

LOCAL.

SATURDAY, OCT. 11, 1873.

We learn that a New Street is to be opened soon. Why not at once?

Base ball-ism and another —ism carry the County.

William Cannon is doing a good business.

The Fair Building is nearing completion. A fair set of men are at the head of it, and success ought to follow.

There are but forty candidates so far for the next Legislature. Somebody will win.

Rowe's Pump is to be incorporated at the next session of the General Assembly.

There is some talk of establishing an Orphan's Court for this County. It may be a money-saving idea.

Where is our Branchville local? Has he lost his pen, or his memory?

Blankets and overcoats are indispensable now—the former in the night, and the latter of course in the day.

Our friend, W. T. Muller has moved to this plantation. He was a successful merchant, and we predict a career for him as a farmer equally as brilliant.

W. M. Sain is having the lumber and trash cleared from the grounds where the old Soap Factory used to stand. Bill is an energetic fellow.

All the lager beer drinkers called on Frank Briggmann a few moments after a keg was tapped. Why is this thus? Frank, do you keep good lager?

APPOINTMENT—A. F. Browning Esq., has been appointed Lieutenant Colonel of the Tenth Regiment N. G., S. C.

We observe that Mrs. Meroney the tasty and capable hostess of Meroney's popular hotel, has received a handsome and elegant carriage from Columbia.

W. A. Meroney arrived home from Baltimore during the last week. A large trunk of goods followed after him. Customers had better look well to their interests.

On passing Lewisville a few days ago we heard a passenger say: "This place is growing." We thought the man was a fool. Who doesn't know that our sister town is a great one.

Augustus Fischer's Saloon will soon be the finest in the County. With his genial smile, his affable and polite co-adjutor Mr. John T. Butler, and his superb stock of liquors, he must command the patronage of the County.

Mayor Moseley presides as Mayor with a great deal of dignity. He is a fair man, and although we fought him in the late contest, we are, after experiencing a few weeks of his rule as Mayor, willing to say: We'll sin no more—not against Pink, any how.

Judge Cooke arrived in Town on Monday last. In consequence of Judge Graham being detained home by sickness, it was thought that he would sit at the present term of Court. Judge Cooke is looking well and many of his old friends were gratified to meet him.

MONEY—During the week past money has been pretty scarce, but not as much so as the week before. Cotton is coming in again and a new life seems to be coming over Orangeburg. Our opinion about the recent crisis is simply this; Our dear merchants are sound, and the cotton holders safe.

The case of the State against Price for murder committed in the year 1861, was tried on Thursday last. Augustus B. Knowlton Esq., for the defense and Malcolm I. Browning Esq., for the prosecution. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty within five minutes after leaving the Court room. The testimony for the State was not of a character to warrant a conviction. The case was ably prosecuted by Mr. Browning, and at one time hope burned low in the bosom of the prisoner, and those of his friends who were present. The charge of His Honor was able and to the point.

Judge T. C. Andrews Senator from this County was in Town a day or two during the last week. He is looking remarkably well, and designs doing all he can as Senator and with his paper, to adjust the debt of the State in a manner beneficial to the Tax payers. The people made no mistake in electing Judge Andrews, Senator. Loag may he wave.

CHRISTIAN DIEDRICK KORTJOHN—Our friend lives yet and is jolly as ever. Has as many friends as in days of yore, and makes new ones every day. Once purchase a bill of groceries or liquors at his store, and you will never pass him thereafter.

With a complete and first class stock, a polite and affable set of clerks, Mr. Kortjohn will merit the patronage of his large corp of customers.

P. V. Dibble Esq., having been appointed Deputy Collector U. S. Internal Revenue for Orangeburg County requests us to state for the information of persons dealing in Liquor or Tobacco that the law requires the payment and posting conspicuously at their places of business of them stamps (conveniently called license) before commencing business.

Planters paying their hands in Liquor or Tobacco are subject to the tax. Violations of the law render parties to heavy penalties.

PERSONAL—It is pleasant to see upon the judicial bench gentlemen of integrity as well as ability. Nothing is more gratifying to a people than to know that the Judge who presides over them is a fearless and able expounder of the law; faithful to himself, his country, and the high obligation of his oath.

Our Circuit is peculiarly blest in this way. In the person of His Honor, R. F. Graham one can recognize at once all those traits which contribute towards making a man loved and respected. As a Judge he is faithful, honest and intelligent; as a gentleman, of the finest social qualities, he is pre-eminent. We could ask no more of the Legislature than to give Judge Graham to us for life.

During the dull summer months one comfort was left the followers of Bacchus. Times were hard in July and August. September it was believed, would bring a better era. Sure enough, the hope which kept some timid people up, was realized last month. With September came our good jovial and honest friend, Frank Briggmann, and what followed his reappearance in this good old Town, the public know. Suffice it to say, that Frank has opened at Muller's old and popular stand, and offers one of the finest stocks of Groceries, Liquors and Segars to be had in Orangeburg.

Frank laughs yet, and has not forgotten to promise to let the people know what he has through the medium of the "News." He will show his face through its columns next week.

COURT—Commenced on Wednesday last. His Honor Judge Graham could not get here on Monday in consequence of sickness. Business has been exceedingly brisk, and criminals have had their eyes open (or opened.)

Mr. Malcolm I. Browning the acting Solicitor, has been up to his ears in business in behalf of the State, and many persons believe that he can prosecute as well as defend.

The following business was disposed of up to yesterday noon.

State vs. W. A. O' Cain, obstructing highway. Guilty.

State vs. Nelson Barton, burglary and larceny. Guilty.

State vs. Robert Price, murder. Not guilty.

State vs. Martin Yon and Susan Yon, murder. Not guilty.

State vs. Rodney Shuler, petit larceny. Not pros.

State vs. Calclough and Edward Glover, burglary and larceny. Struck off.

State vs. Martin Murphy, assault with intent to commit rape. Not guilty.

State vs. Wade H. Reed, assault with intent to kill. Not Guilty.

State vs. T. Alexander, assault and false imprisonment. Not guilty.

State vs. Henry Bush burglary and larceny. Plead Guilty.

State vs. Laval Pauling, burglary and larceny. Not guilty.

State vs. James Cannon Sr., assault with intent to kill. Not guilty.

State vs. Sam Dickson, malicious wounding of Hogs. Plead guilty.

State vs. Larkin Staley, assault with intent to rape. Plead guilty of assault.

State vs. Henry Smith, assault with intent to kill and assault and battery. Guilty.

State vs. Joella Cannon, assault and battery. Guilty. Sentenced to jail for twenty days.

Even cheese and tobacco are pressed for money at this time.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 20th, 1870.
