Congress.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—To-day's session was consumed in discussing the bill conferring negro suffrage in the District of Columbia.

Additional European News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The following is the news of the North American and City of Baltimore, not yet arrived at this port:

The Daily News says: The sales of American securities throughout Europe lately have been more extensive than ever before.

It is stated that Maximilian is omitted from the Catholic sovereigns, to whom the Pope sends his customary Christmas felicitations.

The Times argues that Napoleon will withdraw from Mexico.

Extra precautions are being taken in Dublin to prevent a Fenian outbreak.—The military are held in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

From Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—A party of negroes on the Red River rose in arms ten days ago and tried to murder their overseer; but failed. Subsequently they were captured by the military, together with several accomplices.

Commercial.

MOBILE, January 13.—Cotton firm, sales to-day twenty three hundred bales; Middlings 47c. per lb. Sales of the fifteen thousand seven hundred and two bales. Exports of the week seventeen thousand four hundred and eighty-nine. Stock eighty-five thousand four hundred and twenty-six. Gold 40 to 43.

NEW YORK, January 12.—Cotton steady. Naval Stores dull. Gold $138½.

NEW YORK, January 14.—Flour dull. Southern wheat declined 2 a 3c. Corn declined 1c. Beef, pork and lard firm. Whiskey dull. Cotton steady. Sugar and coffee firm. Naval stores dull. Gold 138½.

NEW YORK, January 10.—Cotton steady. Gold 38½.

The Lost Cause.

A New Southern History of the Confederates—A Card from the Author.

The undersigned is now actively engaged in composing what is properly the only Southern History of the War, to be published by subscription by the house of Messrs. E. B. Treat & Co., 130 Grand street, New York. He designs to compose the work from a new and large stock of material, altogether different from that hurriedly gathered from the four corners of the newspapers in his Annals of the War; and in this, his much higher and much more elaborate task, he is deeply impressed with the necessity of drawing information of the late war, as far as possible, from living sources. He has already obtained promises of special assistance from the most illustrious leaders of the late Confederacy, and is proud to know that he will produce his work under encouragements and auspices which certainly have been given to none other on the Southern side.

General Robert L. Lee, whose name is so brilliantly connected with the campaigns in Virginia, writes to the author that he is "glad to hear" that he has undertaken to write a history of the war, and that such work will be "received with pleasure by this and the future generation."

General Joseph E. Johnston, whose campaigns in the West are chiefly memorable, writes: "I shall be ready at all times to give you any information I possess on the subject of your lost work."

General "Dick" Taylor prizes the aid of valuable memoranda touching the campaigns of the trans-Mississippi, and adds: "Permit me to say that I feel a deep interest in you success."

It is impossible for the undersigned, by a private correspondence, to open communication with all those of his countrymen who have valuable information of the war. He therefore adopts this mode of addressing all Confederate officers and public men, asking that they will generally contribute whatever they may recollect of historical interest in the war. Nor is a request so large and public improper. On the contrary, the undersigned believes that every true man in the South will be glad, as subscriber or contributor, to make himself a party to an enterprise to rescue the past from defamations, and to enlighten and erect again in the eyes of the world a cause prostrate, but not committed to "silent dust"—lost on the cast of events, but entitled to the record of Honor.

It will be most convenient to address communications to the care of the publishers, Messrs. E. B. Treat & Co., 130 Grand street, New York.

EDWARD A. POLLARD.
January 3, 1866.

PIONEER LINE OF STEAMERS.

FOR

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albatraz and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMODIOUS STEAMERS

PIONEER and COMMODORE ADAMS,

WILL leave New Berne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock, A. M., connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BETHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without change.

TWO HUNDRED AND

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 16th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer WILLIAMS will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to WHITFORD, DILL & CO., New Berne, N. C.
