It is the Best Labor Saving Farming Implement in the World, and Will do More to Increase Crops and Reduce Cost of Production than any

GREAT deal has been said about the Corbin

SAM M. GRIST, Yorkville, S. C.: Dear Sir:—I have owned a 16-inch Corbin Disk Harrow for the past four years and have put it to every possible test and it has given entire satisfaction. I had long felt the need of a harrow that would pulverize the soil thoroughly from four to six inches deep, and realized that this a harrow that would pulverize the soil thoroughly from four to six inches deep, and realized that this could not be done by any drag or tooth harrow, for they only pulverize the surface, leaving many clods or lumps untouched, and these clods would be worked to the surface in cultivating the crop; and all intelligent farmers know that cloddy land does not give the best results. Hence the great importance of a Harrow that will pulverize the soil as deep as the plow goes. My Harrow will thoroughly pulverize to a depth of seven inches. I want nothing better in stalk land in putting in wheat or oats than the Corbin Harrow, for it not only does better work than a plow, but it is so much faster, cutting six feet at a time, and all farmers know the importance of saving time at the season when these crops are usually sown. I venture the assertion that no farmer who owns a Corbin Harrow would be without it for twice its cost. Two great advantages the harrow possesses over most improved farming implements is its simplicity and durability. Any sleepy-headed free negro can operate it if he has sense enough to drive a wagon. I have prepared stubble land for planting, where there was no rocks or stumps, with my harrow, by harrowing it twice, crossing the first work with the last, as well or better than I have ever done with a plow. Much more might be said about the Corbin Harrow but I think I have said enough to induce farmers to inquire into its merits. All who investigate will be converted.

Very Respectfully, Felix H. Doven.

me pleasure to add my testimony as to the worth of the Corbin Disk Harrow as a farming implement. I have used the Harrow purchased of you last fall for a variety of purposes, and in no single instance has it failed to do all that is claimed for it by the manufacvariety of purposes, and in no single instance has to failed to do all that is claimed for it by the manufacturers and by the farmers whose testimony you have already published. Last fall I plowed a piece of ground on my place that was covered with weeds, and had also a considerable amount of wiregrass on it, and when the plowing was finished, it was exceedingly rough—in places the furrow would turn for twenty-five or thirty yards without breaking. I then went to work with the Harrow, and after going over the ground two or three times, I had it in as good condition as an ordinary garden is after being spaded and raked, and I am now cultiveting this land and it is still soft and mellow and easily worked. I also broke my cotton stalk land and then pulverized it and cut up the cotton stalks with the Harrow. I find a wonderful difference in working land that has been harrowed and that which has not. The more I use my Harrow the better I like it. It is my purpose to sow my small grain with it next fall, and for two reasons: First, I can sow it better, and, therefore, get better results; and second, I can do it at about one-fifth the expense and in one-fifth of the time, as compared with the ordinary mode of sowing grain. No farmer can afford to be without the Corbin Harrow, and the sooner the farmers find this out the better. I would not take five times the cost of my Harrow for it and do without it. I shall be pleased to give my friends any further information they may desire.

Respectfully,

GROVER, N. C., May 15, 1891. MR. SAM M. GRIST, Yorkville, S. C.: Dear Sir:-1 bought a No. 7 Corbin Disk Harrow from you last October. The first time I saw it I pronounced it "a dalsy." Now I pronounce it indispensable.

I would not sell it for double what it cost if I could not get another. I sowed all my wheat with it and it gaye entire satisfaction. gave entire satisfaction.

with pleasure that I add my testimony as to the value of the Corbin Disk Harrow as a farming implement. I bought a No. 7, 12 disk Harrow from you on the 18th of August, 1891, and am satisfied that it has already paid for itself by saving labor, and leaving out the fact that by no other means that I have ever tried or seen tried, could such good work have the fact that by no other means that I have ever tried or seen tried, could such good work have the fact that we small mules, and with them I can go over five acres twice in a day, or I can put in as many oats or as much wheat in a day as any eight men and eight mules can by the old way of using a single-foot plow; and the work done with the Harrow will be the best. The draft of the Harrow is very light, especially when you take into consideration the large. Only of work it does. I would not take $100 for my Harrow unless I could get another just like it. I could not afford it. No farmer who buys and uses a Corbin Disk Harrow will ever again try to farm without it, and if he is like myself he will always regret that he delayed buying as long as he did. It is the best farming implement, I believe, that has ever been introduced in this State. Yours Truly, Henry F. Hoke.

I also tried it on stubble land bottom that had not been broken and it was a success. It is actually the best farming implement I ever saw. With two mules and one hand I can do more work, and better work, than four mules and four hands in the cild way.

Clods and baked ground would soon be a thing of the past if farmers would all use the Corbin Disk Harrow to pulverize the land. To see one at work is sufficient to convince the most skeptical that it will do all that is claimed for it.

One old gray headed farmer who saw me harrowing my stubble that had not been broke said, "I thought it was all salk about that harrow, but it will do." Another farmer, and a good one too, said, "It beats anything I ever saw, and I want one to sow my meanwith this fail."
