

to begin between all the members of the Senate and myself will be pleasant and agreeable. I shall exert every influence in my power to make them so, and invoke the cordial support of the Senate in the consummation of this purpose. I know that my principal duty will be to enforce the rules which the Senate, of whom I am simply the organ, have made, and this I will endeavor to do with fairness and impartiality. I solicit your forbearance and patience. I realize that my position as presiding officer debar me from the privilege of participating in the debates, and that it will be improper for me to use my official position for the purpose of influencing your legislation, but as a citizen I can but naturally feel an ardent interest in your work, so far as it affects our common mother, the State, and a proper pride in seeing you contribute to her restoration to her place in the front rank of her peers amongst the bright stars of the American galaxy. Such a feeling, I think, should burn in the bosom of every Senator, and you should enter upon the work of regeneration, having ever in view the old Roman maxim, "To take care that the Republic should suffer no detriment at their hands." I suggest that you lay aside all the animosities and turmoils of the past, and forgetting all antagonisms, unite as a common band of brothers for the promotion of the best interests of all classes, races and conditions of the people of the State. Then you may rightfully expect not only to receive the plaudits of your fellow-countrymen, but, when sitting hereafter within the grateful shade of the general prosperity which will flow out of your work, could each look back with just pride to his individual participation in it.

Mr. Jeter then announced to the Chair that the senators from Abbeville, Barnwell, Edgefield and Laurens were present and ready to qualify.

The Senators from those counties (Democrats) then approached the President's desk and presented their credentials.

"Some sensation was created among the Radicals by this, and one of them shouted out a motion to adjourn. Another cried, "Let us do this peaceably."

The President said that every county had a right to be represented in the Senate, and where parties present their credentials they have a right to be sworn in. Those claimants who come last have equal rights with those who come first. Any other construction could be made to prevent an organization of the Senate forever.

Swails demanded whether the Chair intended to override all laws, all rules and all precedents, and went on to make a most indignant speech against the admission of these Democratic Senators.

Mr. Cochran put an end to his effusion by presenting a letter from T. M. Tolbert withdrawing his name to the seat of the Senator from Abbeville, and General Gary also presented one from Lawrence Cain also withdrawing his claim to General Gary's seat.

Colonel Simpson said it was not his intention to override the rules, or the laws or precedents, but he thought it his duty to administer the oath to these claimants. If he was wrong, the Senate was not without its remedy.

Taft then said he would appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

The Chair said an appeal could only lie from a ruling on a point of order, and no point of order had been ruled upon.

The four Senators were then sworn in, and the senate adjourned till to-day.

LOUISIANA MADE FREE.

THE TROOPS REMOVED FROM THE STATE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Friday April 20—10 P. M.—In accordance with the telegraphic promise of today to the members of the Louisiana Commission in New Orleans, the President has just sent the following official letter to the Secretary of War:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, April 20, 1877.

Sir: Prior to my entering upon the duties of the Presidency there had been stationed, by order of my predecessor, in the immediate vicinity of the building used as a State House in New Orleans, La., and known as the Mechanics' Institute, a detachment of the United States Infantry. Finding them in that place, I have thought proper to delay a decision of the question of their removal until I could determine whether the condition of affairs is now such as to either require or justify continued military intervention of the National Government in the affairs of the State. In my opinion there does not now exist in Louisiana such domestic violence as is contemplated by the Constitution as the ground upon which the military power of the National Government may be invoked for the defence of the State.

The disputes which exist as to the right of certain claimants to the executive office of that State are to be settled and determined, not by the Executive of the United States, but by such orderly and peaceable methods as may be provided by the Constitution and laws of the State. Having the assurance that no resort to violence is contemplated, but that, on the contrary, the disputes in question are to be settled by peaceful methods, under and in accordance with law, I deem it proper to take action in accordance with the principles announced when I entered upon the duties of the Presidency.

You are therefore directed to see that the proper orders are issued for the removal of said troops at an early date from the present position to such regular barracks in the vicinity as may be selected for their occupation.

To the Hon. George W. McCrary, Secretary of War.

THE ORDER FOR THE WITHDRAWAL OF THE TROOPS ON TUESDAY NEXT.

Upon the receipt of the President's letter the Secretary of War immediately sent the following order to Gen. Sherman:

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20, 1877.

Gen. Wm. T. Sherman:

GENERAL.—I have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of a communication from the President of the United States, in which he directs that the detachment of United States troops now stationed in the vicinity of the Mechanics' Institute, in the City of New Orleans, Louisiana, be withdrawn to such convenient barracks as may be selected for their occupation. You are hereby charged with the execution of this order, and will cause the withdrawal to take place on Tuesday next, the 24th of April, at 12 o'clock meridian.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
Geo. W. McCrary,
Secretary of War.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The following was sent from headquarters of the military division of the Missouri to General Angur to-day:

CHICAGO, April 21

To General C. C. Angur, New Orleans.

Sir: By direction of the Lieutenant General, the following telegraphic order from the General of the Army is forwarded for your action and guidance. Please report by telegraph upon the execution of the order:

WASHINGTON, April 21.

General P. H. Sheridan, Commanding the Department of the Missouri, Chicago:

You will please order the troops now posted at or in the immediate vicinity of the State House of New Orleans to the United States barracks, on Tuesday, April 24, at 12 M. precisely, and report the fact to headquarters. Copies of the order of the President and Secretary of War will come to you by mail, and another copy will be sent General Angur direct.

(Signed) W. T. SHERMAN, General.

(Signed) R. C. DEVENS, Assistant Adjutant General.

Attention Patrons of Husbandry

A MEETING of the Granges of Union County will be held in the Agricultural Hall on the 6th day of May, for the purpose of organizing a POMONA Grange. The meeting will be opened at 11 o'clock A. M.

It is earnestly requested that every Patron of Husbandry in Union County attend this meeting. The officers of the Granges should see that each Grange is well represented, as upon that meeting will depend, in a great measure, the usefulness, efficiency and success of the order in this County.

Come, brother Farmers, let us assemble together, and see if we cannot unite upon some plan by which the whole farming interests of the County shall be benefited. Let us start with the bright prospects of an honest and economical government, put our shoulders to the wheel, and help take the State out of the slough of despond in which she has stuck for many years.

The Farmers can do more towards the prosperity of the whole State than any other class, if they will. Let us unite in bending all our best energies to that great and glorious work.
