SECRET TREATY NOT POPULAR.

London Press Criticises the Acts of President Wilson.

London, June 11.—Secret negotiations at Paris and the non-publication of the treaty with Germany have been denounced here so often that the action of the United States Senate in making public the text of the treaty has given much prominence in the newspapers. It has been given sympathetic comment by the London press, there being in cases sharp criticism of President Wilson. Even the radical Daily News, Mr. Wilson's warmest admirer among the London journals, says: "It must, unhappily, be admitted that the President in his personal conduct of the task of peace-making has made many mistakes. When he succumbed to the forces of secret diplomacy he made his own first points—'open covenants, openly arrived at'—sound like nonsense.

The Graphic, making a similar point against the President, regrets that "the British parliament does not show any sign of being equally as independent as the United States Senate."

The Graphic, opposed to the League of Nations, assures Americans that there "is as much suspicion of the league here as in America."

WANTS FUNDS TO CATCH MEN

Who Throw Bombs and Plot Against the United States.

Washington, June 12.—Attorney General Palmer to-day asked Congress for a special half million dollar appropriation to carry on the hunt for anarchists and bomb-throwers and enemies of law and order.

BILLS Introduced.
Bills designed to bring an end to the activities in this country of radical agitators were introduced to-day by Representative Aswell, Democrat, of Louisiana. One of the measures would provide that any person not a citizen of the United States who shall attempt to destroy life or property by the use of an infernal machine or other means shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction, be sentenced to be executed.

Deportation of aliens who withdraw their declarations of intention to become citizens of the United States to escape military service during the war, or who advocated disrespect for the American flag, is provided in other bills.

PERUNA

Made Me a Well Woman

For Years Did Not Know a Well Day

No sufferer from catarrh of the stomach can read Mrs. Van Buren's letter without a feeling of thankfulness.

"I have spent a great deal of money with doctors for catarrh of the stomach and at times have been compelled to give up my housework for days. For years I did not know what a well day was and cannot help but feel that I would not be alive to-day had I not been induced to try Peruna. Six bottles of Peruna made me a well woman."

LETTER FROM A MARINE.

Forwards a Clipping as Means of Conveying His Sentiments.

Santo Domingo City, D. R., May 21, 1919.

My Dear Wife and Children:

I will answer your most kind and welcome letter, which was received the other day. I was, you know, so pleased to hear from homefolks and glad to learn that all are well. This leaves me feeling fine. It is sure a nice day down here—so cool and pleasant.

Your package left here on the 19th of May, and I hope it will reach you in good shape, and that you will be pleased with it.

News is scarce down here, so will close for this time. Write real soon.

Your loving husband
Private Louie A. Crowe.

P. S.—I enclose a clipping that I think expresses the sentiments of all the men down here. L.A.C.

Send Us Back to Loved Ones.

(Literary Digest.)

From the Dominican Republic arises a sound like homesickness, and a large general disgust with the variety of foreign travel now being enjoyed by the Marines down there. The Dominican Marines had a grievance to start with: They expected to be sent "Over There," and, instead, they landed in a near-by country, where there was no particular glory, excitement, nor excuse for staying away from home. All of these arguments, and more, move Rev. Robert H. Perry, a Baptist minister who enlisted in the Marines, and is now a private down there, to recommend that he be discharged at once from further service. He writes from San Pedro Macoris, under date of April 5:

"Few words are ever spoken of the Marine in the tropics who enlisted for 'Over There' and came 'Down Here.' Having read some of the many good columns in the Digest, I can't help telling you how we feel about it down here.

We enlisted in the corps to be discharged six months after all hostilities ceased. We came here last July, and have gone through our intensive training here, and although they hiked us and drilled us, and sent us over the top till we nearly dropped, I always wrote home that night: 'Having the best time of my life.' Now it is all over, we are tired of this God-forsaken country. There's nothing here but ruin, wine, negroes, disease, and bad women. A four-year man stays here thirty months unless he does like one of the men in our company did a few days ago—commits suicide—and goes home in a 'wooden kimona,' or, in other words, in a coffin. We dream of home, but the dreams fade into mirages upon waking the next morning.

"The Marines' Magazine says, 'No Marines being discharged now,' and yet a single fellow in our company went back some days ago because he had a rich uncle and a political pull. There are men in our company whose families need them, and need them badly, having only the $15 per month as support. I ask you, 'Is that just? Is that the kind of democracy we enlisted to defend?'"

"And the men and women who have had charge of our papers in Washington that we might be here were discharged because Congress failed to pass funds for their salary. That is certainly a compliment to the soldier who enlisted to fight for his beloved land. It must have been an accident that LaPollette kept the floor with his associates the last day of Congress that funds for roads and Washington employees might not be passed. A few grafters—Germany's right-handed men—as a last blow to Old Glory have fought President Wilson all through, and at last succeeded in causing the failure of important bills that mean much to our country's welfare, and the rest stood looking on, doing nothing. I ask you again, gentlemen, is this the democracy we enlisted to fight for?"

"Before I enlisted in the Marine Corps I was pastor of a Baptist church in Texas. My congregation gave me permission to join for the period of the war. They are pleading with me to return now, for the church is in need of me. They are a 'flock without a shepherd,' and my heart is breaking to return, but my hands are tied. I received a recommendation from our commanding officer for early discharge, but I don't think that this means anything but six months more to stay here. I am a poor young man, making my own way in the world, and in another month I will not be able to hold my church, which cannot wait longer. This means that I cannot continue my education in Baylor University, Waco, Texas. Is that justice?"

I was ordained a year before the United States entered the war, and was 20 years old when I enlisted, becoming 21 this month. I wanted to do my bit. I have my hands tied now. I appeal to the people of the 'Best Nation' on earth, is that justice?

"In Cuba the Marines get their mail every day except Tuesday. Here we get it once in two months, sometimes once a month, and an airplane could bring it in five hours from Key West, Fla., each day. We are only a day's ship travel from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. We are so near to civilization, and yet so far away, that we wonder if you have forgotten the homesick, disgusted Marines who haven't seen anything but Spanish-speaking negroes for a year out in the hills of an 'Island God Forgot.'"

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Walhalla People.

We are fortunate, indeed, to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Walhalla residents on the following subject will interest and benefit many of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

B. Oelkers, W. Main St., Walhalla, gave the following statement March 16, 1911: "My kidneys were out of order and my back pained awfully. I had other symptoms of kidney complaint, too. I was advised to take Doan's Kidney Pills and did. They soon completely cured me."

On April 10, 1918, Mr. Oelkers said: "I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I endorsed them before. I am glad to recommend them at any time for they surely did me a great deal of good. I confirm my former endorsement."

Want Place in League.

Paris, June 13.—William Trotter, of Boston, secretary of the National Equal Rights League, has presented every member of the peace conference with a petition from colored citizens of America asking that a clause assuring all citizens "full liberty in the rights of democracy and protection of life without distinction based on race, color or previous friends," be inserted in the League of Nations.

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR STRIKE.

So Says Burleson, Speaking of the Walkout of Wire Operators.

Washington, June 12.—Declaring the strike of wire employees, which began yesterday, was "wholly without justification," Postmaster General Burleson said in a statement to-day that "no amount of pressure will avail to make the control board extend or go beyond" rules and regulations affecting employees laid down during the war by the national war labor board.

Mr. Burleson said that his information was that telegraphic traffic had not been, and would not be, delayed. Government business, which makes up the bulk of that handled by the telegraph companies here, was reported moving as usual to-day, and at the State Department it was said that there had been no interruption of cable communication with Europe.

"The present strike of wire employees is wholly without justification," said the Postmaster General. "It started in Atlanta because, it was claimed, employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company had been dismissed solely because of affiliation with the labor organization."

"The complaint was forwarded promptly to postoffice inspectors for investigation. While the investigation was in progress, and before the investigators had time to ascertain the facts, a sympathetic strike against the Western Union was called in the Southern States. An insignificant percentage of the operatives respected this order to strike. Messages were not delayed and business was transacted as usual. In the meantime it was ascertained that only seven employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company had been dismissed during the month of May, as compared with an average of five for the two months preceding, and the investigation of these cases so far completed shows that no discrimination whatever has been practiced against employees of that company because of union affiliation."

"The Senate committee having reported a bill in favor of turning back forthwith the wire systems to their owners, and the House committee having indicated a purpose to take action along similar lines, an order was issued continuing the operation of the wire systems for the remaining period of government control under Order No. 1783, dated August, 1918. This was necessary so that the companies could again take up their own operations when the period of government control ended and could resume full control of their properties with as little confusion and disturbance as possible, and further so that they could promptly take steps to protect their finances from the consequences of too sudden action on the part of State utilities commissions in the change of rates which had been fixed during the period of government control.

"After this order was issued the present strike was ordered. Our information is that the telegraphic traffic has not been delayed, and the information received indicates that it will not be delayed. During the period of government control the rules and regulations of the war labor board have been strictly observed and will continue to be observed during the continuance of government control, but no amount of pressure will avail to make the wire control board extend or go beyond those regulations.

"When the period of government control ends, the wire systems will be returned to their owners intact, with their operating organizations intact, with the values of those properties not having been in the slightest impaired."

The Wonderful Call When Baby Comes

Like the Blast of Heavenly Trumpet When Call of Motherhood Is Felt.

Of all the most vital times in a woman's life the coming of baby is fraught with the greatest meaning. Care should be exercised to insure that the crisis is passed in safety. Apprehension is avoided by the timely use of Mother's Friend, a preparation of penetrating oils and medicinal ingredients, which renders the muscles, cords, tendons and ligaments pliable, and thus tension is avoided. The usual nervousness, nausea, bearing-down and stretching pains are counteracted and the period is one of calm repose.

The broad, flat abdominal muscles relax with ease, and when baby comes the time of the crisis is less and pain and danger is avoided. Thousands of women for half a century have used this penetrating external application, prepared especially for expectant mothers, and every woman awaiting the crisis should give nature a helping hand. Write the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. F, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, of great value to all women, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist and begin its application regularly night and morning.
