

Scraps and Facts.

—Minneapolis, Minn., July 23: Minnesota presents the unusual spectacle of a state with its treasury filled to overflowing. The recommendations of Governor Eberhart are followed all taxes will be abrogated for the year 1911, as there will be plenty of money coming in through ordinary collections.

The Yorkville Enquirer.

Entered at the Postoffice in Yorkville as Mail Matter of the Second Class.

YORKVILLE S. C.

TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1910.

MIDDLE-OF-THE-ROAD politicians are liable to get run over by automobiles.

GEORGE'S dog tax will probably raise $100,000. Going to the dogs for money.

If it is not desirable that none of the embryonic candidates are taking hand primaries.

CHRISTMAS is only five months away. You might just as well begin to save up now.

It is quite worthy of note that the anti-Prohibitionists are not worried about any prohibition candidate other than Mr. Featherstone.

The banking resources of the south have not doubled during the past nine years. Cotton is largely responsible for the increase.

JUDGE Cooke of North Carolina, has laid down a rule of law to the effect that the lending of a bottle of liquor to a friend is equivalent to a sale.

The man who does something to make other people happier, wiser and more comfortable is far more useful to his fellows than the man who simply makes money.

The Minnesota state treasury has so much money on hand that it will not be necessary to levy state taxes during the next fiscal year. Minnesota enjoys biennial sessions of legislature.

The department of agriculture estimates that South Carolina made 5,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, and is calculating on 50,000,000 bushels of corn. That is beginning to look like living at home.

The Ohio Republican state convention is in session today to try to pick out a gubernatorial candidate to defeat Governor Harmon. The leaders are all agreed that the prospects of success are not encouraging.

The present condition of the whiskey question is the best from a prohibition standpoint that has been known since the long fight commenced; but Prohibitionists will do well to remember that this condition is in very serious danger.

JACK Johnson told a New York magazine the other day that he gets arrested for exceeding the automobile speed limit in different cities, for advertising purposes. The judge ought to send Jack to the work house for thirty days.

From the story reproduced from the New York Herald on another page, it appears that the fight between the bulls and the bears has gotten down to the real thing. This story throws some interesting side lights on the manner in which cotton prices are made also.

It is quite true that the government does not make laws. Laws are made by the general assembly. But the power behind both the governor and the general assembly is the people, and when the people elect a governor to carry out a certain policy, the general assembly does not generally stand in the way—hardly ever long enough to hear anything drop.

The facts that the Columbia State has published about Mr. Featherstone with reference to his wise and judicious efforts to promote prohibition in South Carolina, only seem to urge his fitness for the governorship. If the State really desires to urge Mr. Featherstone's unsuitability, let it give some facts prejudicial to his character and capacity.

It makes us blush to think that part of Tennessee was once a part of good old state and part South Carolina. But think again. Tennessee is not a state which has any more to do with the Greenvilles News.

We had no idea that the News was so very sensitive as to allow its feelings to be affected by conditions that existed when North Carolina was a part of South Carolina. The News is too much for us and we are constrained to refer it to the Daily Mail.

The Texas Democratic primary has resulted in the nomination of Oscar B. Colpitt for governor over C. M. Johnson and William B. Alexander by a plurality that will probably reach 60,000. Colpitt is an anti-Prohibitionist, and the other two are pro-Prohibitionists.
