Text of the Lesson, II Kings xxii, 8-20. Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Josiah was the last good king of Judah, year of his reign Jeremiah began to prophesy and continued a prophet of the Lord for 40 years (Jer. i, 2, 3). It is written of Josiah in 11 Kings xxiii, 25, that there was no king either before or after him who population as Great Britain and France like him turned to the Lord with all his heart and soul and might. Hezekiah ex-celled all others in his trust in the Lord (II Kings xviii, 5). Josiah began to reign began to cleanse the land of idols. 9. Shaphan the scribe reported to the king that the money which had been gathered in the house of the Lord had been de livered to the overseers of the work, and it is said that they were so faithful that no reckoning was made with them of the money (verses 4-7). We do not read of any funds for the work, for the bless ing of Elshaddai (the mighty God who is all sufficient) was upon His faithful people 10, 11. Shaphan told the king of the book that had been found, and read it to him, and when he heard it he rent his clothes. Josiah was possessed of a poor and contrite spirit and trembled at God's word (Isa. lxvi, 2; lvii, 15). It is written in Ez. ix, 4, "Then were assembled every one that trembled at the words of the God of Israel because of the trangression. Many are indifferent to the word of Goo and never read it or hear it read. Many who read it do not give heed to it. Many, even of those who are supposed to be 12, 18. "Go ye, inquire of the Lord for me and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that is found." The priest and scribe and others were thus commissioned by the king. It may have been such passages as Deut. xxviii, 15-37; Lev. xxvi, 14-46, that so stirred Josiah, but whatever portions specially affected him he evidently believed what many professing Christians do not today believe, that there is such a thing as the wrath of God and that it is a very serious matter not to believe and obey the words of the Lord. To set one's heart upon and observe to do the words of the law was said to be their life, but if one would not hearken God had said that He would require it of him (Deut. xxxii, 46, 47; save appearances, especially to his xviii, 19). A common form of unbelief wife when he might have told the truth now is that God is too good to punish any one and that there is no place of fire and brimstone either for the devil or his fol-
