation and the general public in this sad hour.

(Dr. and Mrs. Carlisle years ago were residents of Walhalla. Dr. Carlisle was then pastor of the Walhalla Methodist church, and both he and his good wife were universally beloved by all our people. The news of the death of their son will come as a source of deep sorrow to all of their friends here, and The Courier joins with these in extending to the bereaved family the deepest sympathy in their great loss.—Ed. Courier.)

Cascarets—10c

Candy cathartic is harmless to tender stomach, liver and bowels

Your child is bilious, constipated and sick. Its little tongue is coated, breath is bad and stomach sour. Get a 10-cent box of Cascarets and straighten the youngster right up. Children love this harmless candy cathartic and it cleanses the little liver and thirty feet of bowels without griping. Cascarets contain no calomel and can be depended upon to move the sour bile and poison right out of the bowels. Best family cathartic because it never cramps or sickens like other things.—Adv.

JESS GREEN TOOK TO HIS HEELS

Negro Prisoner in Oconee Jail Made a Daring Dash for Liberty.

The job of deputy sheriff and jailer is not all "pie" by a jug full!

Last Thursday morning when Deputy Sheriff Boon R. Moss went to open the outer door to the cell department he noticed that the door did not swing with its usual freedom, but he thought nothing strange about it, and gave an extra push that sent it swinging open, and as the door swung back he received a lick in the face from a black fist and a smash over his right hand with an instrument of some kind. The force of the unexpected blows, and the weight of the bulk of a negro man falling on top of him got him off his feet, but he rose in time to see one of his negro prisoners making his way at top speed through the jail yard and out of the gate.

Grabbing his pistol from his pocket Mr. Moss took a shot at the fleeing coon, who happened to be one Jesse Green, who is in jail on the charge of having violated the liquor laws in that he was traveling on the Southern Railway with three gallons of brandy in his possession. He was arrested at Seneca some few days ago and lodged in the Oconee jail.

Green made his escape from the jail yard, across the Court House square and Main street, heading for the tall timber back of that section of town known as "The Hub." He was followed, however, by a number of citizens who happened to be about the Court House square, and they managed to keep at least in sight of the black speck as it outlined itself against the unit horizon. Automobiles were soon on the road at altogether unlawful speed under ordinary conditions, and Green was overhauled before he had gotten past the town limits.

And if there was ever one thoroughly scared coon, Jesse Green was "it." He was speechless and pale—that is, he had that ashy appearance that a darkey has when he would be pale if it were possible for him to be. But Jess was scared all right, and he had a right to be with five bullets chasing him out of the jail premises and a good many more than that number of men—some colored ones among the number—hot after him after he gained the open of the streets.

The whole thing happened so quickly that Green was back in his cell, limp as a rag from fright and exertion, before it was realized fully what was taking place.

Deputy Sheriff Moss was hampered in his efforts to get his prisoner by reason of the fact that he had to stop to lock the jail door in order to secure his other prisoners, some four or five, who were at the time cleaning up about the cells, and were outside the steel cages.

Just how the darkey concealed himself to get the drop on Deputy Moss is not definitely known. He was either just back of the door or over it, in such position that when he struck the deputy as he entered, the darkey could drop out of the opening and over the body of Mr. Moss. Fortunately the licks struck were broken and did not have the evidently desired effect of putting Mr. Moss entirely out of commission, and he was on his feet almost before the negro had time to clear the office room through which he had to pass before gaining the outside world. A shot was fired at the darkey by Mr. Moss before the latter had been able to entirely regain his feet.

Green when he was taken from the train at Seneca had in his possession, besides the three gallons of brandy, a ticket to Spartanburg, and it is supposed that he was heading for the military camp at that place to dispose of his liquor. From his peculiar manner of talking it is evident that he is a low-country darkey, as he does not talk like the negroes of this section of the State.

Having taken the desperate chance he did to gain his liberty, it is thought entirely probable that the darkey is really guilty of some offense of a much more grave nature than that with which he is charged by the Oconee officers. He is of a rather slight build, about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height, we judge, though he was in such a state of collapse at the time the reporter saw him that an intelligent guess at his height was hardly possible. He is darker than what is known as the ginger bread color, though not very black in "complexion."

The important feature of the story is, however, that he is safe behind the jail bars, and likely to stay there until he is tried and convicted or released.

And now that he has made the effort to escape and the assault upon the officer, there is no possibility of his not being convicted at least on one charge.

FORTY YEARS A DRUGGIST - He Endorses PERUNA
Read this from Mr. L. A. Richardson of Marine, Illinois:
"I have been engaged in the retail drug business here for the past forty years. During this time I have seen many patent medicines come into use, flourish for one or two years and then gradually disappear. There are very few of these remedies that possess enough real merit to insure them long life. Peruna has always been a good seller with us, with a marked increase from year to year. The change in the formula some years ago, by the addition of the strictly laxative properties, has made it a reliable remedy for constipation and for colds. If taken hourly in tablespoonful doses by adults it will break up the worst cold in two or three days' time. I take pleasure in urging my brother druggists to recommend it for these two ailments."

ALBERT NORMAN MADE A MAJOR Former Walhalla Boy Makes Good Advance at Age of Only 23.

From the Concord (N. C.) Daily Tribune of October 14th we take the following bit of information that will prove of great interest to Walhalla people. Albert Norman, to whom the item refers, is an old Walhalla boy, having resided here for some years with his parents, and it is our recollection that he claims Walhalla as his birth place, but of this we are not entirely certain. However, Walhalla is glad to claim Albert as one of "our boys," and we look for him to make good in the active service of Uncle Sam. The Tribune's article says:

"Capt. Albert I. Norman, it has been learned through private sources, was promoted on September 18th to the rank of major in the regular army."

"Major Norman, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Norman, of this city, has held a captain's commission since he finished at the officers' training school about a year ago. He is a graduate of Clemson College, South Carolina, and immediately upon his graduation in 1917 he entered military training. He was made a captain and sent to Camp Jackson, S. C., for a short time. Later he was sent to the 'school of fire' at Fort Sill, Okla., where, on account of his record, he was made an instructor. He has held this position for about six months, and his promotion to become a major followed."

"The many friends here of Major Norman will congratulate him upon his success. He is only 23 years of age, and the fact that he was given this rank in spite of his lack of years speaks well for his ability."

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.
