Miss Elsie Gaden was given an "exhibition of high art" on Wednesday last, in celebration of her 15th birthday. About 30 of her friends and companions were present, and a most delightful and long to be remembered day was spent.

THE SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN.

Irby and Evans Have It All to Themselves

On the Hustings. Since the physical collapse of Mc Laurin at Yorkville, and the withdrawal of Mayfield from the race, Messrs. Irby and Evans have been running the senatorial canvass alone. Some of the journ because a suffrage clause could papers have suggested that they agree to a postponement until the recovery of McLaurin; but this, as they have a If any white man was disqualified he perfect right to do, they have refused, and have filled the regular appointments at Lancaster, Camden, Kershaw, Bennettsville and Darlington since the meeting at Yorkville.

AT LANCASTER.

The crowd at Lancaster, on last Friday, was estimated by the reporter at about 600. It was orderly and well behaved. Irby, during the course of his remarks, said that McLaurin was not in the race; that the race was between himself and Evans, and that he would beat Evans. During his speech, Evans referred to Irby's "indisposition" at Yorkville, and said that the senator was now able to speak only with the help of stimulants. Irby protested that the only stimulant he had used was a little paragoric. Somebody asked terials meant that manufacturers could Evans about the bond deal and Evans told the man to attend to his own business.

CAMDEN AND CHESTERFIELD. The speeches at Camden were in about the usual line with no new developments of especial interest. The crowd was large and well behaved. The Chesterfield meeting was also devoid of especial incident.

BENNETTSVILLE.

The meeting on Wednesday was held at Bennettsville, the home of Senator McLaurin. The senator was still confined to his bed unable to be present. The Negro was eliminated from politics and the suffrage clause was satisfactory to the people.

Taking up the issues involved in this race, Mr. Evans said this was the most important campaign since 1832, made so by the issues involved. The newpapers tried to make the speeches appear ridiculous by publishing only the jokes and leaving out the real discussion; but he hoped no one would be fooled by this. J. H. RIDDLE.

FANCY GROCERIES.

MY stock of Fancy Groceries is as full and complete as if I were making a specialty of that line. The fact of the business is that I handle only the choicest quality of canned goods and I always sell them at the bottom figures.

I have the very best quality of Queen Olives.

Potted Ham of the best quality at only cents a box. Skinless Lunch Tongue. A nice dish for upper. Chipped Dried Beef of the very best quality.

Salmon Steak of the fluest quality, put Fruit Jars.

I have a big line of Fruit Jars and can make prices at the bottom, since I don't care to handle them any more.

Plastering Hair, Lime, Cement and Shingles.

Heretofore J. H. RIDDLE has kept only Cement, Lime and Shingles; but by constant demand he has been forced to constant demand he has been forced to add to his building material a large quantity PLASTERING HAIR, which in the future you can expect to always find at his place; and when contractors or large buyers need any of these articles, they may expect special prices.
