NUMBER 52 The Fisherman's Son.

A gentleman wilking on the beach came across a little boy sitting on the road by himself, looking out on the great ocean. "You like the sea, my boy; do you not ?" "Yes sir; and I hope to follow it when I get bigger."

"It is a hard life, besides being dangerous," said the gentleman. "Yes, sir; but Jesus Christ went to sea, and he knows the dangers; and sometimes he preached out of a chip. I am sure he loves sailors," said the boy. "But that will not hinder you from meeting with storms, and perhaps getting shipwreeked." "Jesus Christ rules the winds and the waves,. He stopped a storm once."

"He does not now," said the gentle-"No, sir, but he will help us to trust in him; and, if we hold on to him, nothing can much harm us," said the boy. "You might be drowned." "Yes, sir." The boy stopped. "But, you know, my soul would then fly up to God; and it is all fair weather up there." "Why, my little man, you are quits a preacher !" said the gentleman. "Father and I often talk these things over," said the little boy; "and when he is gone out fishing and leaves me all "The sweet, quiet, happy face of the little fellow pleased me," said the gentleman ; "and I felt that he had the best of company."

A story is told in Washington at the expense of a well-known Senstor, who is notorious for taking two cocktails in succession before breakfast. One meraing, while the Senator was practising at the Metropolitan bar, a friend put to him the pertinent question, "Seastor, why do you take two cock tails as a custom? Won't one tone you?" The Senator drew himself up. "I will tell you why I take two cock-tails. When I have taken one, it makes me feel like another mau. Well, you see I'm bound by common courtesy to treat that man:

so I take a second." RABBITS .- A farmer near London. Canada West, has two thousand rabbits in a warren five acres in extent. The cost of and attention to be paid to these animals involves an expense of twentyfive cents for each rabbit, and the net profits on the whole warren amount to $5,000 a year. The annual average increase is twenty-five rabbits for each pair. The males, when a year old, are killed and sent in barrels to market at Mon-
