FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1911.

when Mrs. Ackroyd had finished packing her trunks and after William Ackroyd had bought railway tickets for her and their two daughters, little bessie came down with a severe case of whooping cough. The doctor positively refused to let the child start on a long journey, and even if he had thought it safe for the little one to leave home, he assured Mrs. Ackroyd that she would not be permitted to take the patient into a hotel anywhere.

"Isn't it a shame!" the distressed thing in our trunks and my husband has even bought our berths in the sleeper."

"It is unfortunate, but I don't know what you can do except sit down and wait for four or five days. It may be safe for you then to start away."

When her husband got home that evening Mrs. Ackroyd was weeping. "Don't take it so hard, dear," he said. "It might be a good deal worse. Our little one is likely to get along all right. The doctor says the case isn't an unusually severe one, and they are far worse than "awful." An Accommodating Man .-- "You see," said the older farmer, as he measured out the green tomatoes to the grocer, "I brought along my spade by accident; but it was a good thing I did.'

"Wagon got stuck in the road!" was asked.

"Oh, no. I was coming along about a mile back when I saw a feller in a field. He had a crooked stick in his hand, and a little boy with other crooked sticks was following him along. The man was knocking a wooden ball along the ground. "'Hello!' says I, as I stopped.

- "'Hello yourself!'
- "What you doing?

".Holing this ball in the ninth." "'Hard work ain't it?'

" 'Yes.' "'Then let me help you a little. Nothing mean about me.'

"And I grabbed the spade, climbed the fence and dug that ninth hole out till it was as big as a bar'l, and the feller laid right down and rolled over and over and laughed so much he couldn't find words to thank me."-Rochester Democrat-Chronicle.

Due Precautions .-- In a town in that has been named the "swallow Georgia there was an old preacher tail train," and is just what its name whose knowledge of the world was would indicate. On the front and not wide nor deep but who conceived sides the skirt scarcely touches the Perfect Peace .-- The shivering carollers had just selected a pitch beneath a lamp in a back street, when a small boy emerged from a house opposite and beckoned mysteriously to their leader.

"Mother says you're to sing something loud," he whispered. "That bit about 'Peace on earth' will do fine! She don't want no others. Just you go on hollering 'Peace on earth.' " For ten minutes the willing minstrels yelled their loudest. Then a little woman, armed with a copper saucepan, appeared upon the scene. "Thanks!" she said, handing the

Her Affectionate Brothers .-- It was commencement day at a well-known girl's seminary, and the father of one of the young women came to attend the graduation exercises. He was presented to the principal, who said, "I congratulate you, sir, upon your extremely large and affectionate family." "Large and affectionate?" he stammered and looking very much surprised.

"Yes, indeed," said the principal. "No less than twelve of your daughter's brothers have called frequently during the winter to take her driving and sleighing, while your eldest son escorted her to the theatre at least twice a week. Unusually nice brothers they are.
