While over in Rock Hill last Saturday, a representative of THE ENQUIRER got some definite information as to the "troubles" of the local cotton mills. According to some of the numerous irresponsible and more or less ridiculous rumors that have been in circulation for a position to know, and do know exactly what they are talking about, THE EN-QUIRER is in a position to tell a somewhat different story.

That the Globe mill is in a pretty bad fix, financially, is true. Nobody seeks to deny the fact. As the situation is to be seen now, those who went into the enterprise originally made a mistake. It will be remembered that the machinery is second-hand, and at the time it was put in, was old and badly worn. But the mistake of those who put up the necescourt in Cherokee county. The first Monday after the fourth Monday in May is the way the statutes have it, and that is next Monday, May 31.

Teachers' Examination.

There is to be a mid-summer examination of applicants to teach in the public schools. It will take place during the latter part of June, and its especial object is the accommodation of college students who desire to teach during vacation. All others, however, who may desire to do so, will have the same right to apply.

Orders Ahead. THE ENQUIRER has it straight that the York Cotton mills have orders right now for more yarn than they can furnish during the next three months, running night and day, and at prices which, to "big things," insure a handsome profit. Times are pretty dull, it is true; but the end of the world has not quite come to the cotton manufacturing business yet.

When the matter was straightened out to Messrs, Grist Cousins have just received his satisfaction, President London sent and placed on the streets for the accoumodation of their customers, a handsome delivery wagon, of the quality and style so familiar in large towns.
