-The steamer Indiana, loaded with gifts of flour and provisions for the relief of the Russian famine sufferers, was towed into the harbor of Liban, Russia, last Saturday, and hailed with enthusiastic cheering by a great crowd of citizens assembled on the wharves. - Here is a somewhat remarkable story about the Johnstown flood. James and Elizabeth Agnew and their children lived in Johnstown, Pa., just before the dam disaster. When the flood came, Mrs. Agnew and her babies were saved, while the husband, a beater in the Cambria Iron works, was covered, and Mrs. Agnew went to Louisville, Ky., to live with her brother, John Pritchard, a machinist. at the conclusion that one is fast reaching the other. It is absolutely wonderful what printer's ink and the busy type can't do. Our people have turned their backs on hard times, and are looking the future squarely in the face. Why even the young people are counting the cost of the times. You would have thought so, had you been at the academy on last Friday to have heard the debating society of the school discuss the "cotton problem, and the South's prosperity." The young gentlemen made a good record. It was their first public debate. The speeches of Thomas Sharp, Elias Blankenship, and John Potts, were considered the best, though the witty remarks of Master

Williamson brought down the house. The Y. M. C. A. has arranged for a series of lectures during the year, and the folks are enjoying them. Two have been given thus far by Dr. I. I. Rowe, and Rev. J. T. Wade, of the Presbyterian church. Each month these lectures will be heard. Rev. F. O. S. Curtis spoke to a large audience in the Presbyterian church on Friday night on Prohibition. The impression is that good was accomplished. So you see we are concerned about the welfare of our people. In accordance with a call made several days ago, quite a number of our citizens, We trow not. Her actions in including every business man of our place, met at the "hall" to take into consideration the past are a guarantee that she will not be the building of a factory at Pineville. The meeting was a success, for in a short time over nine thousand dollars was subscribed and the outlook is excellent for several thousand in addition in a short time. Of this we feel confident, the factory will go up. One thing is to be regretted, that five years ago it was not done. Now there would have been two, probably three, for it is a fact beyond contradiction we have one among the best cotton sections in North or South Carolina, and our farmers are hard working men and good managers. But should we build the factory? Alas! for have to sit in their caves and make faces at the seers have already predicted that it will

We had much better beef in this market before the fence law was passed. I thought the beef fine fifteen or twenty years ago. Now I can't eat it. I like a town law against stock. In some parts of the lower counties, I understand, they ignore the fence law entirely, and raise plenty of stock.

Mr. Editor, while I am writing, I will make a suggestion of my own. Why not go back to the old time fashion of having taxes paid the 1st day of January. It gives time for the farmers to sell their crops and to spend a good deal of money with the mering of the executive committee of Burke chants. Of course they must have winter goods, so the merchant ought to be ready to pay also. We should learn from the wise Chinese to pay all debts at the commencement of the new year. QUÆRITUR.
