Knowlton, of the Orangeburg News is both a philosopher and a man of humor. He has lately been a candidate on the straight out radical ticket in the municipal elections, in Orangeburg, and ended the fight as he says with "hid out candidates" including of course himself. The independent ticket proved too hard in the contest for the Race, and our contemporary, after attributing his individual defeat to the fact that his opponent wore spectacles only occasionally, whilst he was compelled to wear them all the time, very feelingly says, "We have met the enemy—and we were he!" It would certainly be more pleasant, to say, "We have met the enemy and he is ours," but the facts our spotted contemporary think's won't warrant it.—Clarendon Press.

As we predicted, the Bourbons were up to all manner of rascality from the time the polls opened until after noon, when the result became plainly apparent, their funds run low, and their courage cooled out with their corrupting greenbacks. The fraudulent voting yesterday was almost entirely on the Democratic side. Such shameless, open bribery, and wholesale violation of law, has seldom been witnessed in a free country.

Democrats stood by the polls all day offering money to bribe ignorant and intoxicated voters. Democratic repeaters ranged over the city and cast their infamous ballots wherever it was possible. Lost to self-respect, love of justice or right, crowds of Bourbon dupes surrounded certain polls and threatened violence to the Managers. Disgusted with their associates, many respectable Democrats changed their minds and voted the Republican ticket. At least five hundred white men who voted for Wagner two years ago cast their ballots yesterday for Cunningham. The tide of reform in Charleston sets in strongly today. The city is redeemed. An oppressive oligarchy has been most effectually beaten. Thanks to working Republicans and the common sense of the people.—Charleston Chronicle.

AUGUSTUS B. KNOWLTON,
EDITOR.

GEORGE BOLIVER,
FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS MANAGER.

Official Paper of the State and of Orangeburg County.

THE ORANGEBURG NEWS HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION THAN ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE COUNTY.

SATURDAY, OCT. 4, 1873.

Each party in Charleston charges the other with fraud in the recent Municipal Election. We were not there and don't know anything about it. But the idea that Democrats are all saints and the Republicans all sinners is the merest bosh. We haven't a word of defense for fraud of any kind, by whomsoever perpetrated. And we think it quite as likely that one party cheated as the other. Let the disgrace cover those who have deserved it. If the Republicans cheated let them be punished; if the Democrats cheated, but didn't cheat quite enough—why, they have been punished already. If they both cheated, let the devil take the hindmost.

It looks like a bad piece of business

When the South ceases her endeavors to do what she can not do, and undertakes in good earnest to do what she can do, she will have taken the first step toward an assured and glorious prosperity. Since the war she has persistently endeavored to rival the North in the establishment of insurance Companies and has signally failed. Insurance Companies flourish only in rich communities where they can do a large business and where opportunities for prompt and safe investments are at hand on every side. The Southern Companies as a general thing appeal to a pretty idea of patriotism, but that won't support widows and orphans. The old and wealthy Companies of the North write numerous policies here, and do all their home business beside—while Southern Companies do only a part of the Southern business and write no policies at the North. Confidence is a plant of slow growth all the world over, and years must elapse before any Southern Life Insurance Company will be able to command the business which flows so readily to the rich and well known corporations at the North.

What the South wants is help at once. Her needs are present and pressing ones—needs of today. It is well enough to care for widows and orphans—but the whole family is in want now. Insurance Companies provide for the future. We need help this moment. And that help is to come from ourselves or not at all. We must draw as many dollars as possible from the North and elsewhere, and suffer only the smallest possible number of dollars to find their way back. We must raise our own provisions—this would keep hundreds millions of dollars at home every year. We must manufacture at least half of our own Cotton—this would draw hundreds of millions every year from Europe and the North, over and above the price we now receive for the raw staple. This would soon give us a nucleus of capital—which again would soon draw other capital to itself. Entering, go ahead, business men would settle among us, bringing with them their families and yet more capital;—Our lands would increase rapidly in value, and the South would soon be the richest section of the richest country in the world.

[COMMUNICATED.] Sunday School Celebration.

AT JERUSALEM CHURCH SEPT. 27TH, 1873.

The procession was formed at 10 o'clock A. M., with a most beautiful banner at the head of the column, borne by Miss Jeraldine Rhame and Master Lee Irick, inscribed with the motto, "Feed my Lambs"; and marched to the Church singing "Happy Day." After being seated in the Church, that sweet and most soul stirring old song, "Let us walk in the light of God," was sung, and prayer offered up by Rev. Mr. Zimmerman.

The worthy and efficient Superintendent Mr. A. P. Avinger, then introduced the speakers in the following order, Walter A. Dantzer, John Avinger, L. R. Avinger, Lee Irick, Willie Rhame and Jeff Irick. Walter A. Dantzer, received the first award of merit, John Avinger second, L. R. Avinger award for best attendance, Lee Irick a prize for second best attendance, Jeff Irick a prize of merit by a friend.

GIRLS—Jeraldine Rhame a prize for best attendance, Oceola Avinger prize for second best attendance.

The School was then addressed by Mr. Zimmerman Dantzer in a chaste and eloquent style, taking for his theme the life and character of our Savior from his infancy. The class was also addressed by the Rev. Mr. Zimmerman from Ecclesiastes 12th Chap. 1st verse, "Remember now thy creation in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." This discourse was replete with most excellent and salutary advice to the young, and was edifying and interesting to all present.

The assembly was then dismissed with the usual benediction, and invited to partake of a most splendid Pic-Nic dinner furnished for the occasion by the liberal patrons of the School, which certainly reflected great credit on the good taste of the contributors, as well as satisfying the keen appetites of the partakers. We must add before concluding this account, that the worthy superintendent, Mr. A. P. Avinger, and Miss Electra Griffin the principal teacher, deserve the highest praise for the manner in which they discharged their several duties. O how important it is to bring up our children in the way that they should go. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God" says our Savior: And how pure are the hearts of these little innocents, sustained by the vices that corrupt and ruin the souls of adult mortals; and uncontaminated by the lust of the world, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life: Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven. And we too, unless we preserve that child-like innocence of character, purity of heart, and spotless nature, cannot ever hope to enter there. The rising generation must soon take our places in Church, and State, and all the vocations of life: How important it is then that we should leave them a good legacy. They are the future hope and promise of this great country. If men and women would obey God, and raise their children up in the fear and admonition of the Lord, this great world would soon be evangelized, and the Millennium of God ushered in.

ASHLAND.

The Georgetown Planet is a live paper, and whosoever does its correspondence from Columbia, does it well. "Hermes," evidently keeps sharply up to the times, and writes with a good deal of vigor. How far correct he may be in his surmise we cannot say, but of this much we can speak, that he keeps the subscribers of the Planet pretty well advised of the gossip work of the streets. His idea of the scaling process is elaborate, at any rate, and as all such matters are of interest, we copy this part of the letter.

"It has been openly charged that the administration are active members of the bond ring which has almost succeeded in securing the levy of a tax, which if levied will be disastrous to the business interests of the State. "It is stated that these decisions, the one forbidding a judge to stay the collection of any tax, the other compelling the comptroller-general to levy a tax to pay the accrued interests upon the bond of the ring aggregating $3,700,000, were planned and executed by and through the influence of the administration. These statements are utterly false, as every act of the administration so far has proved, as their present attitude attests, and as the future course will show.

"I am satisfied that no such tax will be levied before the meeting of the Legislature, even though the freedom of the officers charged with the ordering of the levy is confined to a jail yard, and even though the levy should be made and the tax collected, the bond ring will need more authority than that contained in these decisions to draw their share of the spoil from the treasury of the State."

"The administration is a unit in favor of an equitable adjustment of the debt and for that purpose the extra session will be called. Many plans for the settlement of this debt have been proposed I am not certain that any one of them has yet been decided upon.

"This seems the most feasible.

"The total debt, floating and funded, amounts to about $21,000,000, as follows:
Bonded debt.....	$16,000,000 00
Accrued interest.....	2,500,000 00
Floating debt.....	2,500,000 00
Total.....	$21,000,000 00

Unquestionably valid debt as decided by the courts $10,000,000 scaled at 66¢ on the dollar.....$6,666,666 66 20
Doubtful $6,000,000 at 33¢.....2,000,000 00
Floating at 50¢.....1,250,000 00
Accrued interest in same proportion.....1,354,666 00
Total.....$11,271,332 00
or in round numbers $12,000,000

An annual tax of six mills upon the dollar upon a taxable basis of $160,000,000 will pay the interest as it accrues and extinguish the principal at maturity without any further taxation.

"It is proposed to place in the hands of the bondholders in exchange for the bond he now holds a bond which will be an unquestionably safe investment."

Charleston Redeemed.

The most reliable accounts from the "City by the Sea," bring the gratifying intelligence of a triumphant Republican victory. What the exact vote on either side happens to be we are unable to tell at this moment of writing, but the doleful lamentations of the Jeremiah of the Democratic press, and the fearful howling it has set up in its old political graveyard leave no doubt of the complete and overwhelming defeat the opposition has suffered. Charleston is once more in the hands of the Republican party. The national colors of our invincible organization float unchallenged above the dome of her regenerated municipality.

The forebodings of a beaten and disgraced opposition are by no means uncommon under the circumstances. We have no doubt that the confidence of the Daily News and Courier in the ability and integrity of Mr. Cunningham will be fully approved, and that in the able board of aldermen which supports him he will find his strong right arm served to rebuild the waste places and restore the rosy blush of health and prosperity to the wan cheek of her bankrupt treasury.

The victory destroys the last hope of the Democracy in this State. Their stronghold is carried and Carthage is no more.—Union-Herald.

The Municipal Election in Charleston.

THE REPUBLICANS VICTORIOUS.

The rout of the Democratic cohorts and the success of the Republican ticket was complete. Although the Democracy made every possible exertion, and used every possible means in their power both fair and foul, the Republicans came out with 1,300 majority for Cunningham. The total vote, as far as given by the News and Courier of yesterday, was 11,512, of which Wagner received 4,987 and Cunningham 6,525. There are eight wards in the city, of which the Republicans carried six, and perhaps seven. The first ward was carried by the Democrats by ninety votes, and in the seventh ward, which polled 459 votes, they claim 27 majority. This was surely worth fighting for, and by it Charleston has redeemed itself. It never would have been lost but for the divisions and contentions in our own ranks. Had it been a Democratic success the "agent" of the associated press would, doubtless not have failed to send the news to this city.—Union-Herald.

The first Ku-Klux before North Carolina State courts came off before Judge Watts, of Johnson County Supreme Court, this week, and resulted in the conviction of the guilty parties of murder. Two men, one white and the other colored, went disguised to a colored man's house and whipped him to death on 6th of September. They were convicted to-day, and sentenced to be hanged on the 13th of November.

DIVISION ROOM,
PINE GROVE DIVISION, S. of T.
WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God, in his inscrutable Wisdom, to remove from our midst by sickness, of which he was a martyr for many months, our friend and Brother, F. C. O. Miller, but while we bow in humble submission we are constrained to drop a tear of sorrow:

BE IT, THEREFORE, RESOLVED, That in the death of Bro. Miller this society has lost a zealous member; the church a consistent Christian, and the community a good neighbor.

RESOLVED, That this Division wear the usual badge of mourning thirty days.

RESOLVED, That a blank page be inscribed in our minute book to his memory.

That a copy of these proceedings be sent to his family, and that they be published in the Orangeburg Times.

AN MEMORIAM.

ACROSTIC.

Reposing in peace, like some drooping flower
Under the leaves, under the sky;
The light and the hope and the joy of each hour,
Has gone to her home on high:
While memory folds her gossamer wings,
In prayer, over her closing eye;
Like an angel, she gathers the heavenly things,
Like a star, she shines, on high.
If her golden youth, has faded too fast
And gone from this world of strife,
May sorrow perhaps, not have cruelly cast,
Some shadow across her life.
