Fire Near Hero. Mr. James McCarter, who lives in this county, about a mile from Hero postoffice, met with the misfortune of having his barn, stables and corn crib, together with his carriage, about 50 bushels of corn, 2,000 bundles of fodder, a lot of hay and straw and several sacks of fertilizer, destroyed by fire on last Wednesday evening about 5 o'clock.

Clover Has the Granite. Aiken Journal and Review: Charles McVeigh and Wm. Shea, of Westerly, R. I., are in Columbia. They are expert stonecutters and quarrymen, and having formed a copartnership as McVeigh & Shea, they will develop a fine quarry they have leased at Clover, S. C.

The face of the victim was a study. He said nothing for an interval, and then he broke out with, "Dog gon your ugly picture, to do a man that way!" Then he thought better of it and whispered, "Don't say anything and let's catch some other fellows."

One by one the temptation was set before different passers by, and others were called up by phone. All knelt on the floor to bring their heads below the level of the desk, before lifting the schooner. Some gave expressions of gratitude and joy.

Supervisor Gordon and Commissioner Wilkerson spent last Tuesday investigating the bridge situation on Turkey creek. The Carroll bridge, on the Pinckney road, had been washed away and tangled up in the undergrowth along the creek bank.

For Water, Lights and Sewage.

Rock Hill special of April 11 to Columbia State: At an adjourned meeting of the citizens this afternoon, Mr. Bordman, an expert from Raleigh, N. C., made his report in the matter of the valuation of the Rock Hill Water, Light and Power company.

The Dispensary Fight.

The Rock Hill people have been tremendously stirred for the past ten days or two weeks on the dispensary question. There was an enthusiastic anti-dispensary meeting in the Armory hall last Tuesday. Talks were made by the ministers of the city and several leading business men urged a united front against the establishment of a state barroom in the city.

Recent Deaths.

Two well known and prominent old people died near Bullock's Creek church last Saturday. One was Mrs. Lettie Blair, and the other was Mr. D. J. Good.

Deputy Sheriff Harshaw completed the work of serving jurors last Tuesday afternoon after 5 1/2 days of riding. During the time mentioned he served 84 jurors, grand and petit, and found all that had been drawn, except two.

NEWS IN CHEROKEE.

What the Farmers Are Doing.—The Proposed New Iron Bridge—Something About H. C. Neal—The Augusta Division of the Three C's.

ETTA JANE, April 11.—Farmers have commenced planting corn and some will soon begin planting cotton. The ground is very hard and run together by the beating of the rains that fell recently.

The county commissioners of Cherokee county are making preparations to build an iron bridge across Broad river somewhere between Cherokee Falls and Gaffney's ferry. The site of the bridge hasn't yet been located, but it will, in all probability, be at or near the old Cherokee Ford iron works.

Those of our people who use the gill net, are catching a nice quantity of fish out of Thickety creek. The ENQUIRER surprised us when it gave an account of the whereabouts of H. C. Neal, who has been gone for 30 odd years.

Mr. Kingsley, the engineer who recently made a trip to Augusta, Ga., over the Augusta division of the Three C's railroad, looking after and estimating the probable cost of finishing up the road returned one day this week. We have not heard his report, but we learn that it will be forthcoming in the regular course of business.

Several of the graves in Salem graveyard have sunk since the heavy rains we have had recently, and should be filled up at once. Besides some of the tombstones and monuments need to be straightened up. All the work should be done before Memorial day.
