and ice have been in constant demand. Sheriff Riggs carried the prisoners, the Penitentiary, up to Columbia on Wednesday last.

WE know personally of thirteen candidates for the next sheriff of this County. We might say "that many shall offer, but only one can be chosen.'

WE understand that a grand pic-nic was had by the colored portion of the population in the vicinity of Branchville, on Saturday last, at F. W. Fairey's mill.

THEODORE KOHN & BRO., offers extra inducements to purchasers.

Read their advertisement, and be profited by it.

Communism has failed in France and the Charleston Courier very pertimently asks, "what next?"

The Columbia Phanic dubs the Columbia Union the Ku Klux Reporter, and the Union retaliates by dubbing the Phonic the Ku Kluc Defender, and treated to ginger-pop.

A GUEAT SACRIFICE .- Mr. J. P Harley offers his entire stock at a sacrifice. He has on hand a heavy and select supply of goods, of every description, which he proposeses to sell upon the easiest terms Persons wanting good and cheap bargains, can get them by calling at Mr. Harley's.

The communication signed "One Who Knows" from Branchville, in reference to the letter of "Oldster" published in our Bust issue, we decline to insert. Our columns are open for free and honorable discussion ; but "One Who Knows" most learn the honerable part of it preparatory to the commencement of a controversy. He certainly does'nt know it now.

SOMETHING NEW TO GRANGEBURG. In our advertising columns will be found the new and attractive advertisement of Wm M. Sain & Co. Their splendid LIVERY STABLES, which have been in process of completion for some time, are now finished. These gentlemen are now ready to furnish transportation, and do all kinds of hauling upon short notice, and at reasonable prices. A splendid supply of horses, either for the saddle or buggy will always be found on hand. Parties desirous of attending pic-nics can procure transportation from these Stables at moderate rates. In a word, this Company is prepared to furnish, at all times, saddle horses and turnouts splendidly equipped, either for pleasure or business They are expecting, also, a fine supply of horses from Kentucky, which they propose to sell at a small advance. Persons what is better for our County is hereafter, it will not be necessary for any of our citizens, who, after driving their horses twenty or thirty miles through the heat, upon arriving in town, to have to hitch them in the hot broiling sun. For a few dimes they can take them to these stables, have them fed, rubbed down and otherwise taken care of. And after all, these poor dumb animals are just as fond of their dinner, and the shade as their too frequently inconsiderate masters. Messrs. Sain & Co., have added an important improvement to our town, and we predict for them sure suc-TME BIBLE EXPLAINED .- There is some sort of a passage in the Bible which runs, "If thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out," &c. Over this sentence It appears that the mind of a certain gentleman of Branchville, has been seriously exercised for some months past. Anxious to get the views of every expounder of the Gospel upon it, he applied one day to a well known colored theologian of that place, for his interpretation of its meaning. The colored minister feeling highly complimented, answered in much apparant carnestness. "Well, sah, I's glad you ask me dat question, for I've big givin it a good 'cal of study an' tention myself. It were fur a long time dat I were like you, an' couldn't see trough dis sayin' ob d. Scripter, au' I prayed dat I mite see trough it, fur my mind were boddered mightily ober it, an' one time I had de sore eye, an' it were my rite eye too, an' I tought it were jist here whare dis Scripter camed sentenced at the last term of Court to in, an' dat if I were a good christian, I must pluck out my rite eye. But I went prayin, an' ---

"And what? Never mind that long rigmarole, but just tell me what you think this passage in question means," interrupted the exercised gentleman.
