

Scraps and Facts.

Birmingham, Ala., December 3: A practical method of relieving the financial stringency existing in Birmingham, Jefferson county, and this section has been devised by local officials of the Farmers' Union and will be put into practice at once. The plan is for the farmers who desire to borrow money on their cotton without relinquishing the title to it to place the staple in the local warehouse as collateral, on which the warehouse will issue notes of hand, or what is popularly termed "scrip," to the extent of 7 cents per pound. Practically all of the merchants doing business in the city have agreed to accept the scrip at face value and several of the banks have agreed to take it as payment for notes held against merchants. The new plan has the entire approval of officials of the Farmers' Union of Alabama.

They were assigned to the Florence district. They were permitted to exchange assignments for the same district, each having a commendable record in his brief pastorate here. It usually requires several weeks to assign a pastor into a large congregation. The people of his church here are very much attached to Mr. Kilgo, a successor is Rev. W. B. Wags, who is regarded as one of the most attractive preachers in the conference. Mrs. Wags, who will be welcomed to Columbia. They have three married daughters in Rock Hill. There was general rejoicing when it was learned that Bishop Morrison had overlooked Rev. B. R. Turnipseed and had left him. Bishop Morrison had overlooked Rev. B. R. Turnipseed and had left him. Bishop Morrison had overlooked Rev. B. R. Turnipseed and had left him.

The Yorkville Enquirer.

Queenstown, December 5: The Cunard liner Mauretania passed Daunts Rocks at 5.49 p. m. today, establishing a new east-bound trans-Atlantic record. Her time for the voyage from Sandy Hook, four days, 22 hours and 29 minutes, beats the best time of her sister ship, the Lusitania, by 21 minutes. The Mauretania passed Sandy Hook at 2.25 p. m. on Saturday, running 490 knots to noon on Sunday. The day runs thereafter were as follows: 548, 535, 556, 554, and from noon today until the passage of Daunts Rocks at 124 knots, the average for the voyage being 23.69. The vessel behaved splendidly in the fresh gale and high flowing sea which she encountered on Monday, and which continued until Wednesday night. Some delay was caused by heavy weather on the second and third days.

YORKVILLE, S. C. FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1907.

The Yorkville Enquirer asks us why northern commission men make a difference of from half a cent to one cent a pound in the price of cotton. The disadvantage of the latter. We have not studied that subject and can not speak with assurance. It is not unlikely that the northern yarn makers are "skinned" because they are not independent. If the northern commission men will they represent in the south, or do not control the sources from which southern mills secure their material, the disadvantage of the latter. We have not studied that subject and can not speak with assurance.

There is no issue of The Enquirer on December 27. The next issue after that of December 24, will be that of December 31. There is still no satisfactory explanation as to the disappearance of Freeman Albert Ferguson from the Sea-Phoenix. Friends and relatives are distressed and the railroad people are very much mystified. We do not feel warranted in mentioning any names; but we know of one York county cotton mill that right through the winter of 1906 and 1907 has been shut down, and which has not the slightest idea of shutting down, except on Sunday.

THE SPECULATIVE MARKET.

An Associated Press dispatch of last night reviewed yesterday's developments on the New York Stock Exchange as follows: The cotton market had a very irregular day with the close steady at a net advance of 2 to 10 points. Sales were estimated at 500,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 8 points on covering but quickly eased off owing to disappointed Liverpool advice and local bear pressure which was probably prompted by the reported failure of a large Kansas City firm to pay its obligations.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Summary of Document Read to Congress last Tuesday. The annual message of President Theodore Roosevelt, read last Tuesday before the joint session of both houses of the Sixtieth United States congress, contains thirty thousand words, and is summarized by the Atlanta Journal as follows: The president recommends Federal licenses or national charters for corporations. He recommends that any revision of the tariff be postponed at least until after the election.

WITHIN THE TOWN.

Now is the time to do Christmas shopping. The merchants have the goods, and the people have the money. There was a light fall of snow last night, but it melted quite rapidly. It would have covered the ground to a depth of about two inches. The statement of the local banks published today proves that both are in as good condition as can be desired. There is plenty of cash on hand, and the policy and the insurance and the showing generally is one on which the banks as well as the entire community have occasion for the greatest satisfaction.
