

South Carolina. If we dodge this question, our delegates will be bisected as enemies in disguise. I pray you, and pray God, that you be men as in the past and set your face against this thing."

When Senator Tillman got up to reply, he was received with wildest enthusiasm. D. A. G. Outz came forward through the crowd carrying the Denver pitchfork. He held the tool over Senator Tillman for a few moments and then laid it down on the senator's desk. The dramatic incident, though pre-arranged, heightened the enthusiasm. Senator Tillman said that South Carolina had honored Irby more than Irby had honored himself. Irby bided that the statement was a lie; but Senator Tillman went on without paying any attention to the epithet. "This man," Tillman continued, "has twitted you with not representing your people. Great God! that he should look into your sunburned faces and say such a thing. He could not get elected to this convention even by his own brother Reformers and had to make friends with his enemies. But what is all this fuss about? Is there a syllable in these declarations that is not Democratic? Talk about bolt! I know our people detest a bolt, but they have never bolted and appealed to the Negro as two of the men who have spoken here tonight have done. [He referred to Reynolds and Barnwell.] Two years ago I said that if Cleveland was a Democrat I was not, and I say so yet. An effort has been made to bring up the Shell manifesto. I wrote that manifesto; but it was altered at the dictation of the senator from Laurens. [Sarcastically.] My Democracy is as good as that of Jefferson, or Jackson or any other man; but I do not consider that I am bound to stand by principles simply because they are labeled Democratic. If we are told that the white people of South Carolina must bow down to the will of the people not Democrats, or must meet the Negro under these men, I say let them come. We are ready for them. [Cheers.]

We are told that the Democratic party was good enough to elect me governor twice and send me to the senate; that now I want to be president. His desperate protestations of Democracy seem to arise from the fact that he wants to go back to the senate. As for me, don't call me a fool. I am from a State that is hated for secession. If it is my destiny to be a candidate for the presidency I shall receive it with the same misgivings with which I became a candidate for governor. I shall go forth into a broader field, and if the people want me, I shall lead them as I did you. [Cheers.] We have not changed our principles. Even if it should be necessary to have two electoral tickets in the field, that is no reason why we should divide on local affairs unless some of those hungry fellows who have been out of office so long should appeal to the Negro. [Cheers.] But if we go to Chicago, and find that the goldbugs have bought delegates, shall we have a goldbug platform and a goldbug candidate rammed down our throats? Finally somebody suggested to Tillman that he had better save himself for Chicago. He replied: "Bless your soul, I am not talking in this convention. I am just talking to these Columbia people who came here to whoop up Irby."

There were several more speeches, and finally a vote was taken on the question of adopting Irby's resolution. The resolution was defeated 253 to 67. Delegates at large were elected as follows: B. R. Tillman, W. H. Ellerbe, J. G. Evans, D. J. Braham, Altermates: C. M. Efrd, W. H. Mauldin, W. O. Tatum, J. C. Wilborn. District delegates were then elected as follows: First—M. R. Cooper, of Colleton, and Thomas Martin of Beaufort. Alternates: J. D. Bivens, of Colleton and Thomas Talbird, of Beaufort. Second—M. B. McSweeney, of Hampton, and E. L. Caughman, of Saluda. Alternates: W. S. Bamberg, of Barnwell, and J. H. Edwards, of Saluda. Third—J. H. McCalla, of Abbeville, and J. B. Watson, of Anderson. Alternates: J. T. Duncan, of Newberry, and E. P. Earle, of Oconee. Fourth—J. G. Walling, of Fairfield, and J. D. M. Shaw, of Laurens. Alternates: J. H. Latimer, of Greenville, and J. C. Ots, of Union. Fifth—W. F. Strait, of York, and T. Y. Williams, of Lancaster. Alternates: T. J. Cunningham, of Chester, and W. P. Pollock, of Chesterfield. Sixth—W. D. Evans, of Marlboro, and A. H. Williams, of Williamsburg. Alternates: G. F. Scarborough, of Darlington and H. H. Traxler, of Florence. Seventh—O. R. Lowman, of Orangeburg, and H. T. Abbott, of Sumter. Alternates: J. W. Dreher, of Lexington, and C. W. Garris, of Colleton. Senator Tillman was elected national executive committee member. The convention then took a recess with the understanding that it could be re-convened at any time that might be necessary up to September 1. If not re-convened by that day, it will stand adjourned. After the recess the next State executive committee meeting and re-organized by electing D. H. Thompkins chairman, U. X. Gunter, secretary, and Willie Jones, treasurer.

After the First Bale. Winoboro News and Herald: We were shown a stalk of cotton from the field of J. C. Willingham which is said to be a fair sample of the entire field. The stalk is 1 1/2 inches high and had several squares on it. Mr. Willingham is after the first bale again, we presume. He has been first on several occasions.

Job Printing. During the past twelve months, has come to THE ENQUIRER office unsolicited, from North Carolina and Virginia. Why this is, is a matter for YOU to determine. We may not do the finest work on earth; but we do the work that we undertake, the best that we know how, and the quality executed in THE ENQUIRER office evidently suits some customers, while we are sure that it was not on account of a HIGH PRICE that brought the work our way. When you want Job Printing, write to or call on us—probably we can suit you. Thank you. Bye-Bye.
