

Scrap and Facts.

Notwithstanding the fact that the United States produces three-fourths of the world's cotton...

$65,000 had been pledged for mission work. Just after the convention adjourned...

The Yorkville Enquirer.

Entered at the Postoffice in Yorkville as Mail Matter of the Second Class.

YORKVILLE, S. C.: TUESDAY, MAY 24, 1910.

Mr. J. G. L. White, of Chester, suggests to the Columbia State, that the Boyd-Brock controversy would be a better subject for the Richland grand jury than a military court of inquiry...

At the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, last week, a majority of the delegates voted to change the name of the denomination to simply "Methodist Church."

In order to prevent the spread of the disease known as southern, splenic, or Texas fever of cattle, and to further the work of eradicating the ticks which convey this disease, the United States department of agriculture maintains a strict quarantine on the infected region and endeavors to enforce this quarantine by court prosecutions when necessary.

There seems to be a growing conviction throughout the country, that the case of L. R. Glavis is similar to that of Dreyfus, if not worse. Dreyfus was convicted of a false charge, because he was a Jew, and eventually justice asserted itself and vindicated him.

For twenty years or more the American Medical association has kept a movement under way to obtain control of all the government functions relating to the practice of medicine, and through a bill introduced in congress in February and known as the Owen bill, creating a cabinet officer to be known as secretary of health, they fully expected to see the fruition of their long cherished desires.

It's All a Hoax. Somebody has told Editor "Grist" of the Yorkville Enquirer that there is a rumor being spread in Yorkville, and he wants to know what we think about it.

We do not believe any such thing. There was a woman in the moon she wouldn't stay out all night, and shadow spots on the moon don't get their light from the sun...

Knowledge is Power. While it is an undoubted fact that knowledge is power, and the man who thinks that just because he may be a little better informed than his fellows, he should have everything according to his own notion, is in a fair way to find for himself no end of trouble.

It is a common thing for people who have a little information—quite a lot of information as compared with that possessed by many of their associates; but still very little information compared with what is to be known—to feel that they are warranted in assuming undue arrogance and in shaping matters to their own pleasure, and for such people to learn that they have things all wrong is often very difficult.

Men of the widest and ripest observation are generally aware that the soundest and deepest wisdom as to all matters of every day life are often found in places that they, themselves, when younger, would have never suspected. And men who merely stand in their own light by contemptuous treatment of possible sources of information from which they feel assured beforehand that they can draw nothing but calamity, it is not to be understood by any of the intelligent that men who know are to sit idly by and let ignorance have full sway, and there need be no fear of anything of the kind.

Intelligence will rule; but it will do it in an intelligent way. That is, it will establish its supremacy through reason rather than by force. It will not seek to anger, shame or humiliate those to whom it must look for assistance, and it will not seek any other carriage than truth as the vehicle of its power.

The School Teacher. There are teachers and teachers, and if the writer felt himself competent and was a good deal braver than he is, he would undertake to discuss them from all standpoints; but as such a task would involve more wisdom than one man could be expected to have, and courage enough to suffice for a crack regiment, it will be assumed for the purpose of these remarks that there is only one kind of teacher, and he is the one who measures up to every reasonable qualification.

Somebody has said that men and women are only children grown up. In a sense, the truth of that is so obvious that it does not necessarily suggest much wisdom; but the saying was to suggest the idea that the same unreasoning egotism, the same egotism, the same willfulness, that is so characteristic of many children continues to exist in grown ups, and most experienced teachers have observed that the parents who are able to pride themselves on having been to school through college, give more trouble generally than the parents who have had no educational opportunities whatever.

Postal Savings Bank Bill. The postal savings bank bill, which has been reported from the committee on post-offices and postroads, says a Washington dispatch, is ready for the Republican vote in the senate today on Wednesday night. Practically all of the Republicans of the house signed the bill, and it is expected that the measure will be passed by the house.

Miss Margaret Moore, who has been spending some time with relatives in Van Yorkville, has returned to her home in Yorkville.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Chester: Mr. W. S. Bean, Jr., Clinton; Miss Bessie Poag, Rock Hill, and Miss Lottie Dubose, Bishopville.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. G. W. Kunz—Wants to buy a good, cheap milk cow.

YORKVILLE AUTO CO.—Wants to supply you with the essentials that will make your automobile safe and a pleasure, including tires, oil, grease, etc.

THE COMET. The comet which is now leaving the sun and away on its long outward trip is now to be seen in the west shortly after sundown on clear nights, and will continue in view for some weeks.

THE AUTOMOBILE. "Bought your automobile yet?" "No, and ain't got 'er."

ABOUT PEOPLE. Master Perry Ashe of Yorkville, is visiting Mr. W. S. Bean, Jr., in Clinton.

Miss Mary Shannon and daughter, Mrs. W. B. Moore, of Camden, spent Sunday with Mrs. W. B. Moore, in Yorkville.

Mr. J. P. McDow of Charleston, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. P. McDow, in Yorkville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. C. Love of Chester, spent Sunday in Yorkville, guests of Mr. Geo. W. S. Hart's family.

Mrs. S. C. Ashe of Yorkville, is attending the commencement exercises of Harvard University, Broad, N. C.

LOCAL LAONICUS.

Eclipse of the Moon. There was a total eclipse of the moon last night at 12 o'clock, and as the sky was cloudless, the people who were up to witness the interesting phenomenon were gratified by a thoroughly satisfactory view.

Death of Mr. L. B. McGill. Mr. L. B. McGill, whose illness with pneumonia was mentioned recently, died at his home two miles northeast of Bethany last Sunday afternoon.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Chester Reporter: The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Yorkville met in annual session at Pleasant Grove M. E. church near Lovelock in the district held by delegates.

Methodists at Asheville. Asheville, May 22.—Nearly all of the newly elected bishops created at this session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, filled the leading pulpits in Asheville and vicinity.

Summary of What Was Done by the Methodists at Asheville. Asheville, May 22.—Nearly all of the newly elected bishops created at this session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, filled the leading pulpits in Asheville and vicinity.

Col. Brock had acted as a political traitor to General Boyd. The charges against Col. Brock had acted as a political traitor to General Boyd, in the connection and some delegates who voted for the change so as to bring a matter before the general conference already declared that the matter comes up before the annual conference they will vote against the change.

It is generally understood that the old college of bishops with the exception of Bishop James A. Hoge, is not in favor of the change in name of the Church to the Methodist Episcopal Church in America.

It is thought that one of the best provisions enacted at the general conference was that which provided for a court of appeals which will enable a minister under charges of his conference to appeal his case to the highest court in the denomination.

Enjoyable Picnic at the Power Dam—Personal Mention. Hickory Grove May 24.—Some time ago R. L. A. Smith, of the Mt. Vernon Methodist Sunday school proposed the idea of having a picnic at the power dam.

HICKORY GROVE NOTES. Enjoyable Picnic at the Power Dam—Personal Mention.

LOCAL LAONICUS.

Eclipse of the Moon. There was a total eclipse of the moon last night at 12 o'clock, and as the sky was cloudless, the people who were up to witness the interesting phenomenon were gratified by a thoroughly satisfactory view.

Death of Mr. L. B. McGill. Mr. L. B. McGill, whose illness with pneumonia was mentioned recently, died at his home two miles northeast of Bethany last Sunday afternoon.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Chester Reporter: The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Yorkville met in annual session at Pleasant Grove M. E. church near Lovelock in the district held by delegates.

Methodists at Asheville. Asheville, May 22.—Nearly all of the newly elected bishops created at this session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, filled the leading pulpits in Asheville and vicinity.

Summary of What Was Done by the Methodists at Asheville. Asheville, May 22.—Nearly all of the newly elected bishops created at this session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, filled the leading pulpits in Asheville and vicinity.

Col. Brock had acted as a political traitor to General Boyd. The charges against Col. Brock had acted as a political traitor to General Boyd, in the connection and some delegates who voted for the change so as to bring a matter before the general conference already declared that the matter comes up before the annual conference they will vote against the change.

It is generally understood that the old college of bishops with the exception of Bishop James A. Hoge, is not in favor of the change in name of the Church to the Methodist Episcopal Church in America.

It is thought that one of the best provisions enacted at the general conference was that which provided for a court of appeals which will enable a minister under charges of his conference to appeal his case to the highest court in the denomination.

Enjoyable Picnic at the Power Dam—Personal Mention. Hickory Grove May 24.—Some time ago R. L. A. Smith, of the Mt. Vernon Methodist Sunday school proposed the idea of having a picnic at the power dam.

HICKORY GROVE NOTES. Enjoyable Picnic at the Power Dam—Personal Mention.

under consideration. The testimony was ruled out. Col. Brock told of the operation that was first performed by the general office and how the question of the future adjutant general had been discussed. He said that he had always been a friend of Col. Brock and had never tried to harm him.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

under consideration. The testimony was ruled out. Col. Brock told of the operation that was first performed by the general office and how the question of the future adjutant general had been discussed. He said that he had always been a friend of Col. Brock and had never tried to harm him.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.

Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd. Col. Brock and Gen. Boyd, who were both in the office of Gen. Boyd, in which was announced that Gen. Boyd would again offer for re-election and that Col. Brock would be offered re-election as adjutant general. Col. Lindsey told of his several calls upon Gen. Boyd and said that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd and that he had often been in the office of Gen. Boyd.