

Another Pipe of Tobacco.

TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH BY AUGUSTUS B. KNOWLTON.

PUFF I.

THE MONARCHY OF JULY.

The veritable triumph of tobacco, in France, dates from 1830; the smoker, before that time, was looked upon as beyond the pale of society—eccentric, original, an oddity.

In 1830 we became more or less Muscularian, Spanish, German; we imitated foreign literature and aped foreign manners.

The Oriental created the school of the chibouk. How abstain from cigarettes while reading Clara Gazul or chanting Alfred de Musset's "Marquise d'Amaigu?"

The cigar and the pipe were prominent in the terrible orgies of that time. Orgies are now matters of the past; romanticism is no more; but cigarettes, the pipe and the cigar remain.

PUFF II.

NOW-A-DAYS.

Now-a-days everybody smokes. Paris is full of divans; the number of smoking-rooms has more than trebled within a few years.

In all well appointed establishments there is a room sacred to smokers—a fumatorium set apart for the joys of the cigar.

Men apologize for not smoking. The cigar is almost aristocratic, and the pipe itself does not lack a certain air of respectability.

Tobacco has entered into our manners. It has become a fact. It may be discussed, pro and con, for everything in, but that is all.

Let us see.

PUFF III.

THAT THE CIGAR ENERVATES.

Enervates whom? Enervates what?

If, in good sooth, the present generations are not morally and physically equal to those of the past, must we accuse the cigar?

All that may be said against the cigar may be said also of coffee. But did coffee enervate Voltaire?

Balance, who drank a bowl of cold coffee every night as a stimulant, published a violent tract against tobacco; which proves that Balzac did not like the stimulus of tobacco—and nothing more.

You will say that the cigar is a narcotic, and not a stimulant.

With your permission, it is both.

Do you suppose that a person who swallows a quart of coffee at night can be other wise than somewhat nervous the next morning?

That the cigar is fatal to imagination! One would hardly believe so, to see the vast number of paintings, books, symphonies and operas which are brought forth every day.

PUFF IV.

THE CIGAR INTERFERES WITH SOCIAL AND DOMESTIC RELATIONS.

Since the cigar has become so general there is no visiting; husbands leave their wives at home alone, and pass their evenings at the clubs or anywhere where smoking is permitted.

Some good souls believe that the cigar is responsible for all adulteries and runaway wives and husbands.

To which we may reply: Why do men not go into society? Because society is a bore.

Why do men leave their homes? Because home is a bore.

Do men render society agreeable, elegant woman so that she may converse with them for a quarter of an hour, give her to understand that she is not a plaything, an object of luxury, but a friend, a comrade, a companion, and you will soon find there will be fewer clubs and fewer societies.

You take the effect for the cause, my excellent moralist, and that is not the way to reason.

PUFF V.

In one word, all these declamations against tobacco lack common sense.

THE CITIZENS' SAVINGS BANK.—The closing of the Charleston branch of this bank, yesterday, was in accordance with instructions received from the main office in Columbia, and in obedience to the order of Judge Carpenter, which enjoined the bank from paying out any money until the suit commenced by the County Treasurer of York County has been argued and determined.

THE ORANGEBURG NEWS

AUGUSTUS B. KNOWLTON, EDITOR.

GEORGE BOLIVER, FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS MANAGER.

Official Paper of the State and of Orangeburg County.

THE ORANGEBURG NEWS HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION THAN ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE COUNTY.

SATURDAY, NOV. 29, 1873.

John H. Evans, Esq., has retired from the editorial control of the Carolina Spartan, and Col. T. Stobo Farrow succeeds thereto.

All classes of our citizens will learn with regret of the legal proceedings recently instituted in Columbia against the Citizens Saving Bank, and will hope, with us, that the pending application for an injunction may result favorably to the Bank.

From all that we can learn the facts in the case are about as follows: A gentleman from Yorkville demanded payment at the headquarters of the bank in Columbia, where he had no funds deposited, of a check for some $4,500, stating that he had a deposit to that amount in the Branch of the Bank at Yorkville.

It affords us pleasure in this connection to speak of the able manner in which the duties of Cashier for the Orangeburg Branch of the Bank have been discharged by James H. Fowles, Esq., whose high personal character has, of itself, been sufficient to inspire the most implicit confidence in so much of the Bank's business as was under his own control.

Mr. Fowles is in no way responsible for the action of the Bank elsewhere than at Orangeburg. So far as the management here is concerned we are satisfied that no better exhibit can be made by any other bank in the State.

A correspondent of the News & Courier says:

The interest in the gubernatorial election of next fall is being increased from day to day. The question is, shall Frank Moses be renominated by the Republicans or not? There are several Republican candidates whose names are spoken of as possible antagonists to Moses.

Of these are C. D. Melton, Senator Robertson, Attorney-General Melton and Judge John T. Green, of Sumter. Judge Graham's name is also mentioned. Senator Robertson is regarded as the most available man, if he will consent to enter the field. He has some fine running qualities for a Republican. He has never stolen anything, has ever been affable and accommodating, and he has a strong desire to regain entirely the confidence of the better class of the community. The only drawback to Robertson is his health. He says that his nervous system is in such a condition that he could not well undergo the excitement of a State canvass. C. D. Melton, it is said, cannot afford to give up his profession. Attorney-General Melton has already a more lucrative post, and the candidate to oppose Moses must, therefore, be found in some other quarter, unless reasons can be found to induce some of those named to change their views.

Under the heading "The List of the Loyal" who were Union men in this State during the war, the Charleston News & Courier of the 24th instant says:

The United States commissioner of claims has just issued a stout pamphlet giving the list of Southern claims and claimants for government indemnity now on file in his office.

"In all but a few cases the claimants herein named have declared upon oath that, from the beginning to the end of the late rebellion, their sympathies were constantly with the cause of the United States; that they never, of their own free will and accord, did anything, or offered or sought to do anything, by word or deed, to injure said cause or retard its success; and that they were at all times ready and willing to aid and assist the cause of the Union, so far as their means and the circumstances permitted."

The list of claimants from this County, with the amounts claimed, is as follows:

- Darling P. Blume, 1,668; S. A. Culclasure, 1,480; Wesley W. Caller, 4,056; Daniel D. Davis, 901; Jacob Fogle, 1,285; Jos. Funderburk, 4,930; E. M. Jackson, 5,000; William Joyner, 1,239; Hy. Livingston, 1,321; Max Livingston, 1,593; C. M. McMichael, 3,341; Est. of M. O'Carin, 2,687; David Smoak, 1,016; Henry L. Smoak, 1,552; Jacob Smoak, 1,000; L. Wissenhart, 1,022; Geo. W. Wilson, 3,310.

War News.

NEW YORK, November 26. Secretary Robeson reached the Brooklyn navy yard at noon to day, in company with the naval constructor. They visited the "Colorado" and expressed themselves satisfied with the manner in which the work was going on.

MADRID, November 26. The official newspaper justifies the execution of the Virginians captives, and cites as a precedent for the action of the Spanish authorities a circular, issued by the United States Government during its civil war, declaring that the Confederate privateers were "pirates."

HAVANA, November 26. The official Gazette to-day publishes a communication addressed by the Spanish colonial minister, on the 24th instant, to the political governor of the island, directing his immediate compliance with an alleged telegram from the Spanish Government, dated September 15, ordering the release of the embargoed estates of foreigners.

A LEGAL VIEW OF THE CASE.

The Hon. Rowdy Johnson is out in a letter reviewing the circumstances connected with the capture of the Virginians. In common with civilized men everywhere he thinks the execution of the captives at Santiago de Cuba was barbarous in the extreme, and an outrage on the sacred laws of humanity. He believes, however, that the capture of the Virginians and the subsequent conduct of the captors involve questions by no means suited to the discussion of town meetings, but which should be left now to the deliberation of the President and Cabinet, at the council board, where a just conclusion is most likely to be reached as to what the rights and the honor of the nation demand.

Notice is hereby given to all concerned, that on the 30th day of December, A. D. 1873, the undersigned will file their final Accounts as Executors of the Will of the said John M. Irick, and will apply to the Probate Judge of Orangeburg County, for their final discharge.

ble to the United States for their execution, as she would have been if she had gotten possession of the men by the invasion of our territory. Mr. Johnson says a warm tribute to Castelar, but says he must see that an upright warrior with the United States would frustrate his patriotic designs.

The reasons why I refuse to follow further the forlorn banner of democracy are in brief as follows: It is a chronic, utter, and disastrous failure—a very Lysis Fatuus, leading its blinded followers at every step into deeper gloom.

There is neither statesmanship nor patriotism in such a warfare—or in following the fortunes of such a forlorn, fragmentary party.

Sheriff's Office. Orangeburg C. H. S. C., Nov. 15th, 1873.
