ORANGE PEELINGS.

We were blessed with a delicious shower of rain on Monday last.

See notice to tax-payers from County Auditor Bull.

Dr. Pearson has for sale naphtha oil. See advertisement.

The Columbia Union says "the Orangeburg News was bright and poetical last week."

Our friend, W. M. Sain, has returned to Orangeburg from his visit to the mountains.

"Perogoon Doggeral Reymes," by A. F. Merrin, Esq., are deferred for want of space for our next issue.

Ex Magistrates and Trial Justices had better look sharp, for G. S. Bull, Esq., is after them in another column.

Russell has a new barber with him now. This announcement will be gratifying to those who are too lazy to shave themselves.

Orangeburg has a Temperance Society, be it said to her honor, which promises to grow into a larger one soon. We will give a more extended notice of its origin and progress in our next.

An editor who is a regular "Paul Pry," says that "blue garters are all the go with ladies in his town." We would like to know how he got his information. We are interested.

Charlie Coiter, a youthful colored lad, stabled in the back, Billy Cammel, Thursday last. The offending boy was taken before a Trial Justice, when failing to enter into a proper recognizance he was committed to jail.

We heard a gentleman ask a friend the other day

"If he wasn't fond of music?"

to which the reply that "Some of it would make a Jewswick," was given. How was that for high?

The pet baby of the editor of the Aiken Journal had a birthday and cut a tooth one day last week. We can avoid such scenes as this, because we are a bachelor, and of course—have no pet baby.

The customers of the Citizens' Savings' Bank are requested to send in their Deposit Books to the Assistant Cashier, Mr. Jas. H. Fowles, to have them balanced to June 30th, and interest to that date credited to their accounts.

We notice that a number of our exchanges have copied our "peeling" of last week about "boat-licks; but none of them will admit that they are cursed with a similar melody. Come now, brothers of the quill, as Bill Arp would say, "tote fair." Own up the corn and get to counting. Will our friend of the Union and the Sumter News begin first? Nous verrons.

We have intelligence relative to the condition of the crops from all portions of our County, and not in many years has the prospect for an abundant yield been so flattering. There is not quite the area of Cotton planted that there was last year, but the condition of it is in a glorious condition.

The Corn crop will be the best made in many years, if the seasons continue to be propitious.

D. LOUIS, at the corner, has water-proof umbrellas for sale. We bought our fourth one the other day for this season. For our first three, we found friends who thought they had a better right to them than ourselves,—any how, they took them into their custody. Our last one is all right, for we have our name upon it. Our friend, Mr. Belton Betterson, said he could make it proof against larceny. We tried him and found it just as he said. If a friend wants our umbrella hereafter, he will find our name printed on the inside in large letters, to stare him in the face when he opens it. We would advise all persons who have been blessed with the intimacy of too many friends of the nature of those who think it all right to pick up an acquaintance's umbrella to go to D. Louis, buy one of his water-proofs and let Mr. Betterson have it for a few minutes. Do this and too "could will be made happy," to wit, that of Mr. B. and also of the purchaser.

We said in last week's "Orange Peeling" that "we understood there would be a Religious Concert given at the Presbyterian Church before long." To our use of the word "religious" as an adjective in this connection, we understand objections have been thick and fast, the would-be critics saying that Sacred ought to have been the word. Now we have no disposition to quarrel, as we do not write for the Orangeburg News to please the few. But when such ridiculous objections as the one noted are urged against our writings, we cannot forbear giving them a passing notice, and to show of all the Shameless editors we have, yet tis true, there are as bad abandoned critics too. Now we said "Religious Concert" and we meant just what we said; and we will venture to assert that every person possessed with three grains of common "mother wit" will say that we were correct. Now "sacred" might have been sweeter to euphony with the few, but that would not have made it any more correct than the term "religious."

But we will let Webster settle the matter. He says religious means anything "concerned with religion; teaching or setting forth religion; set apart to religion; as a religious society; a religious sect; a religious place; religious wears, etc. Sacred he defines "as not profane or common; as, a sacred place; a sacred day; sacred service, etc."

If this doesn't show that the two terms are synonymous, then we don't know what synonyms are. If it is correct to say a religious society, a religious place, religious wars, &c., it is equally correct to say a Religious Concert, the only difference of the two words depending altogether upon euphony. On the other hand, it is equally correct to say Sacred Concert; but how in the name of common sense it can be incorrect to speak of a Concert as a Religious one, we fail to understand, especially when it is gotten up for a Religious purpose.

But let us stop with this petty stuff. We ought not to notice such, but some how or other we have done so. We recollect having seen once at school a boy's copy book in which the well known adage, "Evil communicatious corrupt good manners" was written by his teacher. We looked down the page at the boy's writing, and discovered that he had spelled communication every time with a k instead of a c. We asked him "why he did not follow the copy?" He replied "if my teacher spells wrong, that is no reason why I should." We left the fourth to his delectable conceit.

The following beautiful lines which appeared in the Charleston News of Monday last, are from the pen of our talented fellow-townsmen, Augustus B. Knowlton, Esq:

A Pine-Land Memory.

Oh! tender hearts of days gone by, Oh! loving souls that round me twine, How warm about my heart ye lie, As I ride home beneath the pines! The waning moon is thin and far, How far she seems, yet how divine! And here and there comes forth a star, As I ride home beneath the pines.

I shout with joy as on I ride, Swiftly, nor heeding path nor sign, As I ride home beneath the pines.

Hark! there is Pluto's friendly bay— See! there the home-lights, greeting, shine— The wife awaits, the children play, And I ride home beneath the pines!

THE BOLIN COTTON PRESS.—Jas. P. Bolin, Esq., of our County, has succeeded in obtaining a Patent Right for his invention, and is now making arrangements to build three presses, and to dispose of the rights to Counties, and singly. A miniature model is on exhibition at the store of John A. Hamilton, Esq. The press is an achievement of a vigorous and fruitful brain, and commends itself for simplicity, durability, economy and power. A lever worked by two hands turns an upright shaft, upon which a rope, which extends to and over a six-foot wheel, the revolutions of which coil two other ropes around its axle in opposite directions, and contract together two levers, which force the fl-low block upwards, and compress a 500 pound bale in four minutes. The power of the Bolin Press as built for ordinary packing is 576,000 pounds, and is equally adjusted, as to require little exertion to perform the required work. Mr. Bolin's card appears in this paper, and we hope that his valuable invention will secure for him that reward which perseverance and ingenuity deserves.

MARKET REPORTS.

OFFICE OF THE ORANGEBURG NEWS, June 23, 1871. COTTON—Sales during the week 40 bales. We quote: Ordinary.....15 @ Low Middling.....17 @ Middling.....18 @ Rotten Rice.....$1.80 per bushel. Corn.....$1.10 per bushel. Cow Peas.....75 per bushel. PINEAPPLES.....$1.40 per bushel.

BOLEN'S LEVER COTTON PRESS.

HAVING RECEIVED A PATENT FOR MY PRESS, I AM PREPARED TO TAKE CONTRACTS FOR BUILDING THE SAME. THIS COTTON PRESS has a capacity of 576,000 POUNDS, is simple of Construction, Compact and Durable, occupies a comparatively small space, is worked by only TWO HANDS and will PACK A 500 POUND BALE IN FOUR MINUTES. I append Certificates of gentlemen in Orangeburg who have my Press in use, and I unhesitatingly pronounce it the best Press in use for Cotton Packing.

SEIGER'S UNADULTERATED ALE AND LAGER BEER.

LAGER BEER, CONTAINING COPPER, IRON and ALUM, are the latest adulterations discovered in New-York.

Professor Mapes of New-York, analyzed the Beer from a dozen different Breweries, and all were found adulterated with noxious substances. It is said, that the sale of Drugs to Brewers, is a profitable part of the trade. This is perfectly infamous Cocculus indicus (fish berry) nux-vomica, (dog button) from which strychnine is obtained, are some of the deleterious substances found in Beer! These are potent poisons, and the Brewer found using them should be drowned at once in one of his own vats.

P. Seiger, an willing to be drowned in my own vat, if any impurities should be found in my Beer.

I shall continue to make a healthful Beverage, so that it may be drank by the most delicate without the least danger. JOHN C. SEIGER, Columbia, S. C. For sale in Orangeburg by the case or otherwise, by MERONEY & SAIN. jan 7 c 1y
