

You Know You Do.

When "some one" steps come up the walk,
Your cheeks take on a rosier hue,
You hear it well—you know you do!
When "some one" talks about the grain,
And boys with pa, yet looks at you,
You see his glances—ah! 'tis plain—
And give them back—you know you do!

And though it may be very wrong,
When pa is quite ignored for you,
You sing to him your prettiest song,
You cunning thing—you know you do!

And when he talks of other girls,
Of hateful Kate, and Jennie, too,
You fling at him your auburn curls,
You jealous thing—you know you do!

You keep your eye upon the clock,
And wish 'twould jump an hour or two,
So that your pa would cease his talk
And go to bed—you know you do!

And when the folks to bed have gone,
And left "some one" alone with you,
You wish the clock would stop its tongue,
Or you stop it—you know you do!

You peep at "some one" neath you curls,
Until with love you burn him through,
And make him hate all other girls
In love for you—you know you do!

You look as if you didn't know
He had moved very close to you,
But still you want to have him so,
You little witch—you know you do!

And when his arm steals around your Shoulder,
You give a smothered scream or two,
As if you didn't want it there,
But oh, you do—you know you do!

You nestle closer up to him,
Your head drops on his shoulder, too,
You think it nice to have a "Jim",
You naughty thing—you know you do!

You let him kiss your blushing cheeks;
Some how your lips meet his lips, too,
You tempt him, silly thing, to speak,
You shameless flirt—you know you do!

And when he thudly doth press
His wish to make a wife of you,
With happy heart you answer "yes,"
You darling girl—you know you do!

Dry weather, high winds and sparks,
Young ladies will please be careful of sparks.

Three million of coconuts are exported in a single year from the island of Ceylon.

A young lady in New York, as a matter of penance, has contributed her gold ear rings to the charity fund. Go, sin no more, ear-ring child.

A San Francisco theatre netted its proprietor eleven cents profit in eight months, and he wants to sell out to some one who loves the drama for itself alone.

A gentleman friend has two canaries, and has named them "Wheeler" and "Wilson." His reason for these appellations is that neither of them is a "Singer."

WINE-WINE—Boil a pint of milk, and put to it a glass of white wine; set it over the fire till the curd has settled strain it and sweeten to your taste.

The more people do, the more they can do. He that does nothing renders himself incapable of doing anything. While we are executing one work we are preparing ourselves to undertake another.

The journalists will have their fun, as witness the following from a Cincinnati paper: "A favorite amusement at Laramie is slashing of strangers' ears. One blow is enough for all except Louis ville ears."

Patience is always crowned with success. This rule is without an exception. It may not be a splendid success, but patience never takes anything in hand that it does not succeed with in some form.

The Richmond Enquirer acknowledges the superabundance of handsome young ladies there, and thinks they have good-looking Yankees just enough to marry them for revenge, if they ever have an opportunity.

At an auction sale in Baltimore two wealthy men got angry at each other and bid on a $10 bureau until they run the price to $600, when the successful party paid the money and walked off with a smile of triumph.

Dr. Riggs of Connecticut, thinks the best fertilizer for tobacco is green crops ploughed in. His practice to sow rye after the tobacco crop is harvested and plough it under about the first of the succeeding June when it has attained nearly full growth.

Dr. Samuel Johnson, to whose opinion years of observation carried weight, once said: "I never take up a newspaper without finding something which I should have considered it a loss not to have seen, never without deriving from it instructions and amusement."
