

Scraps and Facts.

J. H. Schooler, a visiting Confederate veteran from Fredericksburg, Va., while attempting to cross the street car tracks on his return from the Richmond, Va., auditorium about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening was caught on the fender of one of the electric cars of the Clay street line, knocked down and dragged several yards before the car could be stopped.

A meeting of representatives of southern cotton mills was held in Atlanta on last Monday and Tuesday. The object of the meeting was to devise some means of relieving the present depression in the market. After discussion it appeared that there was only one expedient open and that was to reduce production.

Major McKinley was formally notified last Monday of his nomination by the Republicans for president. The notification was made the occasion of a big blowout at Canton, Governor McKinley's home town.

Senator Henry M. Teller, on arriving in Denver last Wednesday, was met by a great outpouring of people from all parts of the state. The demonstration was non-partisan and it is doubtful if the scenes of enthusiasm have been paralleled in western history.

"A leading ladies' tailor exhibits in his show window, a suit with the new style of sleeves, which are to be worn next fall," says a New York dispatch of Wednesday: "The suit is made of cadet blue whipcord, trimmed with black braid. The sleeves are smaller than those of the regulation male garment and are covered at the shoulder with epaulets. The costume is of the tailor-made variety and is intended for street wear.

An interesting letter was issued a few days ago by the American Antivivisection society, of Philadelphia, appealing to the public not to circulate sensational stories about alleged mad dogs and the terrible results of being bitten by them.

There has been a great deal of talk to the effect that if the Chicago convention adopts a free silver platform for the Democrats to carry any of the northeastern states will be simply out of the question.

There has been a great deal of talk to the effect that if the Chicago convention adopts a free silver platform for the Democrats to carry any of the northeastern states will be simply out of the question.

There has been a great deal of talk to the effect that if the Chicago convention adopts a free silver platform for the Democrats to carry any of the northeastern states will be simply out of the question.

The original issue in this controversy was The Herald's charge that the "Central York" communication was written in THE ENQUIRER office. We said that this was false, and that, if necessary, we could and would furnish the proof.

The Yorkville Enquirer.

YORKVILLE, S. C.: SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1896.

Judge Earle is expected to appear on the stump in the senatorial canvass, for the first time, at Sumter, on Monday, July 13.

It now looks as if the contest for the Chicago nomination is going to be principally between Horace Boies and Richard P. Bland.

In an interview with a representative of The Columbia Register last Monday, Senator Tillman laughed at Whitney's threat to the effect that the gold people would bolt the Chicago convention in the event of the abrogation of the two-thirds rule.

"That deep laid scheme." The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The YORKVILLE ENQUIRER of last Friday, regarding a "scheme" in this paper, indulges in characteristic abuse of The Herald and its editor, but we expected as much.

The original issue in this controversy was The Herald's charge that the "Central York" communication was written in THE ENQUIRER office. We said that this was false, and that, if necessary, we could and would furnish the proof.

Just about the time we had completed our reply to the Rock Hill Herald, the mail brought a card from Mr. W. Norman Elder, who also seems worried over a question that is "not an issue."

Our dear, innocent friend and neighbor, pretends not to understand the proposition that only a few dozen selfish schemers are at the bottom of this county division conspiracy.

We note The Herald's magnanimous appeal to the people of eastern York to "damn THE ENQUIRER," and we might add, "subscribe for The Herald."

What Lewis Merrill has to do with the matter under discussion, we are at a loss to see. But since the subject has been brought up, we will say that THE ENQUIRER has never asked forgiveness for its course in 1871-2-3, etc.

What Lewis Merrill has to do with the matter under discussion, we are at a loss to see. But since the subject has been brought up, we will say that THE ENQUIRER has never asked forgiveness for its course in 1871-2-3, etc.

What Lewis Merrill has to do with the matter under discussion, we are at a loss to see. But since the subject has been brought up, we will say that THE ENQUIRER has never asked forgiveness for its course in 1871-2-3, etc.

What Lewis Merrill has to do with the matter under discussion, we are at a loss to see. But since the subject has been brought up, we will say that THE ENQUIRER has never asked forgiveness for its course in 1871-2-3, etc.

eastern York man as to my being a candidate? I am before you on my own responsibility, and if selected as your representative in the senate, I promise to serve you, as in the past, to the best of my skill and ability.

MR. ELDER'S CARD. Just about the time we had completed our reply to the Rock Hill Herald, the mail brought a card from Mr. W. Norman Elder, who also seems worried over a question that is "not an issue."

As his occasion for coming into print, Mr. Elder makes the allegation that he has been misrepresented by our correspondent at Hoodtown. Then he goes on to introduce a lot of new matter to which our correspondent did not even refer.

The only particular in which misrepresentation is specified is with regard to the nature of Mr. J. T. Wilson's question. Our correspondent said it was this way: "Will you put yourself on record here today as being opposed to the division of York county or the removal of the court house to Rock Hill?"

Now we come to the portion of Mr. Elder's card that is directed especially at us. He says he refers to our editorial comment. What we said was in the nature of a proposition to this purport: "The all important issue being county division, is it right for Mr. Elder, who is in possession of the information by which this question is likely to be decided, to ask for the suffrages of the people whose welfare may be so vitally affected, until he has first told them what will be the probable result?"

And Mr. Elder pays no attention to newspaper squibs. That depends largely upon circumstances. There are squibs and squibs. In the very paragraph in which Mr. Elder makes his remarkable assertion, he hurls back at us another squib.

Mr. Elder's candidacy "is endorsed by anti-county division men." And so last summer was the candidacy of another man who, though representing otherwise, ran with the sole object of securing county division.

When it comes up again you will have to tell those people where you stand? When that man asked you: "If the county division matter has been settled by the constitution, how can it come up again?" did you not change the subject?

We have no desire to misrepresent Mr. Elder and we tender him the free use of our columns on this subject.

A CARD FROM MR. ELDER.

MR. EDITOR: In Wednesday's issue of your paper, your Hoodtown correspondent misquotes some of my sayings at Hoodtown on Saturday, 20th of June, which I know was not done intentionally.

MR. EDITOR: In Wednesday's issue of your paper, your Hoodtown correspondent misquotes some of my sayings at Hoodtown on Saturday, 20th of June, which I know was not done intentionally.

MR. EDITOR: In Wednesday's issue of your paper, your Hoodtown correspondent misquotes some of my sayings at Hoodtown on Saturday, 20th of June, which I know was not done intentionally.

eastern York man as to my being a candidate? I am before you on my own responsibility, and if selected as your representative in the senate, I promise to serve you, as in the past, to the best of my skill and ability.

LETTER FROM HICKORY GROVE. Death of Mr. Henco Broome—Cleaning Out the River and Getting the Boat Ready—Death of Miss McArthur—County Division—Time to Register.

HICKORY GROVE, July 1.—Mr. Henco Broome, an old and honored ex-Confederate soldier, who for months past has been suffering with a cancer, died at the home of his son last Friday evening and was buried on Sunday at King's Mountain.

Mr. W. S. Wilkerson has reorganized his law for cleaning out the river. Mr. Wilkerson has done a great deal of labor before on the river, and understands the work so well that all can be reassured that when he says "this done," there will be no difficulty on account of his share of the work.

July Fourth is to be celebrated here in grand style by the Methodist Sunday school, in the form of a basket picnic, and speeches by several prominent gentlemen, among them being the editor of The Southern Christian Advocate, Rev. Jno. O. Wilson, and we are informed that the candidates who shall chance to "fall in," will have the privilege of expressing their opinions on all subjects.

The many friends of Mrs. Frances Ellen McArthur were grieved to hear of her death which occurred at her home at Gaffney last week. Mrs. McArthur was the wife of Prof. W. F. McArthur, the principal of the Gaffney City Male and Female Seminary, and many of the young men of this county, who received their early training there, will ever love and remember her for the kindness and motherly influence she gave to them.

Your correspondent notes with pleasure that some one has the backbone to come out and sound the "note of warning" to the voters of this county regarding the new county movements. Some say this is the old, old cry, and only originates with those who have no other issue to uphold them; but, Mr. Editor, such is not the case.

CHARLES BROADWAY ROUSS of New York, has offered $1,000,000 to anybody who can restore his sight. The Sioux Indians, of Nebraska, celebrated the anniversary of the Custer massacre on June 25.

CHARLES BROADWAY ROUSS of New York, has offered $1,000,000 to anybody who can restore his sight. The Sioux Indians, of Nebraska, celebrated the anniversary of the Custer massacre on June 25.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. Geo. T. Schorb—Prints a testimonial from J. B. Barron, president of the Manchester Cotton Mills at Rock Hill, with regard to the Lester piano.

CHAIRMAN BRICE has called a meeting of the county Democratic executive committee, to be held in Yorkville on next Monday, July 6. The object of the meeting is to make arrangements for the State campaign meeting, which is to be held in Yorkville, on Saturday, July 18.

Table with columns: TOWNSHIPS, 1894-96, 1895-96. Lists towns like Betheda, Rock River, etc. with values.

It appears that there has been an increase in personally in every township in the county except in Catawba. The shortage in Catawba is more apparent than real, being largely due to the recent re-adjustment of the assessments on the banks.

HE WAS A GOOD SOLDIER. Henco B. Broome, who died at Hickory Grove, the other day, was one of the heroes of the 17th regiment. He was color bearer of the 17th regiment and his comrades say that a braver man never died the breath of life.

ABOUT PEOPLE. Little Miss Julia Smith left on Tuesday for a visit to Blackburg. Mr. M. R. Smith and son, Master Rob, of Blackburg, visited relatives in Yorkville this week.

LOCAL LAOCHONS. THE TWICE-A-WEEK ENQUIRER, OF THE WEEKLY ENQUIRER will be furnished from this date to January, 1st, 1897, for $1.00.

BLACKSBURG BUDGET. Board of Health Organized—The Old School. Mrs. O. F. Richmond.

BLACKSBURG BUDGET. Board of Health Organized—The Old School. Mrs. O. F. Richmond.