Store is filled ladies' boots and children's shoes or opera slip-pers, or renewing the color to hand-satchels, or of insurance under the "endowment system" is the Mutual Reserve on $10,000 insurance is $368. Now if you will take your insurance in the Mutual Reserve and put the difference in cost between it and the old line company in a stocking or bury it in the ground each year for twenty years, you will at the end of that time have saved $7,306 in clean cash. And on the other hand, if you will take your $368 and invest it each year at 5 per cent., (is that too high?) at the end of five years your saving and interest will amount to $2,134; at the end of the twentieth year, $12,769; so it will be end of the tifteenth year to $8,338; at the end of the twentieth year, $12,769; so it will be seen, the natural investment of the difference of cost would amount to $12,769, or $2,769 more than the face of the endowment policy for which you would have been paying. In case of death at the end of the tenth year, the benefits accruing under the Mutuai Reserve plan, to the estate of the deceased, would be $14,861; should death occur on the twentieth year, the estate would receive $22,869 as against $10,000 from the level premium company.

Now if the theory of chance is taken into consideration and the assured realizes that there are two chances to one that he will not survive the twenty years, should he keep up his insurance, the fallacy of endowment insurance in the light of the facts given is self-apparent.

The "Twenty Payment" Policy. We will now take another form of policy that We will now take another form of policy that is very popular with a great many who go in without investigating. It is called the "Twenty-Payment Life Policy." We will use the same age—40—and the same amount—$10,000—as in the first illustration. We find that the rate charged by the old line companies for this kind of policy is $39.80 per $1,000, or $398 for $10,000. Deduct $162—the Mutual Reserve rate for a $10,000 policy—from $398 and the result is $236. Should the insured live to the expiration of his twenty years, nsured live to the expiration of his twenty years he would receive from the level premium company a paid up policy of $10,000. The difference of premium in favor of the Mutual Reserve at 5 per cent, would have amounted to $7,915. The 5 per cent. would have amounted to $7,915. The interest on $7,915 at 5 per cent. would be $395.75 a year, of which amount $162 would continue to carry the $10,000 policy in the Mutual Reserve and leave a balance of $233.75 annually in addition. In case of death desired care of the dimes and the dollars will take care of themselves." Now, the reader may naturally inquire what all these adages have to do with Trump Soap. We will explain: It is the largest five-cents-a-cake Soap (six-for-a-quarter) we have ever handled or known to be handled in this section, and is pronounced by all who have tieth year, his estate, in addition to the $10,000 received from the Mutual Reserve, would be worth at least $7,915 more than it would have been had he bought the old line company's "Twenty Payment Life Policy" Is it necessary to carry the illustration any further? Does it look to you as if a man in his right mind, after he knows that he can buy a certain article of exactly the same value as the one be has been having at less than half the cost. have ever handled or known to be handled in this section, and is pronounced by all who have tested it to be superior to any other for the laundry, the kitchen and for dirt and grease moving. So you can readily see that it will be economy to buy it, that you will save dollars in the course of a year, and that you will be taking care of the dimes. A trial of one cake will convince you.

Is it necessary to carry the illustration any further? Does it look to you as if a man in his right mind, after he knows that he can buy a certain article of exactly the same value as the one has been buying, at less than half the cost, will continue to buy the high priced article?

Another great advantange of the Mutual Reserve system is that it places insurance that insures, within the reach of persons of moderate means.
