THE CITIZENS' SAVINGS BANK .-The closing of the Charleston branch of this bank, yesterday, was in accordance with instructions received from the main office in Columbia, and in obedience to the order of Judge Carpenter, which enjoined the bank from paying out any money until the suit commenced by the County Treasurer of York County has been argued and determined. The officers of the Charleston Branch state that the financial affairs of the bank are in good condition, and that the balance account had improved so much within the past thirty days that they had it in contemplation to remove the restriction of fourteen days' notice from depositors, to which, under the charter, they were entitled, and which, in view of the recent stringency of the money market. they have been exacting. It is supposed that the injunction will be removed in a few days, and the business of the bank will then go on as usual .- Charleston

All classes of our citizens will learn with regret of the legal proceedings recently instituted in Columbia against the Citizens Saving Bank, and will hope, with us, that the pending appli cation for an injunction may result favorably to the Bank.

From all that we can learn, the facts in the case are about as follows: A gentleman from Yorkvil'e demanded payment at the headquarters of the bank in Columbia, where he had no lunds deposited, of a c'eck for some $4,500, stating that he had a deposit to that amount in the Branch of the Bank at Yorkville. He was informed that the sheek would be paid upon proper proof of his personal identity (he being unknown to the officers of the Bank) and also upon proof that such a sum was to his credit in Yorkville, whereupon he withdrew, saying that he would call again. He fail d, however, to reappear. and the next thing the Bank knew of the matter was the commencement of the

The interest in the gubernatorial election of next fall is being increased from day to day. The question is, shall Frank Moses be renominated by the Republicans or not? There are several Republican candidates whose names are spoken of as possible antagouists to Moses. Of these are C. D. Melton, Senator Robertson, Attorney-General Melton and Judge John T. Green, of Sumter. Judge Graham's name is also mentioned. Senator Robertson is regarded as the most available man, if he will consent to enter the field. He has some fine running qualities for a Republican. He has never stolen anything, has ever been affable and accommodating, and he has a strong desire to regain entirely the confidence of the better class of the community. The only drawback to Robertson is his health. He says that his nervous system is in such a condition that he could not well undergo the excitement of a State canvass. C. D. Melton, it is said, cannot afford to give up his profession. Attorney-General Melton has already a more lucrative post, and the sandidate to oppose Moses must, therefore, be found in some other

A LEGAL VIEW OF THE CASE. The Hon. Reverdy Johnson is out in a letter reviewing the circumstances connected with the capture of the Vir-In common with civilized men everywhere he thinks the execution of the captives at Santiago de Cuba was barbarous in the extreme, and an outrage on the sacred laws of humanity He believes, however, that the capture of the Virginius and the subsequent conduct of the captors involve questions by no means suited to the discussion of town meetings, but which should be left now to the deliberation of the President and Cabinet, at the council board, where a just conclusion is most likely to be reached as to what the rights and the henor of the nation demand. For the reason that public indignation meetings seem to be a reflection upon the President he will decline to particiin them He considers the question in its legal aspect, refers to the efforts of our government which led to the establishment of the principle that American vessels cannot be searched in time of peace, and expresses the opinion that if the Virginius carried the American flag and was regularly documented as an American vessel, and was on the high seas when captured, her capture was illegal and contrary to the public law, as understood, it is believed, not only by England and the United States, but by all nations, including Spain. He further says it will be no justification of the capture that the object of the enterprise was to render assistance to the Cuban insurgents. If that was the case, the offence, at the time of the capture, was a violation of the neutrality laws of the United States, and not of the sovereignty of Spain, and the United States alone possessed jurisdiction over the subject. The capture therefore he thinks was as gross a disregard of the authority of the United States as it would have been if the Tornade had seized her in the harbor of New York; and she was as much under the protection of our government in the one case as in the other. The Virginius crew and passengers not, having been legally captured were not prisoners of war, and were as much ex-quarter, unless reasons can be found to and Spain is, consequently, as responsi-

bte to the United States for their execu tion, as she would have been if she had gotten possession of the men by the invasion of our territory. Mr. Johnson pays a warm tribute to Castelar, but says he must see that an unrighteous war with the United States would frus trate his patriotic designs. On the other hand he believes that "President Grant, equally just and patriotic, and necessarily desirous that the Republic of Spain may be continued, will avoid demanding of her any apology or indemnity inconsistent with her rights and honor, and not necessary to maintain our

The reasons why I refuse to follow further the forlorn banner of democracy are in brief as follows: It is a chronic, utter, and disastrous failure-a very Ignis Fatuus, leading its blinded followers at every step into deeper gloom. For sixteen years past it has tried to elect a president, each time confidently promising victory to its followers, and each time deceiving them with a miserable failure. It has ceased to be a national party, and become mere querilla bands. waging here and there, in a few States, Congressional Districts, and counties, an incoherent, aimless and desperate war. It is on its last legs, but still gives forth a feeble crow, reminding us of nothing so much as the recent sensa tion of "the headless rooster," which still crowed and flapped its wings after its head was off .

There is neither statesmanship nor patriotism in such a wariare-or in folowing the fortunes of such a forlorn, fragmentary party. It must soon pass away, for the common (sense of mankind always refuses to follow after a failure. It is this conviction that has recently driven the best patriots and the wisest men of the Southern States to discard Democracy. A few weeks ago, the Democratic party of Mississippi officially declared itself dissolved. Of recent personal examples, I may refer to Ro bert C. Brickell, of Huntsville, a man equal in wisdom, character and patriotism to any man in Alabama. In Louisiana, I can point to host of men, the best intellects and the purest men of that State, conspicuous among whom is Beauregard, recently one of the chiefest of Democratic idols. (Who lut a paltry, dirty partisan can thiow dirt at the pure and noble name of monurogard? My position is deliberately taken, is based upon logical conviction and I can main tain it, against the best intellectual metal that the Democracy can produce.
