ABOUT PEOPLE.

Mrs. A. S. Withers and family left this week for Charleston. Mr. B. D. Springs, of Charlotte, was in Yorkville Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Robert A. Patrick, of White Oak, Fairfield county, attended the Grist-Blair marriage. Mr. J. Mack Brice lost the end of the middle finger of his right hand in a sausage mill Wednesday. Mr. Lowry Guy and Miss Ida Guy, of Lowryville, attended the Grist-Blair marriage at Blairsville, last Wednesday. Mr. J. H. Marshall, of The News and Courier, visited York county last week. He has business interests in Broad River township. Mr. R. T. Allison, who has been ill for about three weeks, and confined to his bed for a considerable portion of the time, hopes to get out today. Rev. T. M. Lowry and wife arrived in Yorkville Thursday. They are the guests of Mr. R. B. Lowry, on East Jefferson street. Rev. J. B. Bozeman and Mr. Lewis G. Grist, are representing the Yorkville Baptist church at the Baptist State convention, which convened at Greenwood yesterday. Mr. T. W. Speck is preparing to tell in the next issue of THE ENQUIRER, of the handsome and costly goods he has for Christmas. He has something that is worth talking about. Uncle Robin Love, who has been spending the past few months with his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Love, three miles northeast of Yorkville, left last Wednesday to spend awhile with his son, Mr. Robert J. Love, on Clark's Fork. Thomas F. McDow, Esq., cites the result of the sale of the F. H. Brown property as a pretty good evidence of the condition of the county just at this time. He says, and he is about right, that three years ago this property would not have brought within 25 per cent. as much as now. Newspaperdom, November 15: August Kohn, who has made enviable fame the past few years as a newspaper correspondent at Columbia, S. C., representing chiefly the Charleston News and Courier, but also serving other state dailies, has been making a visit with journalistic acquaintances in New York. Mr. Kohn is an indefatigable and a most successful worker. He is one of the younger generation of southern newspaper men who are going to be heard of increasingly from now on. It gives the members of the Methodist congregation and the people of Yorkville generally, pleasure to welcome the return of Rev. A. N. Brunson, and no less regret to part with Rev. J. M. Steadman. That is one of the unpleasant features of the conference system of changing preachers annually. Rev. Mr. Brunson served the full time allowed in Yorkville, and he did good work here for his church. Personally, he established a number of lifetime friendships. He is a most excellent man as a citizen and a minister. During his short stay of a year, Rev. Mr. Steadman has also made a splendid impression upon the people and kept the church work up to the standard established by Mr. Brunson. There are many people who will find it hard to give him up. Welcome back Mr. Brunson! Our best wishes go with you Mr. Steadman!

THE SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS. Most of the public schools of York county are in session at this time. Some are not. A few have but recently commenced work. At the request of THE ENQUIRER, Superintendent of Education Carroll has furnished a list of all the white schools and teachers of the same, of which there is a record in his office. The list does not include all of the schools that are in session. Those that have but recently started and which have not yet made reports, are omitted. The list, however, complete as Mr. Carroll is able to make it, is as follows: Concord.....Nannie Ferguson. Fort Mill.....Starr Mason. Bethesda.....James Steele. Forest Hill.....Jennie Gettys. Allison Creek.....Janie Carson. Ebenezer.....M. M. Kennedy. Philadelphia.....G. L. Kerr. Philadelphia.....Belle Kennedy. Bullock's Creek.....W. E. Whitesides. Belle Creek.....Elsie Robinson. LOCAL LACONIC.

The Teachers' Association. Superintendent of Education Carroll has called a meeting of the York County Teachers' association, to be held next Saturday. He hopes for a good attendance in order that the association may be put in proper working order. Minstrel Show at Lockhart. The Lockhart Band is arranging to give a minstrel show during the holidays. It is to be quite an entertaining affair. Prof. Herndon, who understands such things well, is directing rehearsals, etc. Another Roller Mill. Messrs. Whitesides & Hartness are putting in a roller system in the old McGill mill, on Clark's Fork, and by January 1 expect to have a capacity of 20 barrels of first-class flour a day. The site of the mill is owned by Mr. John B. Whitesides. Jurisdiction of Magistrates. In Greenville the other day, Judge Aldrich decided that a magistrate has no jurisdiction to try a civil case outside of his specified territory. The venue of misdemeanor cases may be changed on the representation of the defendant, under oath, that he cannot get justice; but not so with a civil case.

An Exhibition That Would Pay. News and Courier: York county is evidently well pleased with its experience in wheat as a money crop, even in a 10-cent cotton year. "The largest acreage in the history of the county," it is noted, "has already been seeded in grain and the farmers are still sowing it." The county should organize a full display of its wheat flour in its exhibit at the exposition next year. Such products are in high favor with home-seekers from the farming states of the North and West. Hardly Pro-Ratable. Mr. G. W. S. Hart will take up to the supreme court, an interesting case that has grown out of the Commercial and Farmers' bank failure. Just previous to the failure, Mr. Hart's client, who was not a depositor, had sent to the bank a draft for collection. The failure came after the collection had been made, and Mr. Hart held before Judge Klugh that his client was not a creditor of the bank in the ordinary sense of the term, and that his client could not be pro-rated, and the supreme court will have to decide the matter. The case is quite interesting.

Editor Bradford Loses His Child. Fort Mill Times, December 5: Virginia, the 11-months-old daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. R. Bradford, died of a congestive chill at the home of her father in this place Sunday morning at 4:15 o'clock and was buried in the Fort Mill cemetery Sunday afternoon at 4:30. The little girl had been sick only two days and her condition was not regarded as serious until a few hours before she died. Drs. T. S. Kirkpatrick and D. G. Thompson were called in and did everything that medical skill could suggest to save the life of the little one, but all to no avail.

Drowned in Clark's Fork. Benjamin Franklin, a Negro boy, aged about 12 years, was drowned in Clark's Fork, near the new roller mill, last Tuesday. He had been sent to carry dinner to one of the hands at work on the mill, and it is supposed that he fell into the creek, which was up, from a foot log. His body was found next day at a point some three-quarters of a mile down the creek. Coroner Brian held an inquest on Wednesday and Dr. Miles Walker, after making a postmortem examination found that death was due to drowning. There was nothing to indicate violence. The verdict of the jury was in accordance with these facts.

Grist-Blair. Mr. Albert M. Grist, of THE ENQUIRER staff, and Miss Bettie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Blair, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, near Blairsville, last Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Grier, pastor of Sharon church, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties, and in a room that was prettily decorated for the occasion with evergreens and flowers. After the ceremony the guests of the occasion were invited into the dining-room to partake of refreshments bountifully spread by Mrs. Blair. From Mr. Blair's Mr. and Mrs. Grist came to Yorkville and took up their residence in the John S. Bratton house, on East Jefferson street, where they have since been at home to their many friends.

ACTIVITY IN COTTON. Claimed That Southern Mills Are Anticipating High Prices. The commercial world of the South is paying assiduous court to old King Cotton just now. There is more of a bustle, and more of a stir, and more rivalry to get in on the ground floor with him than for many years. Everybody is buying cotton-spots. The demand in Georgia is slowly running ahead of the supply, and the knowing ones, look for a surprising rise in the price before the ides of March. The mills throughout the state are taking all they can get—though the managements vociferously deny that they are particularly anxious to lay in a bale more than is necessary to run them from day to day. Which denial, of course, is "business."

"As a matter of fact," said a man prominent in cotton buying and cotton spinning circles today, "the movement in cotton is at present greater than I believe I have ever known. It is what might be called fierce. I know of a number of concerns that scoured the earth, so to speak, yesterday and took all they could procure. And they paid 99 for it, and would have paid more. They are buying again today, and they are paying, or will have to pay, more than that figure for it. Only a comparatively small portion of these purchases are being made from the farmers. Country merchants who, with the assistants of their local banks, have been carrying the staple, are the source of the supply, chiefly. "All the purchases are not for export. They are for home consumption. The mills believe that cotton is getting ready to jump. The home demand here for it has already started an upward inclination. And they are trying to load up before she soars skyward. "I happen to know about these mills personally. And it is an open secret that practically every mill in the state is doing the same thing, although I myself do not know it, of my own knowledge, of course. "Under this pressure cotton will, I believe, reach 10 cents in two weeks. And by the middle of March it will reach 11—maybe 11 1/2."

The First Girl Mill Worker. The Daily Mail, of Anderson, states that Mrs. Mary P. Pickels, aged 94, died at Broyles, in that county, last Friday. She was born on Nantucket island, coast of Massachusetts, and fell in with the Methodists when the great tidal wave of the new religion swept over New England. Her father, Mr. Coffin, persuaded by his friend, Weaver, then in Spartanburg county, left his island home for the red hills of Tyger, where Mr. Weaver was operating the first cotton mill ever erected in the state. This was in 1810. The location of the cotton mill was probably at "Burnt Factory." Mrs. Pickels was probably one of the first girls that ever worked in a cotton mill in this state. Mr. Coffin went from this county to Greenville county and then to the neighborhood where Boyles mill now stands. Phillip Weaver was perhaps the father or grandfather of Lindsay C. Weaver, who graduated at Wofford in 1858, joined the South Carolina conference and died after a short service in the church.

STAMP TAXES TO BE REPEALED.—Chairman Payne, of the ways and means committee, on Wednesday, introduced the bill reducing the taxation under the war revenue act, after the Republican members of the committee had agreed on the form of the measure and the articles to receive the reduction of tax. The bill provides an aggregate reduction estimated at $40,000,348. The chief items of this reduction are the stamp taxes, amounting to $22,000,000; beer, $9,832,112; cigars, $3,189,764; proprietary articles, omitting wines, $3,948,283.

Senator Irby Seriously Ill. Spartanburg Journal: From private sources, it is learned that ex-Senator J. L. M. Irby, of Laurens, is desperately ill with little chance of recovery. He has been moved to a sanitarium in Greenville. It is said he has Bright's disease.

THE QUESTION IS SETTLED. THE question as to which is the BEST turning pole in the world, has long since been settled by the farmers in favor of the genuine OLIVER. The manufacturers of all other plows have also conceded. They have shown this in two ways. First: By trying to imitate the OLIVER and second: by claiming that theirs is "just as good." Notwithstanding the fact that there are not less than twenty other concerns that claim to manufacture chilled plows, 80 per cent. of all the chilled plows sold in the world are OLIVER'S. Is further comment necessary? We carry a full line of GENUINE OLIVER repairs. Some other dealers in this section carry so-called Oliver repairs. The goods are bogus, and as a rule, will not fit, and positively will not wear like the genuine. The price of the genuine has recently been reduced. BUFFALO PITTS HARROWS.
