

REPORT ON COTTON FUTURES.

Congressman Burleson Attacks the President For Withholding It. Cotton futures and their alleged effect upon the prices of cotton were again in the house of representatives last Thursday. Mr. Burleson of Texas, principal antagonist of cotton exchanges, who maintains that they have a deleterious effect on the cotton producer, called up his resolution culling on the secretary of commerce to transmit to the house, the report of the bureau of corporations on the subject based upon an investigation directed by resolution of the house, passed a year ago. Advocating its adoption, Mr. Burleson said the report had been promised him by departments of officials at intervals during this congressional session, but he had not succeeded in getting it and his resolution was intended to bring it out. He had been informed that the report was in the hands of the president and while he would not say that the document would be blue printed, his contention was a "piece of arbitrary meddlesomeness, for which there was no warrant."

Mr. Mann of Illinois, opposed the resolution, declaring that its passage would constitute a direct reflection upon the president. He was the chief executive was charged with the duty of passing upon reports such as this and he considered the portions of them as he deemed for the best interest of the public. It was only a fair and proper presumption that the president in such a matter would make public the report or any part that in his discretion he decided should be published.

Mr. Fitzgerald of New York opposed the resolution. Mr. Burleson, he said, through his influence with the administration, who operated in greater than most people thought, had been able to direct the investigation exclusively to cotton producers and naturally interested in keeping the price of cotton down. He wanted the investigation extended to the constituents of Mr. Burleson, who, as sellers, were interested in boosting prices and were engaged in the spruency to restrict the average of cotton to that end, and thus raise the price of cotton goods to the poor consumers.

"The trouble is," retorted Mr. Burleson, "that the gentlemen's constituents are not buyers at all, but are speculators, who operate in such a way as to reduce the price paid to the producer and raise it to the purchaser $10 or $15 a bale. Without action the resolution went over until tomorrow.—New York Commercial.

SAVING

Is a Most Wonderful Habit There is at this time a bale of cotton stored in a warehouse at Laurens, S. C. It has been here since the Civil War. Had this bale of cotton been sold at that time and the money placed in a Savings Bank where it would have drawn 4 per cent compounded quarterly, it would have amounted at this time to more than ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS. This was not done and it is still a bale of cotton, worth today about $45. It is estimated that there is carried around in the pockets of people and hidden away in supposedly safe places in York County at least $50,000. If this $50,000 was deposited in the Banks of York County it would create $250,000.00 more business. It is a conservative estimate to say that York County would make TEN PER CENT ON THIS INCREASED BUSINESS. York County, therefore, would be making annually on account of this money $25,000.00. Money should not be carried around in pockets; a Check Book should be there instead. Every dollar laid away for safe keeping is doing YOU no good and doing YORK COUNTY an injury. You cannot help your County without helping yourself. Place YOUR MONEY IN OUR SAVINGS DEPARTMENT where it will be ABSOLUTELY SAFE and making you 4 PER CENT COMPOUNDED INTEREST, and at the same time doing the County good. We have bought largely in anticipation of a good year's business, and if prices fall and we have any incurrence, we are going to move them. If you will allow us to show you our line and name prices and terms and you will conclude you can get better inducements, we will guarantee you a bargain. We sell nothing but what has the guarantee of the makers as well as our own. Agents for the Keystone Riding Cultivator. If you want the best see the Keystone. Why not trade at the poor man's store? It is the only one in town run to serve the working man—open from 4 a. m. until 8 p. m., and run by a man that will accommodate and thank you for your trade. While I don't keep everything, I keep a very nice line of stuff all the time, and thank every one for their trade as every little helps.

It is no use to tell you about my Market, as every one knows I keep the BEST MEATS the country affords. There ain't a man, woman or child in town but what likes to trade with Old George. He treats 'em right.

Say, if you want to be happy in this world, marry an old maid, buy Beef at Sherer's Market, and drink Cracker-Jack Coffee—that's all.

I work so hard, but never have a cent, Takes all I get to pay the niggers and the taxes. Say, if I can't get a start in a year or two, I will get a job as clerk, that's what I'll do.

Yours to serve, OLD GEORGE, The Butcher.
