There are about seventeen good demoerats wanting the place. But no; there is a bare possibility of a mistake. Some how democrats do not know how to govern, they have held office so little. That is the way we would like to see the national democracy do. Take rank hold of the body politic, and shake it and say: "We are on this thing and we are going to run it, and we are going to run it to Waterloo in 1806.

A War Stery.

In 1861 the * cufederacy issued a call for volunteers. A young man went home and told the spirited little wife of his vouti, that the call had come, and he would have to go. He said: "Oh, don't mind. I will only be gone a few weeks, or months, at the most." He took up the dear little first born; a brown-eved daughter of ten days, and carressed it good bye. The weeks changed into mouths and the months into years. He was wrapped in the smoke of many bat tles, and fell sorely wounded. His name was numbered with the dead. He was crowded with many others upon the deck of a steamer to be sent to Shiloh. As he was lving on the floor, half dazed with pain and loss of blood, a colored girl in traing to push her way across the room, touched his shoulder; he epened his eyes, saw a little girl with a cup of water and, as he was in great thirst, he asked her to give it to him. The little tot promptly complied. Further pleased he asked the mrse: "Whose little girl?" She replied, "Massa Blackburn's." "Where is its mother?" he excitedly asked. "Across in that state-room, sir." pointing to the place. "Tell her," said he, "I want to see her at once." She came, and found $:e wounded soldier, for whose remains she had permission to search the scene of conflict where she thought
