-The August production of iron in the United States was 000 tons below the average, and this at a time when the demand is greater than ever known before. The short production is the result of insufficient supplies of coal. The railroads are unable to supply cars sufficient to transport the coal to the coking ovens rapidly enough to supply the ever growing demand for coke. Coke is an absolute necessity in the production of steel. Most of the rail making plants of the Pittsburg district and also the western and southern rail mills have sold their products far in advance, some of them having sold their output up to the end of 1907. The demand for steel rails is but an index for the demand of bar iron, billets, plates, structural iron and sheets. Bar iron has gone up $2 a ton within the past

The harbor was with foreign craft, which was all more or less damaged, many of the vessels being total wrecks. The vessels which were not sunk at their anchorages were hurled up into the streets of the city and pounded to native junks and ferryboats were sunk in Pearl river.
