

Fordson

Put it to any Power Task

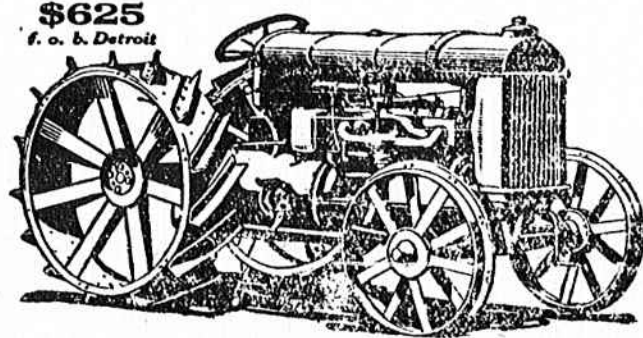

While the Fordson Tractor has power in plenty to drag plows and harrows through the heaviest soil, it is light enough, small enough and so easily controlled that it can handily be put to many tasks about the farm, that will save you time, money and work.

In fact the Fordson will do every power job, both draw-bar and belt, more quickly and at less cost than it can be done with any other form of power. So every month the whole year 'round the always dependable Fordson will prove itself a paying investment, because of its capabilities, its economy and efficiency.

We will gladly explain and demonstrate to you the many Fordson money-making, time-saving features. Call, write or phone.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES.
OCONEE'S MOTTO:
"Vetch and Clover on Every Farm—More Oats, Rye and Wheat."
Coming Events.
Lecture on "Cover Crops and Soil Fertility" by N. E. Winters at—
Shiloh, Friday night, Sept. 30th, at 8 p. m.

Last Call for Cover Crops.

For several days following the rains the season has been good for sowing vetch and rye, vetch and oats and crimson clover. A large number are growing these crops the coming season, according to a local seedsman, who states that he has had to order another ton of vetch seed to supply the demand.

Be certain that soil from a field which has grown the legume you desire is used with the seed to inoculate. Make the seed sticky with syrup-water mixture, and mix in the dry soil. Keep away from direct exposure to the sun to avoid killing the bacteria. Many failures came last year through improper inoculation. Strive for successful inoculation and there will probably be a successful crop of vetch or clover. Oconee's bare hills should be covered this winter with green crops, so that the boll weevil must hunt other quarters which are dry.

Boll Weevils Proliferating.

That the boll weevil has moved with his family into Oconee has been fully determined during the past two weeks by inspections made in a number of cotton fields over the county. Not only are many live weevils found, but many small, medium and large large bolls were found punctured, and the young stages hatching out in practically every field examined.

As many as two weevils to the boll were found near the foot of Poplar Mountain on S. J. Isbell's place. Punctured bolls containing young weevils were found.

Going to the other end of the county, at J. B. Shirley's place near Townville, Mr. Shirley showed in a field of late cotton that there were as high as 30 punctures (partly feeding punctures) per boll, the punctured bolls all rotting. Mr. Shirley states that this field was to demonstrate that the late planting meant certain failure.

All of this means that Oconee farmers in the future who plant cotton do so at more risk than ever before; that cotton grown on a smaller scale must be given the careful attention that has proven of advantage in other boll weevil sections, such as fall destruction of stalks and cleaning up, early planting of early varieties, etc.

It further indicates that as cotton is not so safe in the future, that all home supplies must be produced that can possibly be grown; that soil building must help lessen the tremendous fertilizer debts, and that yields may be increased per acre.

And in addition, certain other money crops must be developed to help provide cash in addition to cotton. This means more apple orchards and more livestock and hogs, with an abundance of feed for them; more sweet potato storage houses to help market the potato crop to advantage. In order to market successfully co-operative car-lot shipping must come to carry the products to the right markets, where there is a demand.

This cannot be done in a day, a week or a year, but it is BOUND TO COME, and with it will come a prosperity the Oconee farmer has never known before. Delaying too long will be dangerous.

Fine Bull Bought.

The Oconee Jersey Bull Association received last week from one of the foremost Jersey farms in Virginia a bull of the most excellent breeding, costing a little over $200 delivered. This bull was Prim's Double Finance, an 18-months-old animal, sired by Double Finance, a famous bull, having won first place at the National Dairy Show of Ohio over fourteen entries, and the sire of Double Finance's Snowdrop, the junior champion of the Southeastern Fair in Atlanta last year. On the dam's side there is an official record of 10,616 pounds of milk and 711 pounds of butter.

Good records go back several generations to Oxford Lad, whose daughter won the certificate of merit for the highest butter-fat test on the Isle of Jersey, from whence some of the ancestors came. One of the ancestors sold for $4,500 and another for $3,500 in June of this year.

An association can buy better bulls than any individual at the least cost per member. The annual show will be held in Walthalla, probably on Nov. 16th.

Over the Farms.

W. B. T. Looney, of the Fairfield section, has a wonderful crop of velvet beans, the Osceola variety, grown with corn and running all over it in great profusion. The large beans hang in great clusters, there seeming to be several pounds to the stalk. Mr. Looney states that three of the bunches weighed two pounds. The corn shows up well also. The only fertilizer applied was stable manure in the drill. The soil seemed to be of only medium fertility.

Blakely King, of Oakway, has corn harvested in shocks along the road near Oakway, and in the middles grows a fine exhibition of the bunch velvet beans, which have made a large growth and have retained their green, growing look throughout the dry spell. Many favorable comments have been heard on this field.

R. L. Shirley, of the Townville section, has probably the best Poland China boar to be found in this section of the county. Mr. Shirley plans to exhibit this animal at the HOME DEMONSTRATION NOTES.

Step Savers.

While many devices in other groups also save steps, there are a few pieces of equipment which may be called distinctly step-savers. Chief among these is the kitchen cabinet, which combines a pantry, table and shelf space into one article of furniture. No one piece of kitchen equipment does more to co-ordinate utensils and working processes than the manufactured kitchen cabinet. The newest models have flour and sugar bins, cereal and spice containers, rack shelf space and adjustable moulding boards. When used with a stool, such a cabinet saves endless steps by grouping within arm's length of the worker both supplies, utensils and tools needed in many kitchen processes.

The serving tray on wheels is another distinctive step-saver. Several models are on the market—some with single, others with double tray, mounted on rubber-tired wheels that can be steered easily. Such a tray enables the home-maker to serve a complete meal with one or possibly two carryings of dishes, or to clear the table with similar ease. This kind of tray can also be used excellently as a stack-table when there is no drain to the right of the sink, or it can be used to wheel clean dishes to the pantry, avoiding constant trips and the dangers attendant on tray carrying. Larger and more massive styles are found in the typical hotel dish-cart, which can be used equally well in the large household.

A unique refrigerator, most excellent in country homes particularly, is a worth-while step-saver. This "elevator ice-box" looks like other small refrigerators, has three compartments, but is operated by clock-work pulleys. It is so installed that the pressure on a button in the floor causes the ice-box to rise up into the kitchen or a similar pressure causes its descent into the cellar. This saves the hundreds of tedious steps entailed by the country home-maker who has to keep many food products "down cellar." And if the cellar is cool, this ice-box can be satisfactorily used even without an ice supply. Any other device or equipment which co-ordinates work, such as these: A tool basket with compartments, a house-maid's bucket with places for rags, soap, powder, etc., speaking tubes or "house" telephones, etc., can be grouped properly under the important head of step-savers, and hence energy and effort savers.

Attempt Assassination Polish Pres.

Lemberg, Sept. 26.—Gen. Joseph Pilsudski, president of the Polish republic, narrowly escaped death by assassination here last night. He was entering an automobile in City Hall Square on his way to a theatre after attending a banquet in his honor, when three shots were fired at him. Gen. Pilsudski was not injured, but Count Grabowski, who was accompanying him, was wounded in the leg.

The president directed his chauffeur to drive to the hospital, and, after being assured that Count Grabowski's wound was not serious, insisted on going to the theatre as he had intended. He was enthusiastically cheered by the audience when he entered.

The would-be assassin attempted suicide, but was arrested before he could end his life.

State Fair and probably at the Southeastern Fair also.

M. C. Grant, of the Townville section, has a good demonstration of proper terracing on a field of medium slope which has been badly gullied. The county agent held a terracing demonstration there last spring, using a farm level and laying off the terraces according to the specifications of the United States Department of Engineering. Mr. Grant showed last week where the heavy rains of a few days ago had been carried gradually off without severe washing or any breaks. The gullies were filled up to the terrace level with scoop pans.

Note.—The county agent will be away from Oct. 4th through the 8th attending the agents' annual meeting at Clemson College, which was postponed from the present week. Geo. R. Briggs, County Agent.

TEXAN INTERESTED IN OCONEE.

And in Waterworks for Walthalla. Issaqueena as Supply Source?

Weatherford, Texas, Sept. 22. Editor Keowee Courier:

Every time I see in the dear old Courier anything said about water I think that I will say something, though it may be worth nothing. It seems to me that you could lay a pipe line from the Issaqueena Falls at the mouth of the old Blue Ridge tunnel, say five inches (or larger) that would flood your town with the fall it has. It seems to me that would be the cheapest and freshest and the purest water you could ever get. But you may say that this is none of my business, and I acknowledge that. People say I live back there. Well, I cannot help it that I was born in your section of the grand old State of South Carolina eighty-two years ago—"and I love her still."

Best regards to The Courier force, its local writers and everybody else. May God bless you all!

Sincerely,
J. Ben Abbott.

Anderson and Wilson to Penitentiary.

Anderson, Sept. 26.—Before Judge Ernest Moore left Anderson for his home in Lancaster he signed an order for Walter Hayes and Ed Wilson to be taken to the penitentiary, where they will remain pending an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Hayes and Wilson got each a sentence of fifteen years for manslaughter for the death of T. F. Ramey. The sheriff stated to-day that Hayes and Wilson are now held in the county jail and will remain there until the guards from Columbia arrive to take the men to the penitentiary.
