

on Sunday. "In the mountains, or at watering places you are constantly having to do things that make you tired; but on shipboard you do not have to take any kind of physical exercise unless you want to. Of course, if you want to walk there is a promenade of 200 yards around the ship, and that ought to be sufficient for anybody; but if you would rather sit still and read, or smoke or play cards, or lie in your state room and sleep, you have your choice." And really I find it just that way. I have not had a formal introduction to anybody since I came aboard. I find that if anybody, gentlemen or lady, wants to speak to me, they just do it, and I desire to speak to anybody, I immediately find what I feel is an acquaintance that I have known all my life. The officers never volunteer anything; but just ask any one of them a question, or for any kind of a service, and you immediately get what you want. They not only answer your questions or attend to what makes you feel that you are giving them a positive pleasure in making use of their services.

This is mailed Tuesday morning at about 6.30 o'clock. We are now off Sandy Hook, I think, or rather off Atlantic Highlands.

Off Sandy Hook, July 27, 10 a. m.—We are rounding Sandy Hook at the entrance of New York harbor and as we will be at the dock within about two hours, I will take the opportunity to write a few more lines descriptive of the windup of the trip.

Last night at about 11 o'clock we saw a multitude of lights ahead and the passengers had varying notions as to what they meant. Some thought we were off Portsmouth, and others thought it was Atlantic City, while still others were just as positive that we were meeting a torpedo flotilla on its way south. It turned out that the lights were those of a lot of fishing smacks.

We sighted Barnegat light off the coast of New Jersey at about 6 o'clock this morning, and since then have been passing a continuous line of cities, including Asbury Park, Long Beach and other well known watering places. There is a countless multitude of boats in sight of almost every description, big steam freighters, sail boats, fishing smacks, etc., the water being literally alive with them.

J. C. WILBORN REAL ESTATE LIST YOUR PROPERTY WITH ME IF YOU WANT TO SEL — FOR SALE — 200 Acres—C. V. Milles land, 1 mile Yorkville limits; 2 story dwelling. Land lies well on Pinckney Ferry road. Fine wood land. Price $6,500.

J. C. WILBORN. Are You Among The Number? It surely must be a fact that there are scores of men and women in this section who are not insured in the Mutual Benefit and should be, if they discharge their solemn obligations to their families, their estates or to provide for their own old age, (in case they are among the comparatively few who live to be old) who do not fully understand that in carrying Mutual Benefit insurance policyholders do not spend the money used in keeping themselves protected as long as they need protection, but simply deposit it with an institution that is safe and stronger than any bank in the world, and which guarantees to return the amount specified in the cash value of the contract whenever called for. The man who buys fire insurance or assessment life insurance, and has no fire or does not die while the insurance is in force, has spent his money for protection. Don't you think it would be wise for you to make a deposit with the Mutual Benefit if you die during the time you are making deposits, or afterwards, if you so elect, the amount named in policy will be promptly paid as agreed in policy and if you ever reach the point where you need cash more than protection for your family, you can then in position to furnish letters from policyholders living in all sections of the U. S., in which they assert that they have been members of the Mutual Benefit family all the way from 20 to 50 years and been protected in sums ranging from one to twenty-five thousand dollars and could surrender their policies today for more cash than they can bank deposit, to say nothing of the gilt edge protection they have enjoyed for years. These letters, if published at one time, would fill The Enquirer several times over.

TEN CENTS MAY LOOK TRIFLING, AND IT IS TRIFLING WITHIN ITSELF. But one big man in this country, who is now mayor of a large city, began his SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS with a SINGLE DIME. This man says of himself that there is no BIG PLACE in his make-up—that all the success he has made has been by the LITTLE THINGS. On Monday morning he deposits in a little box TEN CENTS. Each day he adds TEN CENTS to the amount that goes in the little box, so by Saturday night he puts in SIXTY CENTS, making a total of $2.10 For the Week, and this amount he deposits in the Bank. At the end of the year he has To His Credit $109.20, besides the interest it has earned. Do Not Consider How Trifling the Dime Is Today; but Look at the Result Four or Five Years From Now. The STARTING is not hard—it is easy, if you will begin with our Bank. The best part of the whole thing is Getting Into the "Habit"—The "Saving Habit"—There is a fascination about it when you once begin and you will never want to depart from it. This Bank offers YOU every facility a GOOD BANK can offer to assist you in SAVING YOUR MONEY and at the same time will pay you a GOOD RATE OF INTEREST. Think about this and come in without further delay. WE WILL WELCOME YOUR BEGINNING. THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK YORKVILLE, S. C. O. E. WILKINS, Pres. R. C. ALLEIN, Cashier.
