This cozy home may be
Your Home.

An attractive, snug, convenient, roomy little bungalow;

Graceful lines, embodying the most modern of architectural ideas; securely, substantially built to make it lasting and comfortable in the most severe weather. Built with a view to convenient arrangement. While small in appearance, its rooms are in reality of ample size for every comfort.

QUICKBILT
BUNGALOW NO. 44

While beautiful, convenient, roomy and thoroughly substantial, is built at a tremendously reduced cost, due to the immense savings in quantity production. From the flooring to the roof, from the siding to the interior finish, it is already prepared for erection and partially built. In buying a QUICKBILT Bungalow you

SAVE

WASTE. All the material is already prepared and the large waste piles of scrap lumber are thus eliminated. Every foot of lumber is used. You buy no surplus material.

TIME. Every piece of material has its own place. Everything is numbered and systematized. The instructions to the carpenter are complete and the order of erection simple. No time is lost in looking for material. The time ordinarily required for preliminary cutting and trimming is saved. Furthermore, as a large portion of the house is already built in panels, just that much time and cost is eliminated in construction.

LABOR. With the entire process of erection systematized and instructions complete and the great building "bugs" - preliminary preparations eliminated, the labor in the erection of a QUICKBILT Bungalow is reduced to a minimum. And instructions are so simple that a carpenter with a few years' experience with two laborers, can erect the house in 8 days. The ordinary house will take almost as many weeks.

MONEY. A saving in waste of material, time and labor, is a saving in money. With a QUICKBILT Bungalow the extra money is cut in half, but that is not all. You need not pay a cent more. The erection is so simple and systematic that any carpenter of average intelligence can erect it with ease. Many owners build their homes to pay in architectural style. The complete plans with all specifications and quantities are prepared for the owner. The construction is carefully studied by the best and most experienced of architects, with a view to eliminating waste and gaining the greatest possible convenience, economy and strength. The cost of the material is further reduced by the fact that it is cut in the mill to the exact size and shape required. The entire process, from the first to the completed house, cost for the middle man a large sum. You buy direct from the source of material. In some instances, in which houses of this type are built in great quantities, you get the advantage of the low cost of the material.

PRICE $952 less 10% per cent. for cash. Net price $856

F. O. B. Barnwell. The price includes all necessary material, except the brick work and plumbing. Size over all 24 ft. wide x 20 ft. 6 in. deep. There are two living rooms, one 9 ft. x 12 ft., the other 12 ft. x 12 ft., one spacious living room 12 ft. x 15 ft., a kitchen 9 ft. x 12 ft., a bath room 9 ft. x 6 ft., and an attractive front porch 12 ft. x 8 ft. The house is well lighted, spacious, well ventilated and convenient. The construction is of heavy, fire-resistant, standard asphalt strip shingles with slate green or red finish. Acrylic enamel inside finish. Excellent doors and sashes. All necessary nails and hardware furnished. House comes with exterior walls stained any one of a number of standard colors or painted in heavy coat of painting paint. Exterior trim and porch finish in white or any other color of painting paint.
