THE CURRENT SUNDAY SCHOOL
Statistics—Attendance is Showing a Gratifying Increase.

Below are given some interesting facts concerning attendance at the various Sunday schools of Walhalla. The figures show that increasing interest is the outcome of the united efforts of the schools and their very friendly rivalry.

The average attendance of the Walhalla Sunday schools for the months of March and April, just past, was 647.24. The average for the different schools is shown below:

Now, let's see who has made the greatest showing: The First Methodist has moved from sixth place to third place, with an increase of 29 per cent. The next best increase is shown by the First Baptist, 17 per cent. This is a wonderful record for our town.

RAISING WINNER IS GREAT HONOR

Heredity Plays Important Part in Helping Owner to Secure Blue Ribbon.

FIRST OBSERVE CALF'S DAM

Good Breeders Should Be Familiar With Individuals and Blood Lines Instrumental in Building Up Favored Breed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is a science and an art to produce a famous breeding animal of a noted show or to show up. Every year thousands of stock raisers contend for the ribbon, and as soon as the blue ribbon is placed the owner of the animal is besieged with questions as to just how the winner was originally selected and reared.

Kings and queens of the beef-cattle world sometimes are selected when they are calves only a few months old so they can be taught to eat grain before they are weaned say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The first step is to observe the calf's mother, noting whether she is a wide, deep-bodied cow with plenty of size, and is giving a liberal supply of milk. If the mother qualifies in these respects and was bred to a good bull, it may be reasonably expected that the calf will grow into a useful breeding animal and can be developed into a type suitable for show purposes.

Studying Calf's Pedigree.

The calf's parents, grandparents, etc., should have been useful and profitable to their owners. These facts may be learned from a study of the calf's pedigree. To know a good pedigree requires study, and in this connection it is advisable to read a history of your chosen breed. It is essential that the good breeder become familiar with individuals and blood lines which have been instrumental in building up the breed.

In every breed there are certain blood lines that are known to "nick" well with one another. Ascertain what "nicks" or crosses have produced the best results, and look for these combinations in a pedigree. Do not be misled by family names, which in some cases are derived from a female that appears as far back as the twelfth or fifteenth generation. Cattle breeders are fast losing sight of family connection on the female side and are giving more attention to the bulls that appear pear in the first, second, and third generations.

The calf which is selected must have good form, which is sometimes spoken of as type or conformation. To become familiar with types of the breed, study pictures of famous animals. Make use of a score card in selecting and judging stock. Learn the different parts of the animal and become familiar with the methods of examination used by experienced judges.

In selecting a calf, first get an idea of its general appearance by looking it over carefully at a distance of 10 or 15 feet. When viewed from the front it should have a short face, large muzzle, wide forehead, short neck, and a wide, deep chest, indicating a strong, vigorous constitution. When looked at from the side, its back should be straight and level from the top of the shoulders to the tail. It should have a deep body and smooth, long hind quarters. When viewed from the rear, it should present a wide deep appearance. While as much width as possible is desired, it should not be accompanied with roughness about the shoulders and the hips or hocks. The legs should be rather short, stout, and set wide apart.

Indications of Quality.

Quality may be determined by the eye of the experienced judge, but the hand may also be used in determining the "condition" or "quality" which has reference to the flesh or fat. The beef calf should have deep natural flesh but should not be excessively fat or coarse. The flesh should be smooth and firm, but not hard along the back, sides, and over the shoulders.

All the following indicate quality: A thick coat of hair that feels soft and silky and looks glossy; a loose, pliable skin that does not seem thick, rough, or tightly stretched over the body; and rather short legs that appear to have strong, clean bones without roughness or coarseness. Color is of little importance so long as the calf selected has the approved color of the breed desired.

Greenville Policeman Killed.

Greenville, May 7.—Policeman Geo. S. Burroughs, a call officer, died at 1 o'clock this morning from an internal hemorrhage caused by a bullet that is said to have been fired by Wm. Thompson, a large, 250-pound negro whom the officer attempted to arrest shortly before 9 o'clock last night.

Caught After Hot Chase.

Greenville, May 8.—Wm. Thompson, accused to have shot and fatally wounded Policeman Burroughs, was captured to-night by a posse of officers and citizens about three miles east of the city, after an exchange of shots, in which one of the pursuers was slightly wounded. Thompson, so officials stated, confessed to the attack on Policeman Burroughs.

After a chase of almost three hours, two city policemen and one citizen halted a figure crossing the dark mountain road. Caught off his guard the negro did not offer any resistance and permitted himself to be placed under arrest.

It Pays to Paint.

In a recent issue of The Progressive Farmer we find where a farmer writes something like this:

"MISTAKES I HAVE MADE"

"In the year 1919 I built a new house on my 40 acres of land. I did not build the verandas or PAINT the house because of the prices of paint and lumber, thinking it would be better to wait until prices came down, then do the work. But now my WINDOWS and DOORS are nearly ruined by the weather, and the house is badly damaged; so it would have PAID me to have built the verandas and PAINTED the house in spite of high prices."

FRIEND, you will make the same MISTAKE if you have property that needs Painting and don't Paint it. We carry good assortments of Sherwin-Williams Paints and Peaslee-Gaulberts. There's none better than the lines we carry.

You can paint your houses, barns, etc., now and pay us for the paint next October 1st.
