

packages about the size of a pound of soda, and sells at 5 cents a package. Everybody bought it, and everybody tried to fill the eyes, nose and mouth of everybody else with it. Cultured and refined society ladies would throw it at the little street arabs, and little street arabs would throw it at cultured and refined society ladies. It made no difference who. The young ladies of Converse were literally covered with it, and with "serpentes," another paper device of the same nature. The serpentes are put up in small packages, and when turned loose they float like thistle-down. I saw one young lady of Converse that had collected a large arm full from the quantities that were thrown at her. She was pretty, of course. I was reliably informed that as much as $500 worth of confetti was retailed out at 5 cents a package—10,000 packages. There were lots of things to entertain—but the confetti and the good humor of the occasion, will cling to the memory longer than any other features. I'm glad I went. You ought to have been there."

Blackburg Knitting Mill.
Blackburg correspondence Greenville News: The Blackburg Knitting and Spinning Mill company has erected a splendid brick building for their machinery. It is two stories high, 100 feet by 50 feet. The dye house attached is 50 feet by 40 feet. They have acquired 35 acres of land to place the buildings on for the operatives. This company has shown a great deal of energy in their efforts to build a substantial house and otherwise provided the facilities and means for manufacturing.
All On a Level.

"Now that the postoffice department agrees to deliver mail free of charge to individuals living along the star routes, all clubmakers are on the same level so far as delivering papers are concerned. Heretofore, the route carriers had certain advantages. They made going on their clubs a condition of free delivery. Either that, or they required the clubmakers to pay them for the delivery of papers to people who were not on their clubs. This is all changed. Every clubmaker has exactly the same advantage as the route carriers. The subscriber is free to give his name wherever he sees fit, and have his paper delivered free all the same. This is a consideration in Rock Hill.

Rock Hill correspondence, Columbia State, October 28: A small fire occurred at 5 o'clock this morning at the Southern cotton platform and about 50 bales belonging to Springs, Moore & Co., were burned. Our new water works proved their efficacy and put out the blaze in 10 minutes after it was discovered. Loss about $3,000. It now appears that there were four distinct attempts to burn cotton here this morning. At 1 o'clock there was a blaze in a row of Friedheim Bros.' cotton in rear of Hand Bros.' restaurant. Mr. Hand and others extinguished it with a bucket of water. At 5 o'clock the 50 bales at the Southern platform were burned. A half hour later Mr. Campbell, of the South Carolina and Georgia office, found a bale of pickings on fire upon his company's platform. While at work upon that the alarm was sounded from A. Friedheim & Bro.'s platform in rear of their store. All of these small blazes were subdued without any trouble and without allowing a spread. It was very apparently an incendiary attempt.

Death of Mr. John Roach.
Rock Hill correspondence, Columbia State, October 26: Mr. John J. Roach, one of the oldest citizens of Rock Hill, died this morning at 3 o'clock at his residence on East Main street. Mr. Roach was for many years a prominent merchant here, where he has passed his whole life of about 65 years, and was a member of the firm of Ivy & Roach; also that of Jones & Robertson. In his later years, while his health has been quite precarious, he has had charge of the old Jones estate, as agent of the Carolina bank, of Columbia. The deceased was a Mason and was one of the most open-hearted and kind men that ever lived in Rock Hill, and when health permitted was always the first to respond to the sick and suffering. He and his wife, who preceded him to the grave only a couple of months ago, were among the original members of the First Presbyterian church of this city. He leaves five children—Misses E. J. Roach, Nellie, Mary and Margaret, and Mr. Wm. Roach. The latter reached here from his distant Texas home on Monday, which commenced about 10 a. m., on Thursday, and was brought on by the rupture of some small blood vessel in the brain.

WITHIN THE TOWN.
The meaning of the word "never," should not be at a loss to understand Mr. McMahan's telegram to S. A. Chambers.
—Rev. H. W. Bays will hold the last quarterly conference of this year for Yorkville station, in Trinity church, next Friday night. He will preach Sunday morning at 11 and Sunday evening at 7.30.
—Trinity Sunday school will have its annual missionary rally next Sunday afternoon at 3.30. An elaborate programme of exercises has been arranged, and a cordial invitation has been extended to the public to participate.
—There was quite a large congregation out at the Baptist church Sunday night to hear Rev. Mr. Basmajian's sermon on "The Cross vs. Crescent." There was hardly standing room in the church, and the sermon was very much enjoyed by all who heard it.
—The advertisement of Mr. T. W. Speck in today's Enquirer, reads like an editorial in a solid, substantial newspaper of the kind that does not get excited over politics, or allow itself to drop into partisan bias. It is characteristic of Mr. Speck and is about true.

—Mr. S. A. McElwee dropped four $20 bills on the street last Friday. It was some hours before he discovered his loss and he had no satisfactory recollection as to what might have become of the bills. He told several people; but heard nothing until Monday night. A Negro boy, named Lee James, told Policeman Rose that he had found $80 Saturday, and that he had been robbed of it. Mr. Rose began work on the case, and yesterday morning had succeeded in recovering all of the money.
—So far as the reporter has information, only a few young people have signified their intention to take advantage of the opportunity that is offered by members of the K. M. A. faculty for night instruction in bookkeeping, stenography and typewriting. Rather than otherwise, this is disappointing. Although none of these accomplishments are especially difficult, they can be easily acquired without competent instruction. It does not follow that having acquired these accomplishments, the student is ready to at once command a desirable position at a big salary. But all three are good things to know, especially bookkeeping, and no time that is spent in learning them is wasted. All such knowledge is calculated to stand the possessor in good stead, at some time or other, and why young people waste such opportunities as they have to acquire it, is a problem even older people who have been along there, find difficult of solution.
—The illustrated lecture of Rev. Mr. Basmajian, the Armenian, in the court house, last Monday night, was very interesting. The audience numbered something like 400 people, including a large proportion of children. The lecturer sought to both amuse and instruct, and judging from the demonstration, he succeeded admirably. He is a good singer, and at the outset he captured the full sympathy of his audience by singing a number of Armenian songs in Turkish, Armenian, Greek and English. For his first illustration he took the familiar old song, "Where is My Boy Tonight?" and then another, in a strange tongue and then another, until the audience recognized it, he started off in English with an invitation for assistance, and in a moment drew the large audience toward the front. From thence onward the crowd belonged to the lecturer, and was ready to be pleased with whatever might follow. Next Mr. Basmajian sang two little boys in Armenian costume—one as a young man and the other as a young woman—and putting them through the marriage ceremony, as in his native country. This helped to still further interest the young people. Next he showed a number of miscellaneous pictures, some of them and some of the sacred, humorous, comic, allegorical, etc. Twice he felt for the patriotism of his audience, and both times with great success. One of his pictures represented a storm-tossed ship on the ocean, which he described as containing Armenians fleeing from the despotic oppression of Turkish rule. The ship suddenly disappeared, and in its place was a great bust of George Washington, enfolded within the stars and stripes, and under it the legend, "America, the Land of the Free." The children gave a prolonged shout of applause that betokened the extent to which their feelings had been aroused. Later Mr. Basmajian told of the diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Turkey over the $100,000 indemnity demanded by this country of Turkey for the destruction of the American mission in Armenia. He described the procuring of the money, and the manner in which such matters, and then announced how he had read in a newspaper a few days ago that Minister Strauss was to return to Turkey soon with a demerit demand for the immediate payment of that $100,000, and the understanding is that if the money is not paid Mr. Strauss will return home again and leave the matter to Dewey, Sampson, Schley and the others. This aroused the children to renewed wild cheering. During the course of his talk, the speaker was requested to sing the national anthem. He complied, and was liberally applauded. The audience joined in singing several familiar songs from words thrown upon the screen and altogether the lecture was a triumphal success. At the conclusion, Mr. Basmajian announced that he would lecture again on Tuesday night, his subject being "Constantinople."

Those Scholarships.
There are few young ladies in this section who cannot afford to work for those scholarships that THE ENQUIRER is offering in Converse and Due West Female colleges. It makes no difference whether the young ladies may be able to pay her tuition without missing it or not, the $50 thus saved will come in very nicely. But compare with it the first to respond to the sick and suffering. He and his wife, who preceded him to the grave only a couple of months ago, were among the original members of the First Presbyterian church of this city. He leaves five children—Misses E. J. Roach, Nellie, Mary and Margaret, and Mr. Wm. Roach. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.
