Dirt, the Safest Investment.

NOTICE THE BALTIMORE FIRE. NOTICE THE BALTIMORE FIRE. Property nearly all destroyed except the ground, which has been enhanced by the fire, as more valuable and upto-date structures will be erected. Even these fine new structures are liable to be destroyed by storm or fire, but the DIRT will still be there to enhance in value for succeeding generabut the DIRT will still be there to enhance in value for succeeding generations. Why not turn your thoughts and attention to investing in DIRT while prices are so low in South Carolina and bound to advance as the census plainly shows the population is increasing and must have a place to dwell, dead or alive? Even the dead require space. If our trading folks would turn their talent toward Real Estate, instead of trading in things with no substantial value, we would see the grandest improvement in both pleasure and property that the counsee the grandest improvement in both pleasure and property that the country has ever experienced. Instead of this, Mother Earth is sadly neglected and even abused in most instances, the main foundation and support of all. Which plainly shows "What fools we mortals be!"

I want all the property that is for sale around the court house on my string, as it is about the center of the county. The more I have to offer, of course the better for both buyer and seller. Keep an eye on the Catawba Power company, which is about ready to drive the wheels of progress. What does this mean but enhancement to York county real estate? I have more bulletin space than any office in the state. Will be pleased to have your wants and offerings on this board. My Mill is always ready to grind so don't be afraid of paying a little toll. A good Mill is a useful thing to a community. My toll is only 5 per cent, "no grinding, no toll" which is very reasonable when we consider the quality of the grinding and expense.

"SCRAPS!"

It used to be the case when two individuals engaged in a "fist-and-skull-fight." the encounter was designated as a fight. The modern designation is "scrap." Insurance agents sometimes get into contests over delivering a policy to men who are looking for the icy to men who are looking for the best. Sometimes as many as a half-dozen agents representing as many life insurance companies will take a hand dozen agents representing as many ine insurance companies will take a hand in the fracas, each striving to show that he has the best company and the best policy. It is done this way. Mr. Jones, we will call him, decides to apply for $10,000 insurance on the 20 Pay Life Plan. The agents find it out in some way. Each one goes to Mr. Jones and makes a proposition like this: "Now, Mr. Jones, I know the ____," naming his company, "is the best company in the world, and issues the best and most liberal policy. You let me write your application and have you examined. It won't cost you any thing. When the policy is issued you can examine it and do the same thing with the policies of all the other companies and if you find any that suits you better than that of the ____, you need not take mine." Very often Mr. panies and if you find any that suits you better than that of the _____, you need not take mine." Very often Mr. Jones agrees to the proposition and makes application in as many as a half dozen companies. During the past twelve months, in South Carolina, one individual agent for the Mutual Benefit has been engaged in not less than one dozen "scraps" of the character described, involving the delivery of policies ranging in amounts of from $10,000 to $25,000, and has not failed a SINGLE TIME to convince "Mr. Jones" that the Mutual Benefit is the BEST company and issues the BEST policy for the insured, and to DELIVER and get PAID for every policy.

Now, Dear Reader,

Don't you think it possible that the agent referred to would have failed to deliver at least ONE time if there was a shadow of doubt as to our claim that we have the best company and write the best policy. While I am not the agent referred to still I can convince you that each of the Mr. Joneses dieyou that each of the Mr. Joneses dis-played good business sense in selecting the Mutual Benefit as the guardian of his interests. Give me a trial. SAM. M. GRIST, Special Agent.

Α Few Facts.

Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it, and make it worth $5,000. That's genius. J. P. Morgan can write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $1,000. That's capital.

A mechanic can take a pound of steel, and work it into watch springs, and make it worth $800. That's skill. A merchant can take an article worth $1.50 and sell it for $2.00. That's

We can write a check for $1,000,000, and it would not be worth a dime.

That's rough. Your wife can buy a suit of Furni-ture for $20, but prefers one that costs $50. That's natural.

There may be merchants who will tell you that they have better stock than we have. That's gall.

We have a good stock of all kinds of fine Stoves, Ranges, Coffins and Cas-kets, and are willing to sell same at a reasonable profit. That's common
